EISENHOWER SAYS PATIENT U. S. MUST STRIVE FOR BAR ON WAR THROUGH U.N.

Task Difficult in Face of Irritations — 'Conflict Does Not End When Shells and Bombs Stop Falling.'

BOSTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower asserted today the United States must struggle patiently for the elimination of war through the United Nations even though at times "patience wears thin."

In an address to the Veterans of Foreign Wars' national encampment, the Army chief of staff said:

"The task is not easy. It becomes especially difficult when we feel forced to wonder whether every friendly gesture of our own, every well-intended proposal, is being twisted by another into a sinister design.

"When we believe that courtesy is met with rudeness, generosity with arrogance, patience wears thin. Yet our determination in this particular effort must be inexhaustible, because on its successful outcome depends the whole future of civilization, ours included.

"Moreover, it is only through patient study and exploration that we can discover the basic reasons why any other should seemingly obstruct progress toward a goal that holds out such a promise to mankind."

Qualities of Leadership.

Gen. Eisenhower said "if our nation is to be a successful leader of the world toward peace, it must exercise, in full measure, all the qualities of leadership."

"We must show firmness in the right," he said, "uncompromising support of justice and freedom, respect for all, and patience and determination in winning over any that through fear, hope for revenge, or any selfish purpose are blinded to their own national, as well as the world's best interest."

Eisenhower mentioned no foreign nations directly.

After Japan's surrender, Gen. Eisenhower said, we appraised conditions with an "almost dangerous optimism" as an "overhysterical" public demand was raised for complete demobilization.

Even now, he added, "simultaneously with the defeat of some of our hopes for a shrinking task, we are making still further cuts in our defense activity."

"Every detail of this situation," he said, "is important to you and to future peace."

Emphasizing the need for "unity and strength," Gen. Eisenhower said the United States had a "far more important world role to fill in this chaotic interim than the occupation of conquered countries, the manning of bases and the care of vast amounts of public property."

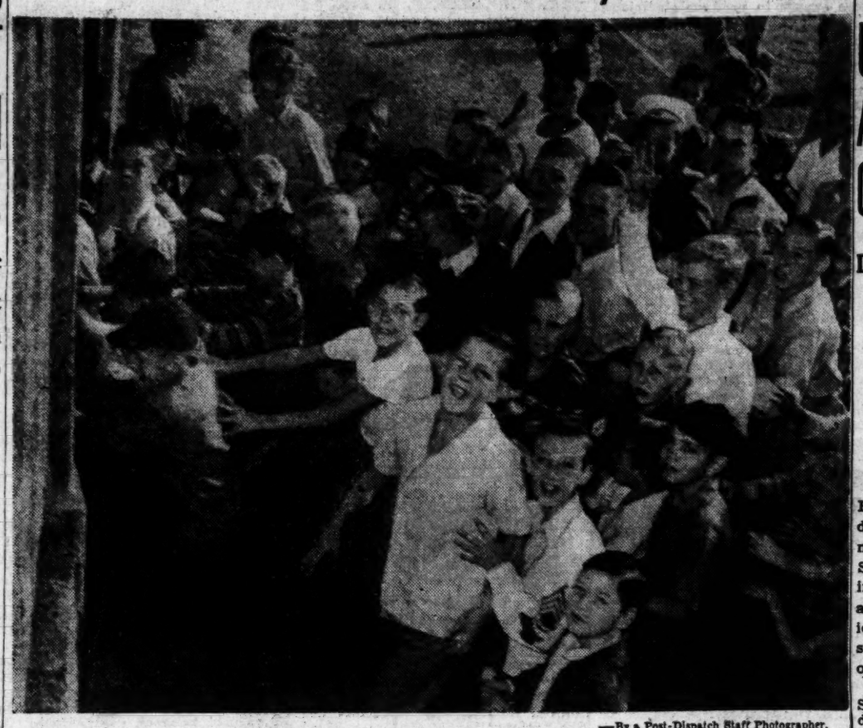

The Aftermath of War.

"We have proved our possession of the potential strength, the vitality, the productive power, and the technical proficiency to carry forward a successful war," he said. "But we have also a past record . . . of leaving the field of world conflict as soon as the shooting changes to mere drudgery.

"Conflict does not necessarily end when the shells and bombs stop falling. There is still the clashing of nationalistic aims and hopes and, more particularly,

PANAMA CALLS ON U.S. TO TURN OVER WARTIME BASES

Assembly Unanimous In Asking for Return of 83 Sites — 'Big Stick' Tactics Charged.

PANAMA, Panama, Sept. 3 (AP)—After a debate in which the United States was accused of "wielding a big stick," the Panama Assembly last night adopted unanimously a resolution asking for immediate return of all wartime defense bases granted United States forces in this country.

The Government earlier had indicated willingness to discuss with United States officials the question of whether the present international situation warrants extension of an agreement by which the United States Army acquired the sites—83 in number.

Under the terms of an agreement signed on May 18, 1942, both governments agreed that the bases would be vacated by the United States one year after the definite peace covenant ending World War II became effective. Panama has declared that Sept. 1, one year after the signing of the Japanese surrender, was the date in question.

United States Army headquarters announced yesterday that seven more of the defense sites had been returned to Panama, bringing to 72 the total relinquished to date.

In the Assembly debate, former Foreign Minister Jose Isaac Fabrega, who introduced the resolution, charged that the United States used penetration tactics to obtain the huge Rio Hato airbase. Deputy Jose Brower told the Assembly that what he called "imperialistic tactics" in retaining the bases beyond the Sept. 1 deadline were an outrage against Panama sovereignty.

Reliable sources said United States Ambassador Frank T. Hines would submit today a request for a formal conference with Panama Government officials to negotiate a new agreement regarding defense sites.

An official statement from the American Embassy said:

"The Ambassador, after lengthy discussions yesterday with military and civilian officials of the Canal Zone, said he knew Panama was ready and willing to enter negotiations looking toward a new agreement which will insure effective protection of the canal and the Republic of Panama against new weapons and new methods of warfare which have been developed as a result of World War II. . . .

"He said that, in conformity

ATOMIC ENERGY BY-PRODUCT FAILS TO SAVE SICK CHILD

Girl, 3, Dies Despite Use of Radio-Activated Phosphorus.

BOSTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—A "highly experimental" effort to keep three-year-old Janice Moschella alive with a by product of atomic energy has failed.

She died yesterday in Beth Israel Hospital after being administered radio-activated phosphorus, processed on the University of Illinois cyclotron, as a last resort.

The child had suffered for some time from a liver infection which had not responded to other treatments.

A Boston specialist, Dr. Saul Hertz, had hoped that tumor cells in the child's body would be eliminated when interference with the electrolytic system of the cells was achieved by radiation from the phosphorus.

The product was flown here from Chicago Aug. 24 in a glass container inside a ray-resistant lead box. The girl was given three treatments. She lived for 10 days with supplemental aids of oxygen and blood transfusions.

Dr. Hertz said when it was decided to try the element that "this is a highly experimental form of treatment. To consider it anything else will seriously cripple the great amount of research yet to be done on radio-activated phosphorus."

BYRNES TO SPEAK IN REICH; POLICY STATEMENT EXPECTED

BERLIN, Sept. 3 (AP)—United States military government officials announced today that Secretary of State James F. Byrnes would address a special meeting of German officials in the American occupation zone Friday at the opera house in Stuttgart.

Byrnes is expected to arrive in Stuttgart Friday morning from Paris. His unprecedented appearance in Germany is expected to be the occasion for an important statement on futuro American policy toward Germany.

Senator Alben Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, Senate majority leader, flew to Berlin today from Paris for a one-day visit. He was accompanied by United States Ambassador Robert Murphy, who has been conferring with Byrnes at the peace conference.

QUADRUPLETS BORN TO FRENCH PAIR MARRIED FOR 19 YEARS

PARIS, Sept. 3 (AP)—Four daughters were born yesterday to Mrs. Pierre Walzer, 39-year-old wife of a worker in a metal plant in a Paris suburb.

All four are "doing fine," according to the attending physician. Jacqueline and Danielle weigh a little more than three pounds each, Nicole weighs two pounds, nine ounces, and Anne-Marie two pounds, eight ounces.

The Walzers, married 19 years, have another daughter, Bernadette, 18.

116,000 PUPILS TROOP BACK TO SCHOOLS IN CITY

Sharp Rise Expected in Junior and Teachers' Colleges as Service Men Return.

Most of the city's 91,000 public school students went back to school today for another year of classes, while an additional 25,000 children returned to the parochial schools of the city.

With most of the day devoted to the routine of enrollment, full-time classes will be resumed tomorrow in the public elementary schools and on Thursday in the high schools, which will hold a short session tomorrow.

Students returning to the 28 elementary schools in which hot lunches are served found the price of the lunches had been increased from 11 to 13 cents each to compensate for increased food costs. Last year there was an operating deficit of $22,000 in the hot-lunch program.

In the 133 units of the public school system, Superintendent of Instruction Philip J. Hickey reported a slight decrease among white grade students to be offset by a corresponding gain among Negro children in this category. However, a sharp increase was anticipated in the junior and teachers' colleges in line with a nation-wide trend in institutions of higher learning as returning

2 JAP GENERALS SENTENCED TO DIE FOR YANK'S EXECUTION

Former Chief at Hong Kong and His Deputy Convicted in Death of U.S. Flyer.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 3 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Hisakasu Tanaka, governor general of Hong Kong during the Japanese occupation, and his chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Fukuchi, today were sentenced to death by a four-officer United States military commission. They were convicted of unlawfully trying and executing a Fourteenth Air Force pilot, Maj. David Henry Houck, Baltimore, Md.

Tanaka, previously in the custody of Chinese Army authorities at Canton, was released to the United States Army with the understanding would be returned to Canton for trial by the Chinese on war atrocity charges.

Three subordinates were convicted of complicity in Houck's death. Lt. Nichigai Kubo was sentenced to life imprisonment, Maj. Masamori Watanabe to 50 years in prison, and Capt. Kyoichi Yamaguchi to life, all at hard labor.

MOURNER AT SNAKE-HANDLER'S FUNERAL ALSO BITTEN, DIES

Third of Tennessee Sect to Succumb to Rattlers' Venom in Last 10 Days.

CLEVELAND, Tenn., Sept. 3 (AP) — Snake-handling rites at the funeral of a member of the sect practicing the weird ceremonies ended in the death of another believer yesterday, the third here within 10 days.

Hobart Wilson, 46 years old, bitten by a rattlesnake at the burial services for Walter H. Henry, his brother-in-law, died an hour and a half later without receiving medical aid.

Henry, 54, died last Saturday night, a week after he was bitten Aug. 25.

Harry Skelton, 18-year-old minister of the faith, died Aug. 25. He was bitten Aug. 17.

TITO IN NOTE ASKS U.S. TO GUARANTEE AGAINST FLIGHTS OVER YUGOSLAVIA

Denies Responsibility for Downing of Two Army Transports and Charges New Violations Since Aug. 19.

BELGRADE, Sept. 3 (AP)—Belgrade newspapers printed today a note the Yugoslav Government delivered to the United State- State Department at Washington Aug. 30, a note asking for a guarantee that no more American planes would fly over Yugoslavia and citing new instances of such flights.

The note asked the United States to "reply what it had undertaken to put an end to unauthorized and deliberate flights over Yugoslav territory on the part of American military and civilian planes and what guarantees it can give that this will not be repeated."

It said no "necessary or satisfactory reply" had been received to Yugoslav notes delivered to the United States on Aug. 10 and 19.

Two American Army transport planes were forced down by gunfire from Yugoslav fighters on Aug. 9 and 19. Nearly two weeks after the first incident, nine of the 10 occupants of the first American plane were released after the United States Government had issued an ultimatum. Five Americans were killed in the second plane.

Premier Josip (Tito) Broz, in ordering the release of nine of the occupants of the first plane gave "strict orders" that no more foreign planes be shot down prior to his formal receipt of the American ultimatum. Subsequently Washington announced the Yugoslave Government had complied with the ultimatum.

The new Yugoslav note, listing numerous flights of American planes over Yugoslav territory since Aug. 19, declared these "can no longer be tolerated."

The United States has asked compensation and indemities for the loss of the two transports, but the new note said the Yugoslav government "cannot bear any responsibility for this."

The note said that the two army transports and "many before them flew deep into Yugoslav territory" without being forced to do so by weather conditions and listed the following as flights by American aircraft over Yugoslavia since Aug. 19:

"Aug. 23, three planes, of which two were bombers and one a transport plane, flew over Yugoslav territory; Aug. 24, eight planes, of which three were bombers, three pursuits and two transports; Aug. 25, three planes—two pursuits and one transport; Aug. 26, nine planes, of which seven were pursuits and one a bomber; Aug. 27, nine planes, of which five were bombers, two transports and two pursuits."

PIVOTAL STOCKS TUMBLE $1 TO $14 IN SHARP BREAK

Ticker Falls Behind as Two Selling Waves Hit List, Recovery Fails to Hold.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—Stocks suffered one of their sharpest slumps of the last several years today.

Leading steels, motors, rails and industrials touched lows since last fall. There was then some recovery which failed to hold and a fresh outburst of liquidation hit the list in the fourth hour with pivotal issues tumbling $1 to more than $14 a share. The recording machinery was behind transactions on both occasions. Volume ran to 2,900,000 shares, one of the largest in 1946.

Many professionals, as well as public holders, dumped accounts, brokers said, partly on the idea that the past three months' reaction may have been in anticipation of business reaching a peak by the year end or later. Chart readers, it was added, turned bearish when the industrial average fell to a new bottom since last autumn.

SOVIET PAPERS GIVE SPACE TO HALSEY'S BLUNT REMARK

"Nobody's Damn Business Where U. S. Navy Goes" Carried With No Comment.

MOSCOW, Sept. 3 (AP)—Russian newspapers prominently displayed United States Fleet Adm. William D. Halsey's remark about the American navy:

"It's nobody's damn business where we go. We will go anywhere we please."

Halsey made the comment six days ago after Russian newspapers had criticized United States naval dispositions in the eastern Mediterranean.

KING GEORGE 2-TO-1 WINNER, TO RETURN TO GREECE SOON

Plebiscite Recalls Exile to Throne — Voting Marked by Violence in Some Areas.

By TOM WILLIAMS

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—King George II of Greece, described by a confidant as "a very happy man" today, intends to return to Athens in two or three weeks, a government spokesman said, thus ending his second exile since 1924.

The returns from Sunday's plebiscite on the king's return to his throne were still running at better than two to one for King George and dispatches from Paris said Premier Constantine Tsaldaris of Greece, now attending the peace conference, might confer with the king today or tomorrow.

(A United Press dispatch from Athens said nearly complete returns gave the King 1,019,801 votes to 374,876 republican or blank ballots.)

Violence marked the voting in some areas.

In Athens, the Ministry of Public Order said eight of 15 gendarmes seized by a band Sunday northwest of Kastoria have been found killed.

The statement also confirmed a report that 40 soldiers had been seized at the same time by a band of 400 leftists apparently moving from the Yugoslav or Albanian

BIG FOUR DRAFT REDUCING NAVY ADOPTED ALMOST IN ITS ENTIRETY

$11,500,000,000 British Reparations Bill Apparently Just for Record—Yugoslavia Replies to Bonomi on Trieste.

By ROBERT HEWETT

PARIS, Sept. 3 (AP)—Big Four recommendations that the Italian army, navy and air force be limited to 297,500 men—only a fraction of wartime strength—were approved unanimously today by the military commission of the 21-nation peace conference.

Under the approved provisions, Italy is permitted to have an army of 250,000 (including 65,000 carabinieri), a navy of 22,500 and an air force of 25,000. It is barred from possessing aircraft carriers and its land air force is restricted to 200 fighter and reconnaissance planes with an additional 150 transport and training planes.

The military commission's decision followed three other developments at yesterday's deliberations on the treaty for Italy:

1. Presentation by the United Kingdom and the British colonies of a bill for $11,500,000,000 which they said they could, but did not say they would, demand from Italy for direct and indirect war damages. The bill apparently was presented for the record. Both Britain and the United States have followed a policy of not asking Italy to pay any reparations.

2. Rejection by the Italian economic commission, by a vote of 13 to 7, of Australia's second attempt to set up a reparations commission for Italy, which would have limited collection of Russian war damage claims.

3. Approval by the commission of a proposal to permit the 11 nations with claims against Italy to explain their demands to a sub-commission.

Action by Military Group.

Without debate the military commission adopted all but one of the naval limitation articles drafted by the Council of Foreign Ministers, including the provision on Italian possession of aircraft carriers and submarines.

Approval of Big Four recommendations to limit the Italian fleet to two battleships, four cruisers and four destroyers and restrictions on other smaller warcraft was delayed pending study of a French amendment to qualify the wording of the treaty. The French proposal did not seek to change the number of ships.

Other provisions of the naval limitation articles which were approved included:

Surplus fleet units—Including the battleships Cesare, Italia and Vitor Veneto—would be transferred to the Government of the United States, Russia, Britain and France within three months after signing of the treaty.

No battleships could be constructed or acquired by Italy.

During the period of post-war mine-sweeping, Italy would be permitted to employ an additional 2500 officers and men in its navy above the 22,500 total.

The military commission accepted the four-power foreign ministers' draft setting the strength of the carabinieri ((state police) at 65,000 after Yugoslavia withdrew an amendment to limit the force to 30,000.

Yugoslav's Reply on Trieste.

Yugoslav Delegate Ales Bebler replied to Italian claims for Trieste with a counter-claim for a greater share of Venezia Giulia. He accused Ivanoe Bonomi, former Italian premier, of expressing "ruthless, heartless cynicism" in his speech yesterday.

Bebler told the Italian political and territorial commission that Bonomi's statement showed that Italy was "inspired by the same aggressive spirit" of Fascism. Bonomi said yesterday that creation of the free territory of Trieste would result in a "permanent threat" to Yugoslav-Italian peace.

Bebler criticized the so-called "French Line" agreed on by the Council of Foreign Ministers as establishing "the most absurd, the most arbitrary frontiers." The French line, he said, "gives the former aggressor excellent strategic position . . . and considerable military advantages. . .

"It deprives the victim of aggression, Yugoslavia, of any possibility of organizing a more or less stable defense line because it deprives her of the possibility of leaning on the coast, where the

WAR-WITH-RUSSIA TALK FAR-FETCHED IN OFFICIAL VIEW

Diplomats Expect Difficult Relations for Long Time — Russia Has Eased Demands Some.

By GRAHAM HOVEY.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—A "full statement" on the Yugoslav situation either tonight or tomorrow was promised by the State Department today as government officials here indicated that the dispute with this country over the downing of two American planes was headed toward a satisfactory conclusion. Such an ending, they said, might have the additional effect of lessening the tension between the United States and Russia.

A department press officer, who made the announcement of the forthcoming statement, would give no information on what it might contain. The general belief in the department, however, was that the statement would express American satisfaction at the receipt of a new note from Premier Josip (Tito) Broz.

Informed officials said that note, delivered Sunday in Belgrade, expressed official regrets over the incidents and contained assurances that the Yugoslav armed forces had been given strict instructions not to open fire henceforth on American planes.

Meanwhile, the Yugoslav embassy confirmed that it had delivered another note to the State Department Friday protesting again at what it charges were unauthorized flights of American planes over Yugoslav territory and denying responsibility for the crash of the American planes Aug. 9 and 19.

A news conference this morning at which Under Secretary William L. Clayton was to have discussed the Yugoslav situation was canceled.

Clayton's conference was called off suddenly after he had been summoned to the White House for an 11 a.m. conference with President Truman. Clayton is acting Secretary of State in the absences

109 PERSONS DEAD IN THREE DAYS OF RIOTS IN BOMBAY

New India Government Takes Office — Nehru Considering National 10-Year Plan.

BOMBAY, Sept. 3 (AP)—A communique said today that 109 persons had been killed and 393 injured since Sunday in violent Hindu-Moslem rioting in Bombay. New fights flared tonight.

The rioting began on the eve of the inauguration of India's new interim government in New Delhi.

Ill-feeling between Hindus and Moslem's has been intensified by the Moslem league's refusal to participate in the government—set up as a preliminary step in the British plan for Indian independence.

After taking the oath of office yesterday as head of the new government, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Congress party president, pledged himself to govern the nation "for the Indians" and indicated he was considering a 10-year program to improve their lot.

At the same time, Mohandas K. Gandhi declared at a prayer meeting in New Delhi that the Congress party "could never ally with Britain against the Moslems."

"After all, if the Hindus and Moslems must fight, let them be brave and fight it out among themselves," he declared. "So long as we rely on British arms there can be no real freedom in India."

If the Moslems insist on regarding the members of the new government as their enemies, then it is necessary for the government "by correct conduct to falsify that belief," Gandhi added.

Strong forces of troops and police were on duty in Bombay today, following pre-dawn outbursts in zones outside the area where a curfew was imposed yesterday.

Police were reported to have opened fire three times during the

Free Steak and Beer for G.I.s And Veterans in New York Bar

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—Any G.I. or ex-G.I. who walked into the Savor Bar on upper Broadway between 3 p.m. yesterday and the early hours this morning got all the free beefsteak, French fries and beer he could put away.

An invitation was pasted on the window. Inside free, it read, were 600 pounds of tenderloin steak, 35 kegs of beer and 300 cases of bottled brew, plus coleslaw and French fried potatoes.

The uptake was slow at first. As the evening wore on the place was jammed with veterans.

"How can you do it?" one veteran asked the proprietor, John Herouvim, who served in the Greek army in World War I.

"I don't want any money," he replied. "I have too much of it."

His openhandedness began in 1942 when 600 G.I.s were stationed at a hotel across the street from his bar.

"Those boys had no pay for two months before they came," Herouvim said. "They'd come in, buy one beer and three of them would take swallows of it. So I started giving them things on the house and lending them money." He said all the loans had been paid back.

Yesterday's affair started out to be a reunion for 30 men who were stationed across the street but Herouvim decided to throw the doors open to all passing veterans and G.I.s.

Chicagoan Arrested in Shooting Of Cat Invading Son's Sand Pile

CHICAGO, Sept. 3 (AP)—Two-year-old Carl Doering is definite about cats in his sand pile.

He doesn't want 'em. Police Detective Angelo Maselli gave this account:

A neighbor's black and white cat, Sheila, invaded Carl's back yard. Carl objected violently.

Carl's father, Max Doering Jr., made representations to the neighbor, who asked, "How can you keep a cat at home?"

Yesterday Doering saw Sheila stealthily creeping up on the sand pile. Doering got his shotgun and let fire just as Sheila, sensing trouble, was sailing over a four-foot fence.

Sheila and all her nine lives departed from this earth.

Carl's father, taken to jail and booked on charges of disorderly conduct and discharging firearms within the city limits, later was freed under $50 bond, pending a court hearing.

A messenger brought the bond money to the police station — a contribution from an anonymous neighbor who doesn't like cats either.

MOSCOW TELLS U.S. TO MIND OWN BUSINESS IN REPLY ON SWEDISH PACT

Russia Rejects Note Objecting to Bilateral Trade Deal, Terms It Intervention Between Independent States.

By REMBERT JAMES

MOSCOW, Sept. 3 (AP)—Russia has rejected American expression of concern relative to bilateral Soviet-Swedish trade negotiations in a note in which the official Soviet news agency Tass said the United States was told, in effect, to mind its own business.

The proposed pact would run for five years, and Sweden would extend credit totaling about $200,000,000 to Russia.

Tass announced the rejection last night and quoted the note of rejection as saying that the "Soviet Government—and it may be assumed the government of Sweden—are not in need of consultation with the United States Government on the question of the advantage or disadvantage they will reap from trade agreements."

(In Washington, Lincoln White, State Department press officer, told reporters that the text of Russia's reply to the American note would not be made public. He said Sweden's reply to the United States note had been delivered to the United States Embassy in Stockholm, but that it had no been received in Washington yet.

(Sweden, in effect, already had rejected the United States note. Its Foreign Office announced Saturday that a Swedish delegation would leave for Moscow tomorrow to resume negotiations on a proposed agreement with Russia.)

Text of U.S.S.R. Reply.

Following is the text of a Moscow radio report on Russia's reply to the American note:

"On Aug. 30 acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson said the United States Government expressed its uneasiness about the influence which long-term bilateral state agreements have on all around development of trade.

"On the basis of information received from the U.S.S.R. Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Tass, the Soviet telegraph agency, can make public the following:

"On Aug. 17, on instructions of his Government, United States Charge d'Affaires Burboll addressed a note to the Soviet Government saying the Government of the U.S.A. adheres to a policy striving for the expansion of world trade on an all around and undiscriminating basis, as provided for in clause seven of the Treaty of Mutual Aid which the United States concluded with the Soviet Government and other countries. The point of view of the U.S.A., says the note, with regard to the methods of conducting such policy is expounded in its proposals on extending world trade and employment.

Exchange of Notes Cited.

"To strengthen these proposals, the note says, the United States Government exchanged notes with the governments of other countries containing mutual expressions of intention to avoid fresh measures which could do harm to the object of the proposed conference on questions of trade and employment, summoned in accordance with a resolution confirmed by the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations on Feb. 18, 1946.

"Whenever the United States Government became aware of long-term bilateral trade agreements providing comparatively large quantities of goods thereupon, as the note states, it expressed to other countries its point of view with regard to the influence of such agreements on the program for extending multilateral trade.

"The note further states that it is understood the Soviet Government is at present conducting negotiations for a bilateral trade agreement with Sweden which could remain in force for five years or more, and that the quantities provided for might, in the case of certain products, absorb a considerable portion of exports.

Objections of United States.

"In this connection, the United States Government wishes to point out certain results of such an agreement. A long-term bilateral trade agreement of a type such as that being negotiated with Sweden apparently would apportion a definite quantity of Swedish items of export for shipment to the Soviet Union and, in the same way, Soviet items of export for Sweden, independently of more favorably commercial possibilities which might subsequently arise in other countries for purchase or sale of goods, are provided for in the agreement.

"Predetermination of the question of the direction of exports or sources of imports for a prolonged period of time threatens to freeze trade within the framework of a bilateral mold, in this way preventing realization of possibilities arising from multilateral trade.

"Furthermore, other countries might be the subject of discrimination in this regard, as they would not be able to request and receive the part of the goods predetermined by Sweden or the U.S.S.R. for export or import during the period of the operation of the agreement.

"Discrimination may also arise as a result of the inability of Swedish firms or the U.S.S.R. to buy or sell products named in the agreement in other countries, despite market conditions which could make such sales or purchases economically desirable, both for Sweden and the U.S.S.R. and other countries.

"In accordance with its general policy, the note says in conclusion:

"The Government of the United States informed the Government of Sweden of its point of view regarding the proposed agreement between Sweden and the U.S.S.R. It also wishes to express to the U.S.S.R. the hope that Russia will not undertake any obligations not in accordance with the principles expressed in article seven of the agreement on mutual aid concluded between the Government of the United States and the U.S.S.R. on June 11, 1942, or which would be harmful to the objects of the St. Louis conference on questions of trade and employment.

"On Aug. 26, Deputy Minister of Foreign Affairs of the U.S.S.R. (V. G.) Dekanozov handed Burboll, the United States charge d'affaires, a reply from the Soviet Government to the note.

"This (Soviet) note states that the Soviet Government expresses its extreme astonishment at the representation made by the United States on the question of trade negotiations between the governments of the Soviet Union and Sweden.

"It says further that the argument contained in the American Government note with regard to 'negative consequences' for world trade arising from the proposed trade agreement between the U.S.S.R. and Sweden cannot but arouse perplexity — particularly that part which touches upon disadvantages which might allegedly result from the said trade agreement for these two countries—and that the Soviet Union's Government, and it may be assumed the Government of Sweden, are not in need of consultation with the United States Government on questions of the advantage or disadvantage that they will reap from trade agreements.

"The Government of the U.S.S.R., the Soviet note observes, is the more astonished at the contents of the American Government's note considering that the Government of the United States itself is in the habit of concluding long-term bilateral credit and trade agreements with other countries on supplying them directly or through the Export-Import Bank with long-term credits for the purchase of American goods.

"In this connection, the United States Government interpretation of the proposed trade agreement between the U.S.S.R. and Sweden could be understood only as an attempt at intervention on the part of the United States in trade negotiations between two independent states.

"The Soviet note says in conclusion that equal amazement is aroused by the hope expressed in the United States notes that the U.S.S.R. would not undertake any obligations which are not in accordance with the principles laid down in Article Seven of the agreement concluded between the United States and the U.S.S.R. on June 11, 1942, as provisions of Article Seven have no relation to the character of trade negotiations being carried on between the U.S.S.R. and Sweden."

Text of Aug. 30 Yugoslav Note: U. S. Flights Are 'Deliberate'

BELGRADE, Sept. 3 (AP). FOLLOWING is the text of the Yugoslav note of Aug. 30 to the United States State Department, as printed in Belgrade newspapers today:

In connection with the continual flights of military and civilian air forces of the United States over Yugoslav territory, thus infringing the sovereignty of oud country, the Government of Yugoslavia addressed several notes of protest and demands to the United States Government requesting that unauthorized flights cease and that investigations be carried out against those who were responsible. Not in one single case has there been given the necessary and satisfactory reply or been undertaken measures to prevent thus.

Also, the Yugoslav Government has not received the necessary reply to its two latest notes—one dated Aug. 10, No. 9470, concerning the flight over our territory and forced landing of an American military transport plane, Type C-47, on Aug. 9 and further owing to the flight of another American plane, No. 4374, on Aug. 19, the crew of which unfortunately met with a tragic end which could undoubtedly have been prevented had it obeyed the signal to land. Both planes as well as many before them flew deep into Yugoslav territory, the first over 70, and the second over 50 kilometers. Both planes did not fly over Yugoslavia owing to bad weather because the weather was favorable over the Alps those days, and there was no bad weather which could be very well seen from the Yugoslav side of the Alps.

Therefore, however much the death of the victims is regrettable owing to the tragic end of the plane which occurred Aug. 19 this year, the Government of Yugoslavia cannot bear any responsibility for this because on its part it has done all in order to avoid such cases which occurred and which can very easily occur on a frontier where our army as in every independent country has a task to guard the inviolability of its territory and the sovereignty of its country.

Asks U. S. Response.

In connection with the above mentioned facts, the Government of Yugoslavia again asks the United States Government to reply what it has undertaken to put an end to unauthorized and deliberate flights over Yugoslav territory on the part of American military and civilian planes and what guarantees it can give this will not be repeated.

This is all the more urgent because flights over Yugoslavia have been repeated in these regions even after the case which occurred Aug. 19, for example:

Aug. 23, three planes, of which two were bombers and one a transport plane, flew over Yugoslav territory; Aug. 24, eight planes, of which three were bombers, three pursuits and two transports; Aug. 25, three planes, two pursuits and one transport; Aug. 26, nine planes, of which seven were pursuits, one a transport and one a bomber; Aug. 27, nine planes, of which five were bombers, two transports and two pursuits.

From the number of planes which daily and repeatedly fly over Yugoslav territory, it is clear that in all cases this is not done owing to necessity or to bad weather but that in a majority of cases our territory was again deliberately crossed.

Marshal Tito in a statement to United States Ambassador (Richard C.) Patterson declared he issued orders forbidding the opening of fire on transport and other planes which might fly over Yugoslav territory, supposing also that the United States Government would on its part undertake the necessary steps in order to prevent this insofar as this was not done in an emergency owing to bad weather, and this can be settled between the American and Yugoslav military authorities.

"Brutal Infringement."

The Government of Yugoslavia considers the deliberate and brutal infringement of Yugoslavia's territory on the part of military planes can no longer be tolerated and requests that necessary measures be urgently undertaken by the United States Government in order to prevent this in the future because this is also detrimental to good relations between America and Yugoslavia and brings about undesired incidents.

EXPERTS AT PARIS AGREE ON LIMIT FOR ITALY'S ARMY

territory of Trieste, a kind of giant bridgehead, drives a deep wedge into territory under Yugoslav sovereignty," he added.

Bonomi had flatly asked the commission and the conference to "re-examine" and override the Big Four foreign ministers' decision to internationalize the Trieste area. His plea went a step farther than that of Premier Alcide de Gasperi who earlier had asked the conference to postpone the decision for a year.

Change in Romania Draft.

The Balkan economic commission adopted unanimously today a Polish amendment which requires Romania to restore "all the legal rights and interests in Romania of the United Nations and their nationals as they existed" on Sept. 1, 1939, the date war broke out in Europe. The foreign ministers had drafted the paragraph to read the day Russia entered the war.

The commission then came up against a clause on which the foreign ministers had been unable to agree—compensation for property which Romania could not restore because it had been destroyed or disposed of.

An American proposal, generally supported by Britain and France, called for full compensation in Romanian currency. A Russian counter-proposal called for compensation for only one-third the value.

Willard Thorp, the American delegate, argued that it would be unjust to assure full restitution of available property but not require full compensation for property destroyed. The commission adjourned without deciding the question.

The British bill outlining possible reparations claims of $11,500,000,000 against Italy covers costs of the war against Italy, shipping losses and damage to Malta. It excludes war damage within Britain, estimated at $8,000,000,000.

With previous claims that had been set forth, including $100,000,000 for Russia, Italy faced the possibility of having to produce $20,149,309,425 if full payment were awarded.

May Continues to Improve.

PRESTONSBURG, Ky., Sept. 3 (UP) — Representative Andrew J. May (Dem.), Kentucky, probably will be able to return to Washington by the latter part of September. Dr. John Archer, who has helped treat him since his return home Aug. 1, said he hoped May would be able to return to the capital in "about three weeks, if he continues to improve at the rate he is going now."

WOMAN IS HELD AFTER FIRES

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 3 (AP)—Firemen who put out a dozen blazes in automobiles, night clubs, phone booths and the like within 24 hours booked a brunette on suspicion of arson today. Investigator Harry W. Martin said she told them she did it to embarrass her parents.

She gave her name as Joan Falk, 23 of New York City. She was arrested while watching firemen extinguish a blaze in a car. One of the blazes was in her own hotel room.

REDS ACCUSE U.S., BRITAIN OF USING 'BIG-STICK' POLICY

Izvestia Cites Plane Incident in Yugoslavia, Sending Fleet to Greece as Examples.

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Russian Government newspaper Izvestia complained yesterday of British-American "attempts to disrupt the cause of peace and security" at the Paris peace conference. It cited the American-Yugoslav incident as evidence of "big stick" diplomacy.

"The democratic nations of the world," said the article quoted by Tass, "have made far too many sacrifices in the struggle against the 'big stick' policy, and would hardly wish to become reconciled to such a policy, now—even if the 'big stick' should change hands.

"The opponents of international collaboration and the organization of the postwar peace are working hard to divert the conference from its basic tasks.

"They are trying by every means to complicate the conference work by piling up one 'amendment' to the draft peace treaties on another. They are seeking to drown the fundamental, decisive principles of the draft peace treaties in these numerous amendments, which are often devoid of any sense.

"Attempts to disrupt the cause of peace and security are not only made within the walls of the Luxembourg palace.

"The use of the incident of the American airplanes in Yugoslavia as a means of pressure on the Yugoslav Government is a most striking example of the attempt to exert pressure on countries whose attitude at the Paris conference differs from that of the British and United States of America representatives.

"Simultaneously, pressure is exerted on Poland, to which the British and American governments presented notes.

"The presence of the American naval squadron in the Mediterranean is used by certain circles as a direct demonstration against the aims for which the representatives of 21 countries are assembled in Paris."

Feeding Polish Unrest.

Writing in the Communist organ Pravda, a Russian commentator declared today that American and British policy was to "turn Poland into a fireplace of restlessness and disturbance."

The commentator, N. Sergeva, said that recent American and British notes urging early free elections in Poland were an illustration of how the "Anglo-American states are trying to force their will on other nations."

The notes are completely without foundation because the Potsdam agreement "did not visualize foreign control over such Polish internal affairs as elections or the making of the election laws," he said.

A Moscow radio commentator declared today that "it is beyond doubt that Britain and America are supplying Turkey with arms and war equipment."

He gave no specific instances as to the United States, but said Britain was training Turkish aircraft pilots and ground technicians, constructing airdromes and strategic roads, and had given the Turks two destroyers, a submarine and 11 lesser naval vessels, 150 combat aircraft, numbers of anti-aircraft, guns, and "great quantities of radio equipment, mines and parachutes."

The British Foreign Office announced today it had complained to the Soviet government of misrepresentation by the Russian press and radio.

LABORATORY ATOM POWER PLANT IN 2 YEARS, SAYS ARMY

Drawings for Pile Not Yet Made and No Contract for Erection Signed.

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Sept. 3 (UP) — The Clinton laboratories here expect to produce electricity from an atomic pile within 18 months to two years, an army spokesman said today.

Such production, he said, would be for experimental purposes only and would not be used to provide power for industries or to compete with present commercial forms of electricity.

The spokesman's comment was made after Prof. Karl Manne Siegbahn, chief of the Nobel Institute for Physics in Stockholm, was quoted as saying that the United States would have an atom-driven steam turbine operating at Oak Ridge within a year.

Actually, the spokesman said, drawings for the atomic pile have not been made and no contract has been signed for erection of the $2,500,000 project which will be operated by Monsanto Chemical Corp., through the Clinton laboratories.

of Secretary Byrnes and Under Secretary Dean Acheson.

They cited the possibility of an early Yugoslav settlement as one of several reasons why they contend that talk of an impending final showdown—or even war—between the United States and the Soviet Union is far-fetched.

They say they frankly expect American-Russian relations to be difficult for a long time. They maintain that war talk ignores the fact that Russia in recent months has pulled back on several important fronts, rather than becoming more aggressive.

Among the reasons these officials mention is the stiffening American stand on various Soviet demands. Another, they add, may be the realization that Soviet tactics at international conferences have cost Russia much of its wartime prestige and good will.

At any event they point to:

1. Evacuation by the Red Army of Manchuria, Iran and the Danish Baltic island of Bornholm.
2. Reductions in the Red Army occupation garrisons in the Balkan countries.
3. Russia's abandonment of its claim for a trusteeship over the former Italian North African colony of Tripolitania.
4. Russia's compromise of its demand that the Adriatic port of Trieste be given to Yugoslavia.
5. The Soviet-supervised elections in Austria and Hungary which resulted in decisive defeats for the Communist parties.

A demand that the State Department halt the loading of two ships with UNRRA supplies for Yugoslavia has been made by Senator Johnson (Dem.) Colorado, his office said today. Johnson said in a telegram from Colorado to Acheson:

"Two ships, the Bartlesville Victory at New York and the Brown Victory at Jersey City, are being loaded with UNRRA supplies for Yugoslavia. I demand that this sort of sickening incompetence be stopped by you. Governments which shoot down Americans must not be rewarded. They can only interpret it as cowardly appeasement and bald-faced bribery. Double dealing of this kind by America is dangerous and disgusting and does not make sense."

UKRAINIAN PROTESTS TO U.N. AGAINST DENIAL OF SEAT

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP) — Dmitri Manuilsky, Soviet Ukrainian foreign minister, protested vigorously to the United Nations Security Council today against a council decision to deny him a seat while the delegates debated whether to hear his charges against Greece.

He sat in the spectators' section of the council chamber while Dr. Oscar Lange of Poland, council president, read a letter from him saying that arguments against seating him were "groundless."

Manuilsky charged the British and Netherlands representatives violated the charter last Friday in refusing to seat him and accept the complaint as he had presented it. The council convened at 3:23 p.m. (2:23 p.m., St. Louis time) to resume debate on admitting the charges to the agenda.

Herschel V. Johnson, United States delegate, first to speak after the session began before a small crowd, said that the United States felt the council could not deny any state an opportunity to present its complaint. He said he would not comment on the validity of the complaint.

Manuilsky waited with two suitcases of documents for the council to decide whether to hear him immediately.

"I think the Ukrainian complaint should be put on the agenda of the council," Johnson said.

Manuilsky and his staff kept busy over the Labor day holiday while most of the delegations on the Security Council relaxed at United Nations day yesterday at the national tennis championships at Forest Hills.

The Ukrainian official, who declared at a press conference last Friday that the Security Council must concern itself with the Greek plebiscite, had no comment today on the results of the voting, in which King George II won the decision. Manuilsky said he would comment before the Council if given an opportunity; if not, he would call another press conference.

On Aug. 24, Manuilsky filed charges with the United Nations that the Greek Government, aided by British troops in Greece, is a menace to the peace of the Balkans; is responsible for incidents along the Greek-Albanian border, and is persecuting national minorities in Macedonia, Thrace and Epirus.

The council last Friday declined to invite Manuilsky and Vassili Dendramis, Greek representative, to sit at the table while it debated whether to put the charges on the agenda. The British and the Netherlands delegates declared the charges were not substantiated; the demanded more evidence.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, said that the council must hear the charges.

If the council decides to hear Manuilsky's charges in their present form, it then must deal with a request from the Greek government for a 10-day postponement of the case.

Also pending on the provisional agenda is Gromyko's demand that the Council call for information on the disposition on Aug. 1 of Allied troops and air and sea bases in alien, non-enemy countries.

Trygve Lie, U.N. secretary-general and a tennis player, spoke briefly from the center court at the Forest Hills stadium. Lie said that international sports competitions play a real part in the work of peace. He declared that the work of the United Nations and all international sports "follow the same line: peaceful competition according to proper rules, friendship and understanding and respect between the nations."

In a radio interview with Clark M. Eichelberger, director of the American Association for the United Nations, Dr. Oscar Lange of Poland, Council president, said last night the international situation had "deteriorated" during the last months but that a better situation could be expected as soon as the bargaining of the peace-making period is over.

Lange called for co-operation among the great powers.

PERU WANTS TO TRY YANKS INVOLVED IN AIR BASE FIGHT

LIMA, Peru, Sept. 3 (AP) — A Peruvian Foreign Office communique said yesterday that United States Ambassador Prentice Cooper and an American Army Air Force colonel had expressed regrets over the Talara air base incident of July 28 in which a Peruvian naval ensign was beaten and an American Army sergeant was wounded.

The communique said that the Peruvian Government had asked that the American soldiers involved in the incident be handed over to Peruvian courts for a hearing.

The communique gave this account of the incident:

An American soldier "challenged" the Peruvian ensign, and an American Army truck stopped an automobile in which a Peruvian civilian and a girl were riding. The Peruvian ensign drew a pistol "to intimidate the aggressors," and one of the Americans knocked him down. As the ensign fell his pistol went off and wounded an American sergeant named Eiland.

The ensign then "was beaten until he was unconscious." American soldiers picked up the ensign later and took him to a hospital.

1200 JEWS SEIZED ON SHIP TRYING TO REACH PALESTINE

British Destroyer Takes Vessel in Tow — Immigrants to Be Deported to Cyprus.

JERUSALEM, Sept. 3 (AP)—The 400-ton ship Four Freedoms, crowded with 1200 Jews seeking to enter Palestine illegally, arrived at Haifa early today in tow of a British destroyer which intercepted it last night off Tel Aviv. British authorities immediately began transferring the immigrants to a transport for removal to Cyprus.

Interception of the ship resulted in a brief fight between the immigrants and a naval boarding party in which several British sailors were injured, the British Government announced.

Shortly after the vessel dropped anchor between two destroyers just outside the Haifa breakwater naval engineers set up barbed wire runways on the docks for processing the immigrants. Barges swarmed around the anchored craft.

Just before noon, one of the flanking destroyers left the immigrant ship and wheeled into formation with a cruiser and two other destroyers deployed outside the breakwater. Two planes circled overhead.

A number of depth charges boomed across the bay for about 15 minutes and Haifa residents expressed belief that the bombs were bing dropped "to discourage the ship's passengers from attempting to swim ashore."

When the ship was intercepted at least a dozen of the immigrants leaped over the side "apparently with the intention of swimming to shore," the British announcement said.

It did not disclose their fate or whether any of the immigrants had been injured in the fighting.

The vessel was the first to arrive in Palestine waters with a load of illegal immigrants since the British announced that all Jews attempting to enter the Holy Land without proper admission certificates would be deported to Cyprus.

Palestine sources said it probably was the first of a new group of vessels now en route to Palestine.

What Should a Wife Pay for Her Husband's Funeral?
It is a decision that must be made at a time of incomparable stress. Her disposition at the moment is unfavorable to retrenchment. Whereas her revealed circumstances permit of a moderate expenditure only.
Unnecessarily to overspend simply means a denial of funds which should very properly be utilized in re-establishing herself.
The choice of a funeral director who will respect your wife's resources is highly important. It is to meet this situation that we developed and perfected
THE ROBERT J. AMBRUSTER PRE-ARRANGED FUNERAL PLAN
Under this plan, in most instances far in advance of need, the casket and type of vault are selected and the several services decided on. The total amount is brought within what is believed to be justified.
Here is freedom for your wife from all the problems attending your funeral. The intrusion of business affairs is obviated; her resources are conserved.
The adoption of a Pre-Arranged Funeral Plan nowise differs from any other provision for the well-being of your survivors.
The drawing of your will, life insurance, the formation of a trust—all have to do with the inevitable. A Pre-Arranged Funeral is just one more act of consideration. Indeed, as you reflect, it merges into a duty.

RARE TREES LOST, FLOWERS PERISH AT SHAW'S GARDEN IN SUNDAY STORM

(Pictures in Everyday Magazine)

Emergency crews continued today clearing debris and restoring interrupted electric service resulting from the lashing wind, rain and hail storm in St. Louis and a limited area of St. Louis county Sunday afternoon. Wind damage was largely to trees, electric wires and plate glass while overtaxed sewer inlets resulted in flooded streets, sidewalks and basements in the southern section of the city.

Damage to trees and shrubs in Shaw's Garden was termed the worst in the history of the garden by Dr. George T. Moore, director. The garden was closed yesterday while all hands, including crews from the garden's Gray Summit establishment, cleared fallen trees and drained flood areas.

"Some of our finest and rarest trees, including Chinese scholar trees, red flowering horse chestnuts, maidenhair trees and others were destroyed," Dr. Moore said. Water lilies were blown out of ponds and roses and other flowering plants were stripped of blossoms.

500 Panes Broken.

Falling trees broke through the garden wall in two places, the roof and guttering of the Linnean house was wrecked and about 500 panes of glass were smashed. Building damage is insured, but there is no insurance on trees and plants, Dr. Moore stated. One of the original forest oaks, which was in the area when Henry Shaw laid out the garden, lost its main branches in the storm. The garden was reopened to the public today.

About 100 homes on the South Side were without electric service for the second night last night. More than 1000 residences were without lights Sunday night, due to wires being torn down by falling branches. Crews worked through the night restoring service, and a Union Electric Co. spokesman said it was expected that service would be fully restored today.

Park Commissioner Palmer B. Baumes toured the South Side yesterday and expressed amazement at the number of large trees uprooted or snapped off at the trunk. In Tower Grove Park 130 full-grown trees, including many taproot types, were uprooted or broken off by the wind. More than double that number were damaged. Lights in the park were out Sunday night, and roads and paths were flooded. Magnolia avenue, the northern park boundary, was made impassable by fallen trees and flooded streets. The ornamental windows in the gatehouse at the Arsenal street entrance, built in 1880, were blown out.

Trees Crush Autos.

Benton Park and Gravois Park, also on the South Side, suffered heavy damage. Fifteen trees were blown down in the 4200 block of Lafayette avenue and uprooted trees in other sections of the neighborhood crushed automobiles and broke windows in dwellings. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Shontz were sitting in their automobile in front of their home, 4225 Lafayette avenue, waiting for the storm to pass when a falling tree smashed in the top of the machine. They were uninjured. A large maple tree fell on the automobile of Willard Ballard, in front of 4177 Castleman avenue.

Broken trolley wires and fallen trees interrupted street car service on the Grand, Bellefontaine, Broadway and several other lines, and detours were necessary on several South Side bus routes. Sections of the Express Highway were flooded and the highway was closed from Sunday evening until 3 p.m. yesterday to permit drainage and cleaning of the roadway.

Two 15-year-old girls, Bee Adams, 3439 St. Vincent avenue, and Margaret Orr, 708A State street, East St. Louis, were cut by glass when the plate glass was shattered in a drug store at 1500 South Grand boulevard. They were standing in front of the store. A large section of cornice on a three-story building at 2901 South Jefferson avenue crashed to the sidewalk, carrying part of an iron porch railing with it.

Two Fires Caused.

Lightning caused two fires in the storm. Two alarms were sent in after lightning ignited kerosene at the Community Motors, 5236 Natural Bridge avenue, causing $1500 damage. A two-story residence at 4571 Adkins avenue, was damaged by lightning and fire.

Weather Bureau instruments at Lambert-St. Louis Field recorded gusts of wind up to 65 miles an hour. The wind, from the northwest, was accompanied by 1.04 inches of rain at the airport. At the main bureau in the New Federal Building only 20-mile-an-hour winds and .43-inch of rain were recorded. The temperature dropped 17 degrees, to 61, between 3 and 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the airport. Hail stones were several inches deep in certain of the storm-damaged areas. About 500 homes in Overland and Jennings were without lights Sunday evening, but service was restored after several hours.

The strong wind interrupted the upstream cruise of the excursion steamer "Admiral" Sunday afternoon. The boat was tied up at Rutger street for 30 minutes before proceeding to its dock at Washington avenue.

PLANES DISTURBING SLEEP; REROUTING TO BE DISCUSSED

City and County Officials Will Meet With C. & S. Airline Officers

A meeting of St. Louis and St. Louis county officials and a representative of Chicago & Southern Air Lines to discuss a probable rerouting of the company's night planes, which have been disturbing the sleep of citizens, will be held tomorrow afternoon at the St. Louis County Court at Clayton.

The meeting was called by Milton Kinsey, president of the Board of Public Service, and Judge Luman F. Matthews of the County Court, following receipt of letters of complaint from citizens of both the city and county, who asserted that Chicago & Southern planes have been disturbing their sleep, especially in the early morning hours.

In a communication to Carleton Putnam, airline president, Kinsey said he and Judge Matthews had discussed minor changes in operating routine to eliminate the nuisance, which has become more pronounced since Chicago & Southern adopted four-engine planes. Putnam is sending a representative to the meeting tomorrow.

DRAFT BOARDS AGAIN CALLING MEN BETWEEN 19 AND 29

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Young men between the ages of 19 and 29 were reporting to their draft boards today as draft machinery started up again after a two-month holiday. About 25,000 will be called this month.

Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey said he expected no trouble filling quotas this month or next but after that "we will have to hunt." Official forecasts are that 185,000 men may have to be supplied before the extended draft act expires March 31. However, in the first three weeks of August, enlistments were running above estimates. In July 42,162 signed up.

In Misousri, it was estimated that 1200 men would be inducted this month and about the same number in October.

The Navy, with a waiting list of volunteers, is taking no men by way of the draft. The Army which had 8,050,000 men under arms on V-J day (Sept. 1, 1945) intends to level off at 1,070,000 men next July 1.

SINGLE HEALTH BOARD URGED FOR CITY AND COUNTY CONTROL

A suggestion that a single Board of Health administer to the health problems of St. Louis and St. Louis county through a single health commissioner having jurisdiction over both was offered today by Dr. Haven Emerson of New York, former president of the American Public Health Association.

Unification of control in a single agency would make for more economical and better administration, he declared, and also would permit the attraction of the best talent available in the field of public health because of funds which would be available through the consolidation.

Speaking before the St. Louis District Dairy Council at Hotel Jefferson, Dr. Emerson acknowledged the controversial nature and the political problems involved in his suggestion but he maintained these could be solved in the public interest. Even if such a consolidation were not feasible immediately, he added, St. Louis should have a Board of Health to draw up health policies rather than one-man control through a health commissioner.

SPARE STAMP 51 IN BOOK FOUR GOOD FOR 5 POUNDS OF SUGAR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Spare stamp 51 in ration book No. 4 is good for five pounds of sugar through Dec. 31, if the grocer has the sugar, OPA reminded housewives today. The stamp became valid Sunday.

On that day also stamp 49 was supposed to expire, but because of sugar shortages in many cities, OPA extended its validity through Sept. 30 so that consumers may cash it.

Spare stamps 9 and 10 are each good through Oct. 31 for five pounds of home canning sugar.

FOUR ROB SAFE OF $5000; PORTER PUT IN LOCKER

Employe Locked in Restaurant Says One of the Men Was Masked and Armed.

Four men, one masked and armed, broke open a safe at the Tastee Bar-B-Q restaurant, 4976 Delmar boulevard, early today and fled with $5000 after locking a Negro porter in a wooden storage locker in the basement, police reported.

The porter, Peter White, 16 years old, 4037 Aldine avenue, told police that one of the owners of the restaurant, Richard Diedrich, left the premises about 5 a.m., locking him inside to do the cleaning. Shortly after Diedrich left, White said, he received a telephone call inquiring if anyone else was there. The caller hung up when he said he was alone.

White told police he then went to a room in the front of the basement to get his broom and mop and when he turned to leave the room four men were standing at the door. One was masked and carried a pistol.

After locking him in the wooden locker the men knocked the combination off the safe, which was in the office in the basement, took the money and left, White told police. He said he broke out of the locker after about 10 minutes and called the police.

Police reported that the men apparently left the restaurant through a rear door, but that there was no evidence of entry having been forced. The money represented three days' receipts and payroll funds, Diedrich told police.

SOLDIER AND GIRL MARRIED IN PARK WHERE THEY MET

Pvt. Robert L. Ward of Scott Field and Texarkana, Ark., was honeymooning today on a three-day pass following his marriage Sunday to Miss Coila Buck in Lafayette Park where they met three weeks ago.

A crowd of curious passersby, attracted by the sight of the bride in white wedding gown and the sound of Mendelssohn's Wedding March issuing from a portable phonograph, witnessed the ceremony in the park's flower garden.

The bride, whose home is in Wichita, Kan., was given in marriage by Oliver Jones, park keeper, who received special permission from Park Commissioner Palmer B. Baumes to have the outdoor wedding on city property. The Rev. Miss Evelyn Taylor of the Four Square Gospel Church officiated.

Ward is 21 years old, his bride 18.

THREE DROWN IN BOAT UPSET; 2 KILLED IN AUTOS

Skiff Swamped by High Waves as Party Crossed Illinois River on Way to Swan Lake.

Three persons were drowned when the boat in which they were crossing the Illinois river at Hartford Point near Marquette State Park capsized and two others were killed in automobile accidents in the St. Louis area during the Labor day holidays.

Raymond Deering of 2716 North Thirteenth street, Fairmount City; Mrs. Josephine Schroeder, 2709A Burd avenue, and Alfred Martinez, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Martinez, 2739 North Fortieth street, Fairmont City, drowned yesterday when high waves swamped their motorboat as they were crossing the river to go fishing in Swan Lake.

Two others in the flat-bottomed skiff, Mrs. Schroeder's husband, Marvin, and Mrs. Delphine Deering, wife of Raymond Deering, were rescued after they had clung to the overturned boat for nearly an hour.

Big Wave Upset Skiff.

Schroeder said the group had reached midstream when high waves raised by a passing motorboat began to break over the sides of the skiff.

"We were frightened and huddled in the middle of the boat," he said, "but one big wave struck us and the skiff turned over. I was the only good swimmer. When I came up I saw a woman floating near me. I thought it was my wife but it turned out to be Mrs. Deering. I grabbed her and lifted her up on top of the bottom of the boat, then I looked around for the others. They had all disappeared."

Schroeder said he called for help but was unable to attract the attention of other people on the river until he and Mrs. Deering had drifted nearly two miles downstream. When they were finally rescued, Mrs. Deering was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, for treatment of shock and exposure.

All three bodies were recovered with grappling hooks by State Conservation Department workers today. They were taken to the Kassly undertaking establishment, 1101 North Ninth street, East St. Louis.

Schroeder said he and the others had gone to the state park Saturday with Joseph Martinez and Mr. and Mrs. David Lilly of 1206A State street, East St. Louis. Martinez and the Lillys, he said, returned home Sunday. Joseph Martinez is the father of Mrs. Schroeder, Mrs. Deering and Mrs. Lilly.

Killed in Auto Crash.

Mrs. Joseph Bieber of Swiss, Mo., was killed Saturday when the automobile in which she was riding with her husband collided with a bakery truck on Highway 19 near Hermann, Mo.

Joseph Bieber, driver, suffered chest injuries, and was taken to Wortman Hospital at Hermann together with three other passengers who suffered cuts and bruises. Henry Goercner of Hermann, driver of the truck, was uninjured.

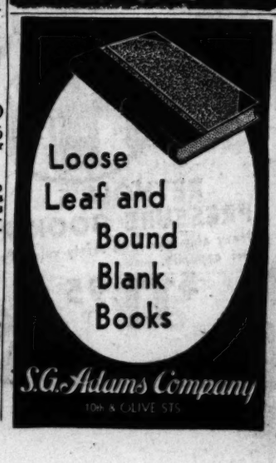

Edward L. Roper, 74 years old, of Flat River, was fatally injured yesterday when he was struck by an automobile driven by P. C. Graham of Noblick, Mo., as he was crossing a railroad overpass near Esther, Mo.

A number of people were injured in other accidents in the area. In East St. Louis Mrs. Beatrice Rummel of 8804 Church lane suffered a fractured skull and lacerations of the left leg when a motor scooter on which she was riding with her husband, Wilbert, collided on State street yesterday with an automobile driven by Adam Renneker of 111 South Eighteenth street, Belleville. She was taken to Christian Welfare Hospital, East St. Louis.

Patrick Leonard, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Leonard, 1042 Francis place, Richmond Heights, suffered fractures of the right arm and right leg Sunday. He was struck by an automobile driven by Desmond Lee Jr., Clayton and Kropp roads, St. Louis county, when he ran into the street in front of his home.

At Belleville Lt. Elston Coglan of Scott Field suffered head injuries when an automobile he was driving collided head-on with a Belleville-St. Louis Coach Co., bus in the 2100 block of West Main street Saturday. He was taken to Scott Field Station Hospital. Lester Freeman, 1109 LaSalle street, Belleville, bus driver, and three passengers in the bus suffered minor injuries.

SON SAYS LOAN OFFICER INDORSED O'LEARY CHECKS

Bank Said to Have Asked That This Be Done, Abraham Davis Asserts in Claim.

Police Sgt. Joseph F. O'Leary, whose activities in obtaining 350 loans totaling $60,000 for nonexistent persons resulted in collapse of the Northwestern Loan and Investment Association, obtained the indorsement of the association secretary, Harry Davis, on some of the loan checks, Abraham Davis, lawyer and son of the secretary, said today.

"O'Leary attended a board meeting several years ago and asked that an indorsement be put on the checks, explaining the bank had asked this be done," Davis said. "My father then wrote his name on the back of the checks, in the presence of the board.

"After that my father continued to indorse the checks as a matter of routine, but overlooked doing so on many of them. The bank continued to cash them."

Abraham Davis has made claim on the North Side Bank, where the association kept its funds, for repayment of the checks cashed by O'Leary, on the ground that payees' indorsements were fraudulent and that the bank made no effort to verify their authenticity. The bank has denied liability.

On the Monday before O'Leary's death last June 17, Abraham Davis said, O'Leary's wife, Genevieve, who acted as "messenger" for him during his illness, brought eight loan applications to the firm's office, and loans were made on these.

Mrs. O'Leary has stated she knew nothing about details of her husband's transactions and that she merely took applications for loans and weekly loan payments to the association and cashed loan checks at the bank for her husband.

Chief of Police James J. Mitchell said today he would order an investigation of a report that a police squad car was used in carrying Mrs. O'Leary to and from the association office, which was in the home of Mrs. Joseph Kirchmeyer, 5461 Wren avenue. Use of police vehicles for private purposes is prohibited.

KILLED IN 40-FOOT FALL WHEN WORKING ON CHIMNEY

Robert W. Hill, 56-year-old chauffeur, was killed yesterday when he fell 40 feet from a ladder to a sidewalk at his home, 4054 South Spring avenue.

His wife, Veneta, told police he had been standing on the ladder tuckpointing a chimney. He was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Anthony's Hospital.

Missing on Plane Trip

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR M. FREUND

3 ST. LOUISANS AND PLANE STILL MISSING IN WEST

Search Made for Arthur M. Freund, Wife and Son on Craft Unreported Since Friday.

A widespread search continued today for the airplane that has been unreported since it took off from Glendale, Calif., Friday night with three members of a St. Louis family aboard.

Parts of an airplane were found scattered over a mountainous district 25 miles northeast of Phoenix, Ariz., but there were indications the discovery was made prior to the take-off of the missing plane.

Aboard the unreported plane were Arthur M. Freund, 7260 Pershing avenue, University City; his wife, Mrs. Hattie Freund, and their son, Stephen Freund, who has been living in Los Angeles.

The plane, a twin-engined Cessna, had been chartered to bring Freund, who suffered a heart attack Aug. 22 when he and his wife were visiting their son, to St. Louis. A nurse, John Coles, was attending Freund on the plane.

The plane, flown by Pilot Philo Beveridge Pringle, was scheduled to refuel at Phoenix at midnight Friday after taking off from Grand Central Airport in Glendale, near Los Angeles, but it has not been heard from since it left.

Freund, 65 years old, retired last year as secretary-treasurer of the Security Fire Door Co., 3044 Lambdin avenue. He formerly was an officer of the Superior Insulating Tape Co. His wife is 61 years old. Stephen Freund, 35, a graduate of Washington University Law School, is head of the legal department of Sunset Oil Co. in Los Angeles. He lives there with his wife.

The Freunds have three daughters: Mrs. Leo Sachar, who is living temporarily at her parents' home; Mrs. Alfred Schwartz, 7121 Westmoreland drive, University City, and Mrs. Monte Silverblatt, 7246 Moller avenue, Maplewood.

REALTY BROKER'S LICENSE SUSPENDED FOR 30 DAYS

The real estate broker's license of Floyd Davis, 617 East Lockwood avenue, Webster Groves, was suspended yesterday for 30 days by the Missouri Real Estate Commission which found him guilty of giving illegal possession to property for which he was broker.

A hearing was conducted by the commission last Aug. 24 on charges brought by Lemuel and Margaret Boren that Davis installed a prospective purchaser in a residence at 6945 Magnolia avenue, which the Borens had listed with him for sale, without obtaining their permission.

Mrs. Boren said the prospective purchaser failed to complete the deal and moved out after six weeks. She said Davis's agent obtained a key to the residence from a neighbor and allowed the prospective purchaser to move in.

MULCAHY STUDIES DISTRICT REPORTS ON POLICE UNION

Last Day for Captains to List Men's Withdrawals — Five Refuse to Resign.

Police Inspector Maurice Mulcahy today was studying reports from district captains on policemen who have resigned or refused to resign from the police union preparatory to filing charges against those who have refused to comply with an order by the Board of Police Commissioners to withdraw from the union.

The charges will be filed with the board as soon as Mulcahy completes his study, Board Treasurer Ben L. Liberman said, and suspension orders will follow immediately. A date for hearing the charges will be set later, he said.

Five policemen have notified their superiors in writing that they will not resign from the union, and it was understood 507 sent in written resignations in compliance with the board's order. Today was the deadline for district captains to turn in their reports to Inspector Mulcahy.

Liberman said he had not heard of any additional policemen who have defied the board and expressed doubt there were any more.

In refusing to drop their union affiliation, the five contended they have a right to join a union and that a department regulation forbidding union membership is illegal. A suit brought by the union against the board for determination of the question is pending before the Missouri Supreme Court.

Richard T. Miller, union president and former motorcycle officer in the traffic department, said the five, if suspended, will receive no salaries from the union because the union's defense fund will be used to pay for the court litigation. Miller was dismissed from the department several months ago when the union was formed.

Miller declined to state how many of the policemen who resigned have become members of the Police Shield Club, which, he said, will operate secretly until the Supreme Court hands down its ruling.

YOUTH LOSES LEG IN ACCIDENT

Donald Schicker, 15 years old, of Evansville, Ill., suffered the loss of his right leg yesterday as a result of injuries sustained when his foot became caught in a conveyor belt at the Pevely Dairy Co., 1009 South Grand avenue, while he was helping his father, Oscar Schicker, unload a truck of milk cans.

The leg was so badly crushed amputation was necessary at Bethesda Hospital.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ATTACKS DEWEY IN KEYNOTE SPEECH

Says Predecessors Initiated Social Laws—Nomination of Mead and Lehman Decided On.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—The Democratic party opened its New York convention today with an attack on Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, whom the Republicans, meeting simultaneously, were slated to name as candidate for re-election.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, temporary chairman of the Democratic convention which is scheduled to name United States Senator James M. Mead as Dewey's opponent, asserted in the keynote address that Dewey merely had continued the policies and progress initiated by Democratic Governors Alfred E. Smith, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Herbert H. Lehman.

"Pioneering done by the Democrats in the state in social legislation," she told delegates, "is wholly responsible for the laws which have given the people of this state a sense of stability and protection."

Mrs. Roosevelt, who received a six-minute ovation, followed State Chairman Paul E. Fitzpatrick, who opened the convention with a denunciation of Dewey as a false liberal and a pledge the Democratic party would carry on its "liberal and progressive" policies.

Dewey's efforts to claim the banner of liberalism for the G.O.P., Fitzpatrick told 831 delegates, "is like trying to use a postage stamp twice. Moreover, it is just as futile because it won't stick."

Lehman is assured the senatorial nomination.

At Saratoga Springs, the question uppermost in the minds of Republican delegates — whether William J. (Wild Bill) Donovan would make good his promise to carry a fight for the senatorial nomination to the convention floor —went unanswered temporarily. The powerful Dewey following had agreed on Assemblyman Irving Ives or Norwich for the nomination.

State Republican Chairman Glen R. Bedenkapp welcomed the 1007 delegates by asserting the assemblage was especially significant because it was the only state political convention in more than two decades which can declare that "every pledge of its platform adopted in this hall four years ago has been completely fulfilled, under the leadership of Thomas E. Dewey and a Republican legislature."

WAR BRIDE SAID TO ADMIT KILLING NEVADA HUSBAND

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Sept 3 (AP)—A wartime romance born in England ended tragically here yesterday.

The principals were Bridget Waters, 26 years old; Frank Waters, 38, her enstranged husband whom she accused in a bitter separation trial last July of deserting her, and their 16-month-old son, Frank Jr.

Waters was killed with a single shot through the heart from a .22 caliber pistol yesterday as he sat with the baby on the floor of the home where his Irish wife was employed as a nurse, police reported.

Police quoted Mrs. Waters as saying:

"We were in the bedroom and were discussing our future relations while I fed and dressed the baby. Frank insisted that I give him a divorce, and I said I wouldn't unless his future plans included myself and the baby. He said he didn't care, so I told him that I was going to leave for England Thursday with Frank Jr.

"He stormed out of the bedroom," she continued, and into the living room where the baby had crawled.

"I was afraid for the baby," police quoted her as saying, "and when I saw Frank near him I walked up to him and pulled the trigger."

$1000 STOLEN FROM GROCERY

Theft of about $1000 in cash from a safe in the William A. Straub and Co. grocery at 40 West Lockwood avenue, Webster Groves, was reported to police yesterday by the owner, William A. Straub.

Straub said that some time during the weekend, burglars entered the store through a skylight and blew open the safe. The loss was insured.

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press.

Three Down.

OAKLAND, Calif. — A bucking motorcycle has three Oakland policemen on the injured list today.

Officer Herbert Soares swung a leg over the cycle and kicked the starter. He didn't know the machine was in gear. It knocked him down, rocketed up the station steps, bowling over Martin Mission, and crashed through a door, flooring Harold Sherbourne.

Foxy Boss.

DANVILLE, Ill.—Because their boss was foxier, two Danville garbage department drivers picked up $5 they didn't know they had.

Drivers John Criner and Elmer Wood were dumping a dead fox into an incinerator when Superintendent Frank Coburn salvaged the animal, which had been struck by an automobile. Coburn collected a $5 bounty on the pelt, and gave the money to the red-faced drivers.

STRIKE BY FREIGHT HANDLERS TIES UP SHIPMENTS HERE

The wildcat strike of union freight handlers, who are seeking a wage increase, continued to tie up 93 long-distance motor freight firms here today.

There were no meetings between employers and the 500 dockmen over the holiday and no freight was being moved today. The strikers, who walked out Friday afternoon without sanction of their union, AFL Teamsters and Chauffeurs Local 600, were reported to have scheduled a meeting today. William Ryan, union president, asserted there was no change in the situation, which the union terms an unauthorized strike.

Folowing an unauthorized strike last February the dockmen received a wage increase of five cents an hour. No specific additional sum has been mentioned in the present demand.

KING GEORGE WINS 2-TO-1, SOON TO RETURN TO GREECE border. The army command declined to comment as to the fate of the 40 soldiers.

Themistokles Sophoulis, 86-year-old former liberal premier and symbolic leader of the entire republican bloc, said in a statement he was not surprised at the margin the Greeks gave the king, and that he expected "even a greater majority in view of the terrorism which has existed in Greece for the past several months."

Sophoulis announced on several occasions prior to the plebiscite that if the exiled king won, he and his followers would "continue the battle for democracy."

Leftists Not Reconciled.

The newspaper Eleftheria Ellada, organ of the faction made up of the KKE (Communists) and the leftist FAM (National Liberation Front) interpreted the voting as a victory for the republic, despite the overwhelming majority in favor of the king. The newspaper said George might be "king of the mountains, but not of all Greece," because urban centers had voted against him.

The Communist showing in the election was reflected in part by the balloting for the republic.

Under the election system decreed by the Royalist-dominated Assembly, voters were given two ballots—one for the King and the other blank. Those who wished to vote for the republic used the blank ballot, extra writing in their choice or casting the paper blank. Either way counted. The Communist party had urged its supporters to cast blank ballots.

In the first 60,987 votes cast for the republic 25,334 were "write-ins" by Republicans and 35,653 were blank.

Sophoulis laughed at Communist claims that they were responsible for all the blank ballots cast.

"I even voted the blank ballot," Sophoulis said, and former Premiers George Papandreou and Panayotis Kanellopoulous both announced that they, too, had returned their ballots blank.

The London Times, commenting editorially, viewed the results of the plebiscite as a signal for the withdrawal of British guardianship and the assumption by the Greek government of full responsibility for the peace and welfare of the country.

The Conservative Daily Telegraph called the result of the balloting a rebuff to Russia and Communist "autocracy."

"Whatever was the calculation," the Telegraph said, "the recent outbursts of (Russian Foreign Minister V. M.) Molotov and (Ukrainian Foreign Minister Dmitri) Manuilsky evidently have not had the effect of lessening the traditional Greek love of independence."

The Communist Daily Worker commented, on the other hand, that Greece was "no longer an independent country—it is a British colony."

"Democracy in Greece has been murdered, and the assassin is the Labor Government in London," the Worker said.

In Istanbul Turkish sources expressed satisfaction with the outcome of the plebiscite.

The vote presages a new era of unity with Greece, with which Turkey has a "common front," and hence this nation "rejoices," one source said.

service men, encouraged by the G.I. Bill of Rights, seek to resume educational careers interrupted by the war.

North Side Catholic High School, 5421 Thekla avenue, hitherto a co-educational institution, opened today as a school for girls only. Former male students were sent to William Cullen McBridge High School, 1909 North Kingshighway, where they will attend afternoon classes until a new Catholic High school for boys at Clarence and Carter avenue is completed. It is hoped the new structure will be available in time for the second semester in January. Regular McBride students will be restricted temporarily to morning sessions but will carry a full schedule.

In St. Louis county, all but five of the 23 school districts having high schools opened today. The exceptions were Webster Groves, Kirkwood, Clayton, Maplewood-Richmond Heights, all opening next Monday, and Maryland Heights, tomorrow.

East St. Louis schools and those of most communities on the East Side resumed classes today but Alton has postponed reopening until next Monday in view of the prevalence of infantile paralysis. Belleville Township High and two elementary schools on the outskirts of that city are also deferring classes until next Monday.

Students returning to classes in the city's public schools will find no important changes in the curriculum, although five new courses of study are scheduled for introduction in the high schools some time during the first semester after they have received the approval of the instruction committee of the Board of Education. They are in the fields of vocal music, home economics, first-year mathematics, industrial arts and health and safety.

A new program of after-school activities will be placed in effect this year, Hickey said, in an effort to establish a closer relationship between the pupil and his particular school. The expanded program is made possible by the provision for overtime pay for teachers who devote time to extra-curricular activities.

Civic groups interested in enrolling large numbers of children in athletic programs will find their task facilitated by the new arrangement and Hickey also expects a decrease in vandalism and juvenile delinquency to follow the program of supervised play.

A close watch will be kept on the physical health of the children this year in view of the widespread incidence of poliomyelitis. All children returning to school after an illness will be examined by the school doctor and nurse before readmittance to classes, and any child showing symptons of illness will be sent home immediately.

with the obligations of both governments to insure the future defense of the isthmus, careful planning should be carried out which will be a mutual benefit to both countries. He added that the same sound principles and the highest respect for the sovereignty and economy of Panama which have always existed between the two countries are uppermost in the minds of those entrusted with the problem."

FORMER LINER NORMANDIE TO BE DISPOSED OF AS SCRAP

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—President Truman today authorized the Maritime Commission to dispose of the U.S.S. Lafayette, the former French luxury liner Normandie, as scrap.

The Lafayette was taken over by the Navy nine days after Pearl Harbor. While being refitted as a troop transport it caught fire at a New York dock and overturned. It was refloated in a salvage operation but never was put to wartime use.

A settlement has been reached with the French government with respect to French claims.

fears; there are new economic, political and physical pressures, new hatreds, prejudices, understandable ambitions for revenge—all the inevitable aftermath of world war. They cover the earth as the enemy of international harmony.

(The United Press reported that Eisenhower said old-time military equations no longer were stable and that today a whole continent can be a potential target.

("One atomic missile could paralyze a city and blot it out of the national economy for all effective purposes," he said. "By bacterial warfare a ruthless enemy might seek to destroy our nation, using our citizens as human weapon carriers to bring the germs of death to every home in the country.

("More than ever, it is certain that there is no separate air, sea or ground warfare — just as the whole nation is the potential objective, so is the whole nation and everything and every person in it the only organism by which successful war can be waged."

(The nation's scientists and industrialists, he said, "must keep fully abreast of all these possibilities as long as there remains the chance of their use against us.")

Draft Director Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey told the delegates, "despite the fact that the war is just concluded, this is not a peaceful world."

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz and Aarmy Air Forces Comdr. Gen. Carl Spaatz earlier told the convention that weakening our national defenses was "inviting attack."

Wyatt Speaks on Housing.

Wilson Wyatt, federal housing chief, told the convention that the housing emergency would carry through the winter, at least, but that the Government was making progress in its goal for starting 2,700,000 houses by the end of 1947.

"More than 600,000 homes and apartments were started during the first seven months of this year," he said, describing this as a record, in spite of work stoppages in steel, coal and railroad industries.

"The Government," he pointed out, "did not promise to end the housing shortage in six months. What the Government did do was to launch a program to help private enterprise start more homes in two years than ever before in any country."

Declaring government controls were necessary, Wyatt said, "When there were no controls, non-housing was getting the lion's share of materials."

JINNAH POINTS OUT RUSSIA'S 'INTEREST'

BY GERALD ROCK

BOMBAY, Sept. 3 (UP)—M. A. Jinnah, leader of the Moslem League, said in an interview today that Russia has "more than a spectator's interest" in India.

Pointing out that Russia "is not very far from India," Jinnah said: "If Britain pursues the present policy of completely eliminating the Moslems not only in India but from the entire Middle East, in my opinion, it is a very serious and dangerous policy to pursue."

Jinnah asserted that he could place no assurance in the statements of the All-India Congress promising equal treatment for Moslems and challenged the assertion of Mohandas K. Gandhi that the Congress could never ally itself with Britain against the Moslems.

TWO PREPARING BASE FOR POOL ARE BURIED BY EARTH, RESCUED

Two workmen, covered by sliding earth as they were preparing a base for a wall of a swimming pool being built at the home of Mrs. Edna Gillis, Warson and Litzsinger roads, Ladue, were rescued by three of their companions today and taken to St. Louis County Hospital.

The men, Joseph Shapiro, 1451 Clara avenue, and Fred Streib, 6921 Michigan avenue, were digging at the base of a pile of earth excavated to make room for the pool, when a section 10 feet long and three feet high fell upon them.

At the hospital, where X-rays were taken, physicians said both men had suffered fractured pelves and Shapiro had additional internal injuries.

CRUMP FORECAST OF G.O.P. VICTORY IN 1948 REPORTED

Memphis (Tenn.) Political Boss Quoted as Expecting Brief Success of Rivals.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Herald Tribune said in a dispatch from Saratoga Springs, N.Y., that Edward H. Crump, Democratic boss of Memphis, Tenn., had conceded that the Republican party will have an edge in this year's elections and probably will elect a President in 1948.

"Folks seem to want a change," Crump said in an interview given to a Herald Tribune correspondent.

"I would say the Republicans have a little of the edge this year. Yes, they should elect a President in 1948. But he will be a one-termer, he will fall flatter than Hoover—yes, flatter than a Dutch instep."

Crump indicated that he expected an economic depression, declaring that "when a dip comes, the man who is in will have to take the rap."

The Memphis political leader is at Saratoga Springs on vacation following the recent Tennessee primaries, in which his candidates scored victories.

HEAVY FIGHTING BREAKS OUT IN REGION NORTH OF MUKDEN

PEIPING, Sept. 3 (AP) — Chinese press dispatches today reported large scale fighting had flared again in the Mukden area of Manchuria. A pro-government Peiping newspaper, Social Welfare, foresaw a possible government assault on Communist-held Harbin.

Chinese dispatches said heavy fighting occurred at Hungfeng and Hailung, about 100 miles northeast of Mukden. In Jehol province, government troops made a 60-mile uninterrupted advance northward from Yehposhou and occupied Kuheishui, which is only 20 miles south of Chihfeng, one of the main Communist centers in Jehol.

Maj. Gen. Chiang Ching-kuo, eldest son of Chiang Kai-shek, has resigned as special commissioner of foreign affairs for Manchuria. No reason was given.

SPANISH-SPEAKING WALLACE ACCLAIMED IN MEXICO CITY

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 3 (UP)—U. S. Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace's conference with the Mexican and foreign press was front page news today in capital newspapers.

Wallace has received the most favorable press comment given any American who has visited Mexico in several years. Over and over it has been called to the public's attention that Wallace speaks Spanish, an accomplishment few Americans ever attain.

At the beginning of his press conference in the American Embassy last night, Wallace asked the Mexican newspapermen whether they preferred that he speak in English or Spanish. A unanimous reply came for Spanish. The United States Secretary of Commerce began and finished in Spanish.

EAST SIDE BUS OFFICE CLERK HELD UP THIRD TIME IN YEAR

Warren G. Barcus, clerk at the Union Bus Co. in East St. Louis, reported he was held up for the third time within a year this morning, and robbed of $545. About $700 was taken in the two previous robberies.

Barcus told police he was alone in the office at 500 State street shortly after 9 a. m. when a man entered, displayed a revolver and ordered him into the washroom. The robber, described as about 30 years old and wearing a dark suit, took the money from a safe and fled. Barcus said he called police after hearing the man leave.

The previous robberies were committed by Negroes. Today's robber was a white man.

Three Killed in Plane Crash.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 3 (AP)—The death list in the crash of a private cabin plane near Maria Andrea Saturday rose to three yesterday. All of the dead were from the United States. The pilot, Theodore Badger of Doylestown, Pa., was the last of the three occupants to die. The others were Ernest Bruce, Philadelphia, and Robert Arens, New York.

A MESSAGE TO PARENTS whose children use student passes

If your children enjoy the benefits of the low-cost Public Service student pass, we think you will be interested in facts about it. Therefore, we are quoting questions which are most often asked about the pass and giving you the answers. If you want further details about this economical transportation, please call the Public Service information bureau, telephone GRand 1414.

Who May Buy Student Passes?
Student passes are available to boys and girls who are regularly enrolled in public, parochial or certain private schools and only in grades between kindergarten and the twelfth grade, inclusive.

Where Can Student Passes Be Bought?
Student passes can be obtained only from the school that your child attends. The price is 50 cents and each pass is good for one week. St. Louis Public Service Company and street car and bus operators are not permitted to sell passes direct. This is a state regulation

When Can Student Passes Be Used?
A child can use his or her pass at any time for the entire week specified on the pass. Student passes are good on all Public Service lines except Express, Loop, Airport and Forest Park buses.

Can Others in the Family Use the Student Pass?
Because of its extremely low price (actually below the cost of transporting the child), the student pass may be used only by the child to whom it is issued.

Is it Necessary for the Student Pass to be in a Holder?
Student passes are not valid unless they are in the regular holders issued by the school. These holders are for the purpose of identifying the student. There are different colored holders for boys and girls. Holders are issued at the schools, with a new holder for each semester. If a holder is damaged or lost, a new one may be obtained at the school.

TRUMAN, BYRNES CONFER BY PHONE ON PARIS PARLEY

President Starts First Day Back From Vacation by Getting Data on Conference.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—President Truman started his first day back from vacation today with a 9:30 a.m. trans-Atlantic telephone conference with Secretary of State Byrnes in Paris.

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters Byrnes gave the President his usual periodic fill-in on events at the Paris peace conference. It was the first conversation Truman has had with Byrnes since Aug. 23, when he talked to him from Bermuda.

Ross said the President got a good start on accumulated work last night by staying at his desk until 11 p.m. except to receive a few Government officials, including Under Secretary of State William L. Clayton, the President made no outside engagements today so he could catch up on his paper work.

Ross said he doubted whether Truman had seen a letter sent to him in his absence by Gov. Ellis Arnall of Georgia concerning investigation of the Ku Klux Klan in that state. The letter was referred to the Department of Justice for a reply.

The President will meet reporters at a press conference at 10:30 a.m. Thursday.

Rested and refreshed, the President tackled anew the troublesome task of assembling this country's five-member atomic energy commission.

His difficulty in getting the "right five" to take over the domestic control assignment was attributed by close presidential associates to differing views among prospective nominees.

One White House official told a reporter privately that Truman is determined to pick men "who will work together as a team."

This problem was among those the President discussed with members of the White House inner circle aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg yesterday on the final leg of his voyage back from Bermuda.

Among those mentioned as possible choices for the commission are former Ambasador Joseph P. Kennedy, Undersecretary of the Treasury O. Max Gardner, Dr. Irving Langmuir and TVA Chairman David E. Lilienthal.

ENGLISH FLEET TO CRUISE NEAR GREECE 6 WEEKS

Will Start Operations Sept. 18 at About Time American Task Force Departs From Area.

LONDON, Sept. 3 (AP)—The British Mediterranean fleet will cruise in Greek waters for approximately six weeks beginning Sept. 18, the admiralty announced last night.

The announcement held more than the usual interest because an American task force is due to leave Mediterranean waters at about the same time the British fleet departs from Malta. The American carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt and escorting vessels, now in Italy, are due in Greece Thursday and will proceed from there to Malta, Algiers, Tangier and Casablanca under a schedule announced Aug. 28 by the United States Navy in Washington.

The Roosevelt is due at Tangier Sept. 18. Navy men have emphasized, however, that her schedule was subject to change, with a possibility the task force would go on to Dardanelles. The Roosevelt left Naples today for Greece.

(The United Press reported Greek Premier Constantine Tsaldaris of Greece said that the Greek Government had not invited the American Aircraft Carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt and its cruiser and destroyer escort units to visit Greek ports. Tsaldaris made his statement in denying Russian-bloc charges against his Government of being an instrument of western-ally policy.)

Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, acting commander of the United States Atlantic Fleet, arrived yesterday in Rome for a three-day inspection of American naval installations in Italy.

Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in a speech before the peace conference last week accused the United States of interfering in Greek affairs by sending warships into Greek waters. The Russian press repeatedly has attacked the cruise.

The admiralty announcement said:

"The Mediterranean fleet, under the command of the commander in chief, Adm. Sir Algernon Willis, with his flag in H.M.S. Liverpool, will cruise in the Eastern Mediterranean during the early autumn, leaving Malta about Sept. 18 and returning at the beginning of November.

"Units of the fleet will visit ports in the South Aegean, Crete and Cyprus.

"This is a resumption of normal peacetime routine when sea and harbor exercises are carreid out. Towards the end of the cruise the fleet pulling and sailing regattas will be held at Argostoli."

The announcement did not say how many major ships would take part in the cruise but naval sources put the number around 15, presumably including the famous cruiser Ajax.

'DRESDEN CHINA' FACTORY NOW OWNED BY RUSSIANS

MEISSEN, Soviet-Occupied Saxony, Sept. 2 (AP)—The ancient and famous Royal Saxon China factory at Meissen is now the property of the Soviet Government. American correspondents on a conducted tour of the Russian-occupied zone of Germany discovered this while visiting the famed plant, home of "Dresden China."

Emil Wagner, German commercial director of the plant, said the Russians had taken title to the factory for reparations on Aug. 1, on order of Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Russian military governor of Germany. Later Capt. Nikolai Tschurilov, Russian deputy military governor or Meissen, confirmed this.

For centuries the Meissen porcelain factory had been the property of the state of Saxony. Its china and porcelain figures with their blue swords trademark had become world famous through years of export.

MAN SHOT BY BARTENDER IN TAVERN AFTER QUARREL

George J. Baker of 5608 Vernon avenue was shot in the pelvis early today by a bartender with whom he quarreled in the Turf Tavern, 5650 Delmar boulevard.

The bartender, who told police he was Mumphord Jackson of 4950 Terry avenue, said Baker entered the tavern yesterday evening and molested two women sitting at the bar. Baker left when he ordered him out of the place, Jackson said, but returned later with another man.

Jackson told officers the other man started for the door when he again ordered Baker to leave but Baker struck at him. He said he drew a revolver he had put in his pocket because he expected trouble and fired one shot. Baker, found by police on the floor near the door, denied causing any trouble. He was taken to City Hospital.

STRIKE OF TRUCK DRIVERS HALTS N. Y. FOOD DELIVERIES

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—A strike of an estimated 25,000 truck drivers seeking higher wages halted deliveries of foods and other commodities in New York City today in what an operators' spokesman called a "complete" stoppage.

Arthur G. McKeever, president of the Motor Carrier Association of New York, said the tieup caused by the action of Local 807 of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters was "about 100 per cent." Joseph McCarthy, chairman of the union's negotiating committee, estimated that 100,000 persons were made idle by the dispute which the union calls a "lockout."

GREEN OF AFL URGES U.S. TO BE 'FIRM WITH RUSSIA NOW'

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 3 (AP)—William Green, AFL president, in a Labor Day address yesterday looked beyond what he saw as dangers facing labor abroad and at home to envision the approach of a new era when the atom will be "applied to lighten the labors of mankind."

"The 40-hour week is doomed," he told a rally at the fairgrounds. "Within the foreseeable future the 30-hour week is bound to come."

Green called on the nation to be "firm with Russia now or be forced to fight her later" and cited to American labor the possibility of an "insurrection inspired by Communist leaders" within labor's ranks and "the forces of Fascism in America" without.

STATE VETERAN BONUS PLAN VOTED DOWN BY LEGION GROUP

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 3 (AP)—On a plea that a bonus would be inflationary, the Missouri department of the American Legion today voted down a resolution calling for a state bonus to veterans of World War II.

The convention drew toward a close with election of officers scheduled.

Candidates for Missouri department commander were John Lodwick, Excelsior Springs, and Adrian L. Bushman, Clayton. William B. Stone of Kansas City, incumbent, and Peter S. Miravalle, St. Louis, were candidates for national executive committeeman.

The time and place committee recommended that the 1947 convention be held in St. Louis the first week in September.

312 VIOLENT DEATHS IN NATION OVER THE LABOR DAY WEEKEND

CHICAGO, Sept. 3 (AP)—More than 300 persons suffered violent deaths in the nation on Labor Day weekend. Traffic fatalities surpassed the estimate made by the National Safety Council.

At least 312 persons were killed, including 225 in traffic accidents, and 37 drownings. The council had estimated 350 persons would die from public accidents over the holiday weekend, including 210 in traffic accidents. In 1945 there were 361 violent deaths.

In Missouri there were two traffic fatalities, one drowning and one other violent death. Illinois reported 11 traffic deaths, three drownings and one other fatality.

HAWAII SUGAR STRIKE ON; 25,000 WORKERS AFFECTED

HONOLULU, Sept. 3 (UP)—The Hawaiian islands began to feel the full effect of their most serious strike today as the work week began with the territory's vast sugar industry at a complete standstill.

The strike began at midnight Saturday. The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, CIO, called out more than 25,000 sugar workers after last minute negotiations collapsed. Union officials said the strike was 100 per cent effective.

Although both industry and labor pokesmen have indicated willingness to resume negotiations, no further peace sessions were scheduled and picket lines were set up at the island's 33 sprawling plantations.

EISENHOWER HITS ARMY DOMINATION CHARGE BY NELSON

Asserts Former WPB Head's Statement in Book Is 'Completely Wide of Fact.'

BOSTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower struck back today at Donald M. Nelson's assertion that the Army "tried to get control of our national economy" and asserted:

"The Army wants no domination over anything but its own affairs. It wants no domination of government—no domination of civil authority."

Gen. Eisenhower, Army chief of staff, in Boston to attend the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said that he had not seen Nelson's accusations, which were published in a book, "Arsenal of Democracy," written by the former War Production Board chairman.

Gen. Eisenhower told reporters, however, that "anyone who makes such a statement is completely wide of fact."

"I don't see," he said, "why we should accuse people who risked all to preserve our system, of wanting to destroy it in time of peace."

Basic Tenet.

Gen. Eisenhower said that he knew it was the conviction of the Secretary of War and other top military leaders including himself to "live true to that patriotic tradition that men in uniform since 1775 have gone out and died for the principles of democracy."

"Among those principles," he said, "is the basic tenet that civilian authority is supreme in this country."

Nelson, in his book, charged that the Army largely "took control" of the civilian economy in 1944 after trying throughout the war to wrest authority from him.

Henceforth, he wrote, the Army will cease to be a neglected stepchild in peacetime and will become "one of the most important and influential branches of our Government."

"The lesson taught by these recent years of war is clear," he continued, "our whole economic and social system will be in peril if it is controlled by the military men."

Nelson took note of the widely advertised "production crisis" of 1944, declaring that it was spurious but served to "divert attention from the Army's own miscalculations."

"The record shows," he wrote, "that in not a single instance—after the critical early period of 1942—did an American fighting man at the front have to go without munitions because of any failure in production.

"The Army's deliberate attempt to create a contrary impression was one of the most dangerous bits of double talk I ever heard of."

Nelson contended that the heads of the Army and Navy joined with James F. Byrnes, then war mobilization director, to remove him (Nelson) as WPB chairman in 1943 and replace him with Bernard M. Baruch.

The attempt was thwarted, Nelson said, when he got wind of the plan and promptly dismissed Ferdinand Eberstadt, a WPB vice chairman who favored the Army's view and who was to have become Baruch's deputy.

Collaborating in the ouster effort, Nelson wrote, were Secretary of War Stimson, the late Secretary of the Navy Knox, and the then Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson and Under Secretary of Navy James V. Forrestal. They had drawn a letter naming Baruch as Nelson's successor and planned to ask President Roosevelt to sign it "that very day," Nelson said.

Newspaper Curb Blocked.

He said that one of the bitterest arguments was over the use of newsprint, with Under Secretary Patterson, now Secretary of War, arguing that papers should be forbidden comics and Sunday supplements. Nelson contended that it was proper to curtail use of newsprint, but that publishers should be the judge of what to print.

"I fought back, for I felt that if we attempted to dictate the use to which publishers should put the paper they were authorized to buy, we would be paving the way for Government control of the press in its tightest and most acute form, no matter what name we gave it," he asserted.

He added that the climactic fight was the Army's effort to block his program of reconversion preparedness in 1944. The Army felt it would distract industry and workers from the war job. Nelson said he lost this fight.

"To a large extent, the Army took control over the economy, and many of the reconversion difficulties which arose later, after Germany and Japan had finally been knocked out, can be traced directly to that fact," he said.

LETHAL MERCURY DOSE IN BODY OF RACE NEWS MAN

Hospital Records to Be Studied to Learn Whether Drug Could Have Killed Ragen.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3 (AP)—Coroner A. L. Brodie said today that a post mortem examination of James M. Ragen, wealthy 65-year-old racing news distributor, indicated he could have died of mercurial poisoning instead of gunshot wounds.

Tests made by Dr. William D. McNally, toxicologist, and Drs. Jerry Kearns and John Kiselis, pathologists, showed, the coroner said, the presence of 10.9 grains of mercury, but he added the examination did not disclose in which form it might have been taken or administered.

If it were in the form of bichloride of mercury, Brodie added, the amount was equal to 14 grains. He added that whether any harm had been done by the mercury would have to be determined by a clinical or pathological study of the case.

Dr. McNally said four or five grains of bichloride of mercury would be sufficient to cause death.

However, he added the amount of mercury found in the body did not necessarily mean that the drug was the cause of Ragen's death. McNally said he could determine whether or not the mercury killed Ragen by an examination of his clinical history at the hospital. He said he had not yet seen the hospital records.

"If those charts show that he was not administered mercury in any medical form 11 days or less prior to his death," Dr. McNally said, "then we can say definitely that the death was caused by mercury poisoning."

Ragen died Aug. 14 after more than a month's hospitalization. He was shot by gangsters June 24.

Police maintained an all-night guard at Mount Olivet cemetery after reported efforts by two unidentified men to gain entry to the Ragen mausoleum. Two men recently made inquiries about the vault key at the home of a stonecutter who had worked on the vault.

Ragen, in statement to prosecuting authorities before he was shot, told of gambling activities in several cities, including St. Louis, with connections through the Consensus Publishing Co., printer and distributor of racing information sheets.

Arnold W. Kruse, an associate of Ragen, told the Post-Dispatch that the St. Louis representatives of Continental Press were Paul (Beverly) Brown and Clarence (Gully) Owen, operators of a racing information service.

KILLS HIS SISTER'S ESCORT AFTER A WOMAN SCREAMS

CHICAGO, Sept. 3 (UP)—Robert Boal, 23 years old, Navy veteran, and Claire Globke, 20, returned home from a theater date and sat down on the steps to chat. While they were talking a woman screamed.

The girl's brother, Walter, 16, and his father, August, were awakened by the scream. The youth got a pistol, ran to the front door and fired one shot when he saw Boal, killing him almost instantly.

The boy was sent to juvenile home pending an inquest.

HEALTH SEMINAR IS OPENED FOR RESTAURANT INSPECTORS

Instructors of the United States Public Health Service opened a two-week seminar in Room 356 Municipal Courts Building today to teach restaurant inspectors their duties under the model restaurant sanitation law passed by the Board of Aldermen last spring.

Approximately 30 inspectors from the city and two from St. Louis County are attending the classes which will include both lectures and field work.

Crews of two inspectors each will make checks of certain restaurants in the city tomorrow. Their findings will be re-checked later by Health Service instructors and comparisons made. A clause in the restaurant bill provided it would become effective one year from the date of passage.

STOCK RECEIPTS AMONG LIGHTEST IN LOCAL MARKET

Only 450 Hogs on Hand on First Day After Ceilings Compared With 6800 Week Ago.

The reopening of the National Stockyards for the first time since reimpositions of ceilings on livestock was marked by one of the lightest runs of livestock on a Tuesday in the history of the local market.

Only 450 hogs were on hand today when bidding began and all except some poor quality boars were sold at the new ceiling, $16.20 a hundredweight. Similar "starvation receipts" were the rule at the other 11 principal livestock markets in the United States whose combined total was only 8350, a spokesman for the Producers' Livestock Co-operative Association said.

Today's receipts of hogs compared with 6800 a week ago and 5400 a year ago. Cattle were also light today with estimated receipts of less than 4000 as against 5900 a week ago and 7400 last year. About 55 per cent of these were cows and the market was uneven but generally lower. A top of $18.50 was paid for a small lot of good steers while medium to good were bringing $13.75 to $17. The ceiling was $20.15.

Calves today totaled 1400 head compared with 3500 last week and 2300 last year. Most of these were selling at or near the $20.15 ceiling. Sheep and lamb receipts came to 2000 as against 3800 a week ago and 4300 a year ago. There was no established market on these animals at the start of bidding.

PINERO SWORN IN PUERTO RICO

SAN JUAN, Sept. 3 (AP)—Jesus T. Pinero, first Puerto Rican-born citizen to become Governor of his people, placed his unqualified support behind the social and economic policies of his predecessor, Rexford G. Tugwell, in an inaugural address today.

Pinero was appointed Governor by President Truman. Tugwell, now a professor of political science at Chicago University, sponsored a broad social and economic program which caused considerable criticism from congressional leaders and economic organizations in the United States.

HEAVY SALES HIT STOCK LEADERS, BREAKING PRICES AS MUCH AS $14

Sharpest Setback in Sixteen Years—New Lows for Year or More—Broad Market, Largest of Year.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—Stocks today suffered the sharpest break in 16 years with numerous leaders dropping 1 to 14 points to lows since last fall or longer. One issue was off 17 points.

Prices, slightly downward at the start, really began to retreat before midday when the ticker tape, for an interval, was behind actual floor transactions. Volume then tapered but a fresh wave of liquidation hit the list in the fourth hour when quotations generally reached bottom and the recording machinery again lagged for almost 40 minutes. Extreme losses were reduced in many cases at the close. Transfers were among the largest of 1946 to date.

Sales footed up 2,900,000 shares compared with 1,160,000 shares last Friday.

The market was the second broadest on record, being only 2 below peak.

Of the 1075 issues traded, 986 closed lower, 32 higher and 57 unchanged. There were 548 new 1946 lows and no new highs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed down 4.7 points at 66.3. New 1946 lows were recorded by the total and each group.

(The Dow-Jones industrial average cracked 10.51 points, the widest decline since Oct. 18, 1937, and the average closed today at a new low since Sept. 27, 1945.)

Prominent in Slump.

Prominent on the slump were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Eastman Kodak, Allied Chemical, du Pont, Johns-Manville, Goodrich, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, North America, Electric Power & Light, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Can, Westinghouse, General Electric, Standard Oil (N.J.) and Texas Co.

Brokers found little in the spot news to blame for the relapse and most attributed it to a variety of circumstances including the idea of professionals and public commission house customers that the market, in its slide of the past three months, may have been discounting a business peak later in the year or in 1947. Technical forces turned bearish when the industrial average broke through the spring low level. The foreign situation also was cited by analysts as still a bit disconcerting marketwise.

Lower on the Curb.

Giving ground in the Curb were Aluminum, Ltd., Aluminum of America, Consolidated Textile, Middle West Corp., Angerman Co., Electric Bond & Share, Textron, Raytheon and Solar Aircraft.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES 35C TO $1.10 LOWER

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—After displaying early steadiness, cotton futures broke sharply today under commission house liquidation influenced by weakness in the securities market.

Hedge selling was also in greater evidence, reflecting the increased movement of the new crop to marekt.

In early trading mill buying rallied the market as much as $1.25 a bale. Cotton crop ideas were mixed with most traders looking for a slightly larger September Government forecast than the August estimates of 9,290,000 bales.

Futures closed 35c to $1.10 a bale lower.

CORPORATION REPORTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—Transamerica Corp. reported for six months ended June 30 net income of $7,000,000, equal to 70 cents a share, compared with $11,700,000, or $1.17 a share, in the first half of 1945. The report said 1946 figures include $665,000 from sale of real estate by the Capital Co., a wholly owned subsidiary. The 1945 net included $4,126,940 previously deferred profit.

American Investment Report.

American Investment Co. of Illinois reported net income for the first six months of the current year equaled 55c a common share. This compares with 31c a common share in the same 1945 period.

The company said it had taken advantage of the increased demand for installment lending, with a resultant increase in notes receivable of $5,698,253 since June 30, 1945. This increase, together with the removal of the excess profits tax is reflected in increased earnings.

RAIL BONDS IN DOWNTURN AS STOCKS SLUMP

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—Rail obligations sagged in the bond market today as the break in stock price undermined buying support.

Many carriers, especially in the reorganization group, slid to new lows for the year.

Off a maximum of around 3 points at one time were liens of Missouri Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Missouri-Kansas-Texas, and Frisco.

Higher priced corporation bonds were generally neglected as main interest in investment circles centered on the huge backlog of new issues that are expected to be brought out for public appraisal in the near future. Among the few existing loans appearing on the tape were Jones & Laughlin Steel 3¼s, Duquesne Light 3½s, Cincinnati Gas & Electric 2¾s and Pennsylvania Railroad General 4½s, all at slightly improved prices.

Foreign dollar bonds were irregular. Lower prices were taken for some of the Brazilian loans. Antwerp 3s were higher.

U. S. Governments held about steady in listless trading.

DIVIDEND MEETING RESULTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—Directors of Decca Records, Inc. doubled the quarterly dividend on the capital stock and voted to split the shares two for one.

The quarterly dividend of 60 cents a share against 30 cents previously paid quarterly, is payable Sept. 30 to stock of record Sept. 16.

Decca stockholders will be asked to consider at a special meeting Nov. 6 a proposal to split present capital stock two-for-one, and to increase authorized shares from 500,000 to 1,500,000.

The company announced for the first six months a net profit of $967,534, equal to $2.49 a share, compared with $450,284, or $1.16 a share, in the like 1945 period.

Cannon Mills declared a dividend of 75 cents a share on the common, payable Oct. 1 to stock of record Sept. 11. In the two preceding quarters 50 cents was paid.

Thomas A. Edison Inc. declared an initial dividend of 20 cents a share on class "B" common stock, payable Sept. 16 to holders of record Sept. 6. The stock was recently placed in the hands of the public for the first time when 110,000 shares, part of the holdings of Mrs. Mina M. Edison, the inventor's widow, and his two sons, were sold.

"TOP News for Management" in current BUSINESS WEEK

WALL STREET WORRY... Inventories

Figures on manufacturers' inventories are zooming fast enough to worry economists ... and Wall Street. Rising prices and inventory speculation may mean over-optimism leading to trouble. "The Outlook" this week tells why. P. 9.

BANK CREDIT DILEMMA

Harried by soaring business loans, government would like to head off credit boom by upping interest rates ... which would knock bottom out of government securities market. What to do? P. 15.

ANNUAL WAGE... Coming Up!

Guaranteed yearly earnings may be hottest issue next to bedevil management. Two surveys warn of pitfalls in meeting new pay demands. P. 19.

AUTO BOTTLENECK... Corked

Detroit faces increasing shortages of parts, materials. Two plants closed, more shutdowns in cards. P. 21.

COLORADO... boiling!

Rangely field boom adds vast potential to U.S. reserves. From 1 to 101 producing wells in 3 years! P. 22.

These, and many other articles in current BW, keep Management-men "on top" of the business news.

NOTE TO ADVERTISERS: Business Week is all business, its editors all business writers, its readers all business men. It is the only magazine which confines its circulation to Management-men and identifies its readers by title and business connection.

OATS CLOSE HIGHER, WHEAT AND CORN OFF

CHICAGO, Sept. 3 (AP)—Oats carried a steady tone in today's trading, and withstood the influence of the sell off in the stock market. Commission houses bought the feed grain steadily.

Wheat was nervous in a thin market and moved quickly in small sales.

Corn was weak, the deferred contract showing the greatest loss, reflecting in the spot market, where cash corn was off as much as 3 cents.

At the close wheat was unchanged to ¾c lower than previous close, January, $1.36¼. Corn was ⅝ to ¾c lower, January $1.35⅝. Oats were ½ to 2⅛c higher, September 78@78¼c. Barley was unchanged to 2c higher, November, $1.36.

Local Grain Receipts.

Local grain receipts in carloads today (three days) a week ago and a year ago: Wheat 55, 39 and 112; corn 55, 22 and 76; oats 51, 21 and 45; barley 12, 2 and 34.

HOGS AT CEILINGS, LAMB PRICES DOWN

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Sept. 3 (AP) (USDA)—Hogs, total receipts 700; salable 500; practically one price ceiling affair at $16.20 for all weights. Slaughter hogs, pigs included, and also all weights, sows and occasional stags; boars $11@12.50, which unchanged from Friday. Other classes unevenly and sharply lower; decline ranging from $2.30@2.50 on hogs 150 lbs. up; lighter kinds 80c@$2.30 lower; sows mostly 80c off.

Cattle, total receipts 6800; salable 4000; calves, total receipts 1400; all salable; very uneven on steers and heifers, varying from barely steady to $1 or more under Friday; individual head choice steers and heifers to $20.15; good steers $18.50; medium $13.75@16.75; common around $11.50 down; cows almost at standstill; individual head mostly on stocker accounts about steady at $8.50@11; killers bidding $1 or more under last week and only a few to small operators showing decline; odd head common and medium beef cows $9@12; canners and cutters $7.50@9; medium and good sausage bulls $12@13; odd head $13.25; occasional beef bulls higher; choice vealers 25c lower at $20.15; medium and good $14@18.75; nominal range slaughter steers $11.50@26; slaughter heifers $10@25; stocker and feeder steers $10@16.50.

Sheep, total receipts 2900; salable 2000; spring lambs unevenly lower; choice grade going largely to shippers and butchers at 50c@$1 under Friday; other to packers $1@2 lower except no change on packer throwouts; several hundred, mostly choice, to shippers and butchers $18.50@19, whereas packer top $17 on lambs, running mostly good, bulk of which $16 down but mainly one price of $16; throwouts mostly one price of $11 to packers; slaughter ewes 50c higher; bulk medium to choice $5@6; top $6; culls $4.

VEAL AND LAMBS.

Veal and lamb quotations on the St. Louis market as reported by the St. Louis Daily Market Reporter:

Veals — Strictly choice, $20.15; good, $17.75@18.75; medium, $14@16; cull and common, $8.50@11.50.

Lambs — Native springs, good and choice, $17@19; medium and good, $14@16; cull and common, $11@12; ewes, $5@6.

WAR SECRETARY ADMITS MISTAKES IN ARMS PROGRAM

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3 (AP)—Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson said yesterday in a Labor day address, "It is clear to us in the Army that the man behind the gun will not have the gun but for the man behind the machine. We intend to keep those men and women as our friends."

Patterson conceded that "mistakes were made—many of them." He pointed out that the War Department made 800,000 contracts during the war in a 120-billion-dollar program.

"In an undertaking as tremendous as that," he said, "there are bound to be cases of incompetence and cases of dishonesty. The War Department will never try to cover up these cases. To date we have referred more than 100 cases to the Department of Justice.

"But the vast majority of the people we dealt with were competent, loyal and honest, and they are entitled to commendation for the part they took in winning the war."

U. S. SEEKS TO REBUILD JAPAN AS 'WATCHDOG,' REDS SAY

Pravda Charges 'Imperialists' Want Nippon as American Outpost—Russia Ignores Allies in V-J Day Observance.

By REMBERT JAMES.

MOSCOW, Sept. 3 (AP)—The Communist newspaper Pravda accused the United States today of stripping Japan and also of seeking to rejuvenate that country into an American-ruled "watchdog against the peoples of the Far East."

The comments were part of Russia's observance of V-J day. From Prime Minister Stalin down, no official or press mention was made of the American or British contribution to the defeat of Japan. Nor was there mention of the atomic bombs exploded at Hiroshima and Nagasaki in the last days of the war.

Russia declared war on Japan Aug. 8, 1945, and Japan surrendered Sept. 2 after being at war with the United States since Dec. 7, 1941.

Pravda and other Russian newspapers took the line that Japan still was dangerously strong and would have fought for years had not Russia entered that war.

Stalin's Message.

Stalin's order of the day, addressed to the armed forces and the "toiling masses of the Soviet Union," asserted:

"One year ago today, the Soviet people and their armed forces victoriously finished the war against imperialist Japan. Japan signed an act of unconditional surrender. The Soviet people and their armed forces upheld this victory and with this victory rendered an enormous contribution to the cause of achieving peace in the whole world."

Pravda said:

"Disregarding the experience of history, American imperialists count on the rebirth of Japan—but a Japan subjected to American rule in the capacity of a watchdog against the peoples of the Far East."

The article asserted that the United States, without waiting for a decision by the Allies on reparations, was stripping Japan of industrial equipment, gold, diamonds and large shipments of "strategic war materials." (No mention was made of any Russian seizures of industrial equipment in Manchuria.)

Pravda editorialized: "People can be found who without modesty, affirm that the fate of Japan was decided before the Soviet Union entered the war. But facts are stubborn things and the logic of facts is real iron logic. The facts are that if the Soviet army had not smashed Hitlerite Germany and if the Soviet army had not rendered a crushing blow to the land forces of Japan in Manchuria and Korea, then the war in the Far East would have been drawn out for a long time and would have cost the allies enormous means and victims."

Izvestia complained that Japan during the last year of battle stripped southern Sakhalin island of industrial equipment, shipping "valuable factory equipment to Japan on the eve of their defeat." Russia annexed southern Sakhalin and the Kurile islands from Japan.

The same newspaper used the occasion to heap praise on Stalin:

"Fulfilling the plan of the supreme commander in chief of the Soviet Union, generalissimo J. V. Stalin, Soviet Land Forces, Aviation and the Pacific Ocean Fleet simultaneously rendered crushing blows bringing to a close the war against Imperialist Japan. The threat of the Second World War being extended—inasmuch as the armies of our allies were still far from carrying war activity onto the territory of Japan—was ended quickly."

Pravda's review charged that American "imperialists" were seeking to rebuild Japan subject to American rule and asserted that this "attitude" was the only explanation of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's occupation policies "opposed to international collaboration in carrying out the control of Japan and factually ignoring recommendations of the Far Eastern Commission and the allied council for Japan."

V-J day in Russia was celebrated everywhere as a holiday. Workers except in essential services and such urgent industries as coal mining had a day off. Moscow was decorated. Actors played on outdoor stages. Salutes of 24 guns were ordered in capitals of all 16 Soviet republics and in the far eastern cities of Port Arthur and Khabarovsk.

MOTORMAN HURT IN CRASH

John B. Huff, streetcar motorman, of 5321 Ohio avenue, suffered a fractured right leg yesterday when the City Limits car he was operating in the 6300 block of Wydown boulevard, Clayton, collided with another streetcar which had stopped.

Police said Huff told them he applied his brakes but they did not hold. Two passengers on the other car operated by Charles Wormington, 3101 Priest lane, Overland, suffered minor injuries.

TWO MORE POLIO DEATHS, 16 NEW CASES IN AREA

New Reports Make Total Stricken With Disease This Year 325, Including 17 Fatalities.

Two more deaths from infantile paralysis and 16 new cases of the disease were reported today among residents of the St. Louis area. A total of 325 cases have been reported here this year, including 17 deaths.

Mrs. Alice Williams, 26 years old, 5443 Union boulevard, died of polio Sunday at City Hospital. She was the fifth St. Louis resident to die of the disease this year.

Janet Marie Neumann, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ohlan Neumann, St. Jacob, Ill., died yesterday at St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis. East Side health authorities said she was the eighth resident of Madison, St. Clair, Clinton and Bond counties to die of polio this year.

The new city cases reported included eight girls, 3 to 10 years old; 4 boys, 10 months to 13 years old, and a man, 23. The city total for the year is 116 cases. Seventy-eight of them were in August.

Twelve of the 30 polio patients in the isolation division of City Hospital today were in serious condition, including six in respirators. No new infantile paralysis patients were admitted to the hospital yesterday.

No new cases were reported over the weekend to the St. Louis county health department. The year's total there is 77, including four deaths. The first 22 beds of a projected 45-bed polio center in St. Louis County Hospital were opened yesterday. Dr. Curtis H. Lohr, hospital superintendent, said that for the present the beds would be restricted to persons acutely ill from polio.

Three additional cases were reported on the East Side to bring the total for the year there to 132. The new patients included a 4-year-old girl from Pleasant Mound; a 10-year-old Greenville boy and a boy, 2, from Hartford.

Dwight Edwards, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Edwards, Centralia, Ill., died of polio yesterday at St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis.

NEW ST. LOUIS-BOSTON FLIGHT

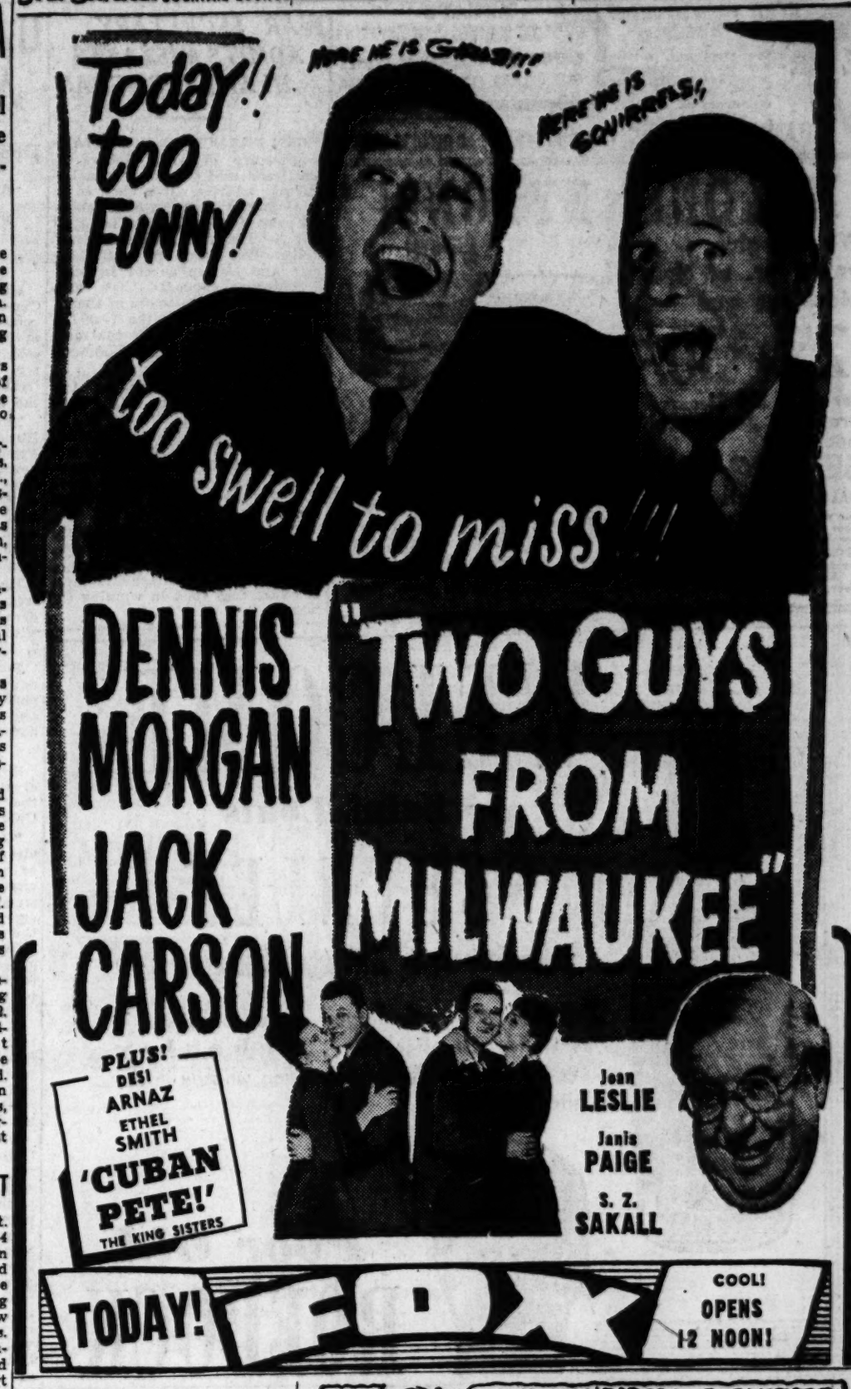

A new daily flight between St. Louis and Boston, using a DC-4 which stops only at Washington and New York, was inaugurated today by Eastern Air Lines. The new flight cuts down the flying time between St. Louis and New York from 9½ hours to 6½ hours.

Capable of carrying 56 passengers and 2000 pounds of mail and cargo, the four-engine transport leaves St. Louis at 7 a. m. It arrives at Washington at 11:32 a. m., New York at 1:07 p. m. and Boston at 2:30 p. m., all standard time. The flight will leave Boston at 6:15 a. m., New York at 7:35 p. m. and Washington at 9:10 p. m., arriving in St. Louis at 12:03 a. m.

GEN. MAC ARTHUR INDICATES HE'LL VISIT KOREA SOON

SEOUL, Sept. 3 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur informed American correspondents in Korea today that he has "every intention of visiting Korea just as soon as the press of current events in Japan will permit."

His message was in response to an appeal by the correspondents, who radioed his headquarters Sept. 1 that they "feel your failure to visit Korea is a grave disappointment to Koreans who have waited a full year for your appearance."

Members of the visiting House Military Affairs Committee charged, meanwhile, that there had been "a complete breakdown" in food, recreation and Army-store facilities for United States troops in southern Korea. Morale, the committeemen informed the United States Eighth Army command in Yokohama by letter, "is at lowest ebb."

Acting Committee Chairman Sheridan (Dem.), Pennsylvania, wrote Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, Eighth Army commander, that nowhere else had they found so many "wholly justified" complaints from soldiers. The letter told of barren shelves in post exchanges (Army stores), and added that fresh vegetables were reaching Korea unfit for consumption.

8 BILLION SICKNESS LOSS

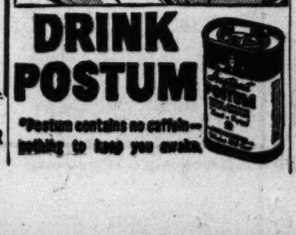

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (UP)—Sickness and accidents cost the American people more than $8,000,000,000 a year, according to chairman Claude Pepper, (Dem.,) Florida, of a senate subcommittee on health and education.

In a report to the full committee, Pepper called anew for legislation to prevent the "colossal waste of manpower and economic resources caused by the ill health of our people."

Why it takes time to make and install new switchboards

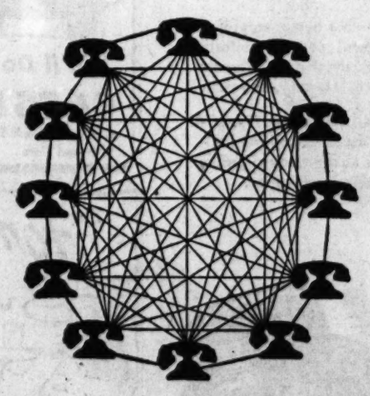

Telephone switchboards are complex. These illustrations may help you understand why.

1 To connect three telephones, one with the other, we need three pairs of wire.

2 For six telephones, it takes not just twice as many pairs of wire, but five times!

3 How many pairs of wire would it take to connect 12 telephones?

The answer is 66 pairs of wire.

NOW step up to 1,000 telephones. That would take 499,500 pairs of wire! We use switchboards to get away from some of that complexity. But switchboards themselves are complex. For they must be able to handle that many different calls.

It takes time to make and install all the switchboards needed to serve people waiting for telephones. With materials still hard to get, we're not making the progress we'd like. But we're hard at work and we'll keep at it until everybody who wants a telephone has one.

Czech Shoe Industry Booms Again Under New Nationalized Program

Famous Bata Empire in Zlin Managed by Board Representing Political Parties—Heeds Social, Cultural Needs of Workers.

By MAURICE HINDUS

ZLIN, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 26 (Delayed).—This world-renowned shoe town, known in prewar days as Czechoslovakia's "Little America," is booming with a new life. Hardly a trace is left of last year's disorder and untidiness. Only a few buildings have been repainted, but there are no more broken windows, unhinged doors or rubbish-strewn courtyards.

All rubble and other war wreckage have been removed, flowers again brighten the scene, hedges are neatly trimmed and trees in the parks, streets and on factory grounds, especially the lush poplars and the majestic weeping willows, add to the beauty and cheerfulness of the garden city which its founder, Thomas Bata, had striven to make of Zlin.

In the evenings the cafes are brilliantly lighted and, as in prewar days, crowds of factory workers dance to American jazz tunes.

For the present all political strife for control of the nationalized factories is at an end. Gone is last year's provisional national custodian. Instead, there is a permanent general director. This time he is a member of the Communist party, but his three first assistants, all Bata-trained executives, are members of the three other political parties—Czech National Socialist, Catholic and Social Democratic. The immediate supervision of the ten departments into which the gigantic Bata industrial empire is divided is in the hands of these first assistants.

The Communist-dominated factory council is very powerful. Nor is its influence likely to abate until new statutes defining in detail the functions of factory council have been proclaimed.

"What is your chief function now?" I asked the chairman of the council.

"To do everything we can to boost production," was his prompt reply.

By everything he meant not only improvement of the morale of the workers and regulation of relations between workers and management, but direct participation in policies affecting every phase of the enterprise.

"We don't hinder management," he said. "Quite the contrary, we see to it that there is nothing in the way of the fulfillment of our production program."

Zlin's production is now 500,000 pairs of shoes a week, or only slightly more than half of what it had been under private ownership. But whereas 102 shops formerly made shoes, now only 79 are at work. The American bombing on Nov. 20, 1944, which lasted only four minutes but reduced many factories to rubble, together with the difficulties management is experiencing in the purchase of raw materials and the diminished productivity of labor are, according to management, the chief reasons for the lessened output.

But the industry now is in the black, showing constantly mounting profits. Two new five-story factories are being built and plans have been drafted for the erection of several others. By 1948, the management hopes to lift, perhaps exceed, the former output of 1,000,000 pairs of shoes a week.

While the new management lags far behind the old in the manufacture of shoes, although not in machinery, it is striking a new note in Czech factory life in its social and cultural ministrations to workers.

Thomas Bata, who died in an airplane accident in 1932, was a great industrial engineer but indifferent to cultural values. Its art institute was the only exception to the purely utilitarian values which Bata championed in education as well as in life.

Zlin had neither a drama theater nor a philharmonic orchestra, and its motion picture house was a barn-like, though comfortable, structure. Now Zlin is building a theater with the most modern stage equipment, has already started a philharmonic orchestra and has plans for a modern motion picture house modeled after the Gaumont of Paris.

LUCKY RING ON DOORBELL SAVES 3 BRIDGE PLAYERS

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UP) — Three housewives lounged on lawn chairs at Mrs. Charles Blakesley's home, awaiting a fourth for bridge.

The doorbell rang and the women went to greet the fourth.

They heard a crash and ran to the rear of the house, where they had been enjoying the comfort of the lawn chairs.

A large limb from a tree above the chairs had toppled, splintering the chairs and parts of a nearby garage.

COUPLES MARRIED 50 YEARS ALLOWED TO HONK AUTO HORNS

LORAIN, O., (UP)—Horn-tooting, rollicking automobile wedding parties have been barred here, unless the principals have been married 50 years.

"The practice is dangerous, and it's got to stop," the police chief said. He issued the order to teach residents that Lorain is "growing up" and that rules of safety and "grown-up" conduct must be observed.

Walker added that if any couples who have been married the prescribed 50 years wish to celebrate with an automobile parade, he'll supply a police escort.

BURGLARS STEAL EVEN SINK

OAKLAND, Md. (AP)—Burglars entered the Oakland golf club house, stripped it of six pairs of curtains, bath towels, dishes, chairs, sports jackets, three sets of golf clubs and a number of balls.

But what surprised club member Edward Smouse, who discovered the theft, more than anything else was a final touch: The burglars had also taken the kitchen sink.

There's "Coffee" and Then There's FOLGER'S Coffee!

HAVE you ever noticed how so many people say: "Have a cup of coffee"—

Yet if they are serving Folger's Coffee they say: "Have a cup of Folger's."

And you know it is going to be extra good!

There's a reason for this.

Because actually most of the time it is enough to say, "Have a cup of coffee."

But when you want to prepare your guests for something special to sort of get them in a mood, you mention the name Folger's because the very name has come to mean more than just coffee . . . it's extra special!

If you don't know about this difference in coffees, you might find added happiness for a whole lifetime by just making certain that you ask for Folger's the next time you pay a visit to your grocer's.

Fortunately, Quality also means Economy in Folger's and because of its extra vigorous flavor, you are urged to try using ¼ less Folger's than of lesser flavored brands.

Be sure you remember this difference in coffees next time you buy—"There's a mountain of flavor in every spoonful of Folger's."

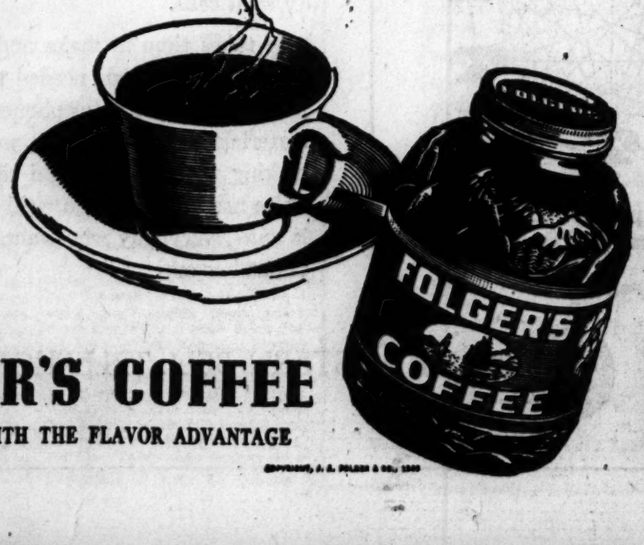

Mountain Grown!

Folger's Coffee is a unique blend of Mountain Grown coffees, selected for intensity and individuality of flavor.

Mountain Grown because in the mountains of the Tropical Americas, Nature combines all of the known elements for growing superlative coffees . . . namely: brilliant sunshine (tempered by altitude which keeps a year-round evenness of temperature) . . . abundant rainfall . . . and amazingly fertile volcanic ash soil.

The Folger Flavor—is a happy combination of these flavorful coffees, artfully blended with a know-how that is the result of 96 years of patience, integrity, and skill.

In the great over-all area where Folger's Coffee is sold—it is the largest selling individual brand . . . the acknowledged public choice . . . the overwhelming favorite.

Life in Soviet Zone of Germany 'Not a Pretty Picture' as Seen From a Peephole in Iron Curtain

Tales Reaching Berlin Indicate Political Terror Is the Rule; Socialists and Other Anti-Nazis Interned, Kidnaped Children Made Soviet Agents.

By JOSEPH ALSOP

BERLIN.

THIS city, situated in the heart of the Soviet zone of Germany, is a kind of peephole through the iron curtain. The zone itself is impenetrable except on watchfully conducted tours. If you talk to enough people and check the varying reports backward and forward with sufficient care, however, you can form a fairly adequate picture of what life under the Russians is like. It is not a pretty picture.

The Soviet occupying authorities are still doing business with their gloves on. Perhaps that is why the reports of what they do, sound so much like the reports from Germany in the early days of Hitler before the Nazi terror was total.

Take for example the tale of Julius Scherff and Herman Loewenthal.

Story of a Socialist.

Loewenthal was originally a left-wing Socialist. After the surrender he went along with the merger of Socialists and Communists in the new Unity party which Marshal Zhukov enforced. He was then employed in a confidential capacity in the personnel office of the Berlin magistrate which is headed by Arthur Pieck, brother of the Communist leader, Wilhelm Pieck. He seems, however, to have been one of those intellectual theorists whose enthusiasms are never chilled until confronted with cold and easily predictable reality.

The reality of the merger, brought about by force and followed by instant establishment of complete Communist control of the new party, caused him to leave the Unity party and return to the Socialists.

As for Julius Scherff, he was but another Berlin Socialist leader who was taking too independent a line.

Two Men Disappear.

One afternoon in June, Loewenthal left his house with a Soviet officer on a trivial errand. He was never seen again.

At the same time, Scherff disappeared.

After long waiting, the Socialist newspaper in Berlin announced these disappearances.

Dr. Suhr and other Socialist leaders were at once commanded to appear at Soviet headquarters before Gen. Kotikov. The General treated them to a furious tirade against themselves and their party in the course of which he dramatically tore the offending newspaper to bits and intimated plainly that arrests would continue if the Socialists did not moderate their "anti-Bolshevist" attitude. Thereafter, the Soviet press charged angrily that Loewenthal, who was, so shortly before, the confidential employe of Arthur Pieck, and a Jew into the bargain, had been a Gestapo agent under the Nazis.

The fate of Scherff and Loewenthal is by no means exceptional.

Camps Hold Liberals.

They lived in Berlin where the presence of the other Allies exercises some restraining influence, but in the zone political terror is the rule. Among those known to have been arrested are Oberburgermeister Baer of Magdeburg; the Socialist leader, Rudi Rothe, of Leipzig; Burgermeister Bollmann of Halberstadt, and two town councillors, Pfeifer and Fehr. These are, of course, only a few names which have been carried to Berlin, often at great risk.

There seems to be little doubt that the internment camps of the Soviet zone hold innumerable Socialists and other anti-Nazi political independents.

Furthermore, the evidence strongly suggests that the anti-Nazi independents are treated with far more cruelty than the Nazis themselves, some of whom have shown a surprising willingness to transfer their loyalties.

German Children Taken.

Nor is the terror confined to those in positions of political leadership. It is omnipresent. Stories have already reached America of kidnapings of children in the Soviet zone. The stories originated in happenings of last summer. Only recently, the mothers of some of the children taken last summer in desperation made their way to Berlin, told their stories and asked for help. Those early kidnapings appear to have been more or less at random, with the object of securing young Germans to be trained for Soviet purposes.

Now the approach is more systematic. According to well authenticated reports, the system is to round up former leaders in the Hitler Jugend, point out to them their crimes and warn them that they can expiate their misdeeds only by serving the Soviet Union. These tragic young people, already warped and twisted by one iron system, are then required to become informers and agents provocateurs for the omnipresent NKVD. In their new role, they go among their friends seeking to organize resistance and reporting to their paymasters those who show the will to resist. And the potential resistants are then, of course, arrested.

Political Weapon.

Sometimes, indeed, the test of dangerous thoughts is even simpler. Not so very long ago, students at a Potsdam school—very near Berlin but in the Soviet zone—were ordered to wear red carnations to their classes in celebration of some Soviet high day. A few teen-age boys, as a foolish joke, came to school with white carnations in their buttonholes. They, too, disappeared.

The terror, in truth, is everywhere. It is by no means complete. It can become 20 times worst if the NKVD is ever entirely unleashed, but it is only against the background of the existence of terror wherever the forces of the Soviet Union are present in Germany that the German situation can now be judged.

For the Soviets, terror is in fact a political weapon of the first importance which they are employing in a determined effort to weld their zone into a single solid impermeable political bloc. This they regard as the first task. As Wilhelm Pieck is said to have remarked at a strategy meeting of the Unity party, "The other zones can come later."

ON April 9, Johns-Manville Corp. common stock sold on the New York Stock Exchange at $167.50 a share. Last week it could have been bought for $132, a markdown of 21 per cent in less than five months.

Radio Corp.'s price was cut even more. On Jan. 23, people paid $19 a share for it; last week some sold stock for less than $12, a reduction of 38 per cent.

Seasoned investment issues as well as speculative ones suffered in the market drop. R. H. Macy & Co. was down 25 per cent from its year's high; United States Steel 17 per cent; American Telephone 8 per cent; Curtis Publishing 48 per cent, and New York Central 44 per cent.

Economic Paradox.

Here is an economic paradox: Stocks go down just when production starts to roll. Despite parts shortages, despite fussing and fuming over price control, despite strikes, the Federal Reserve Board index has managed to climb to the highest level since V-J day. Automobile production—as a single instance—is at a rate of more than 4,000,000 vehicles a year. That's not quite up to 1929 levels; it's still below capacity, and it's far below expectations. Yet, it's not bad only a year after V-J day. Even more to the point, man-days lost due to strikes are down from a record high of 21,500,000 in February to 3,300,000 in July.

The most reassuring explanation of this stocks-are-down-production's-up paradox is that investors and speculators engaged in an impetuous buying rush and got ahead of (1) themselves, (2) business prospects, (3) profits expectations, and (4) international relations. Thus, while production tobogganed 35 per cent from March, 1945, through February, 1946, industrial stock prices advanced 36 per cent. The rally went on notwithstanding V-J day cancellations of contracts, and was one of the steepest on record. Yet, all the while, relations with Russia were getting worse and major strikes were delaying reconversion.

But you can rationalize further—if you will. Investors and speculators are becoming increasingly concerned—and quite properly—about labor-management relations. Settlements of strikes don't always settle labor disputes. To be sure, management and union leaders do sign contracts, but too often they leave one another at the bargaining table deeply aggrieved. The result is subsequent disputes over working conditions, slowdowns, and strike demonstrations.

Wanted: Understanding.

Official Study 'Communism in Action' Printed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP).

THE Government reported officially on "Communism in action" yesterday and declared among other things that:

1. Millions of Russian workers "are employed under police discipline."

2. "Leisure time use in the Soviet Union is strictly controlled by the state and the Communist party."

The report was prepared by the Library of Congress under terms of a House resolution sponsored by Representative Dirksen (Rep.), Illinois, calling for a "fair and impartial" study of the subject.

Dirksen's objective is to combat Communism in this country by detailing its effects in Russia.

Prepared by U. S. Printing Office.

In a statement accompanying the 140-page document published by the Government Printing Office, Dirksen said people who read it will be challenged to take "aggressive action to preserve undiminished the heritage of American freedom."

The report drew no conclusion and offered no recommendations.

Commenting on the section dealing with Russian labor, Dirksen said, "If there is any doubt concerning forced labor in the Soviet Union the report dispels that doubt from documented sources."

The report itself declared:

"There can be no reasonable doubt that in the Soviet Union millions of workers are employed under police discipline and receive only miserable keep for their labor.

"The Government makes every effort to conceal the existence of these camps. No foreigner or correspondent is ever permitted to see them. Such camps exist in a country with the pretension of leading the world in improving the conditions of those who toil and labor."

Other Phases of Russian Life.

Other observations, by subjects, include:

Living standards—"The Russian people are still very poor not only by American, but also by prewar Western European standards as well." A room for a whole family is standard in the Western (Russian) regions. This is not a war phenomena, but has been a

M'Arthur Says Japan Faces Fight Between Communism, Democracy

Islands Can Be 'Either a Powerful Bulwark for Peace or a Dangerous Springboard for War,' He Declares.

TOKYO, Sept. 3 (AP)

GEN. DOUGLAS MAC ARTHUR declared yesterday the "dread uncertainty" of ideological conflict between democracy and communism hangs over Japan, a country which can be "either a powerful bulwark for peace or a dangerous springboard for war."

The supreme commander of the Allied powers, in a summary of the first year of the occupation of Japan, asked "which concept will prevail over these islands, which now are being redesigned in the aftermath of war?"

The answer to that question, he said, "profoundly affects the destiny of all men and the future course of all civilization."

In a strongly worded statement which reflected his well-known but seldom expressed concern over the strife between the two ideologies, MacArthur declared that a clash between democracy and communism in this country would be "no slight disadvantage to those who seek, as intended at Potsdam, the great middle course of democracy."

He warned that "the Japanese, long regimented under a philosophy of the extreme conservative right, might prove easy prey to those seeking to impose a doctrine leading again to regimentation under the philosophy of the extreme radical left."

Democratic ideals "embodying the principles of right, justice and decency" will be the corner stone of Japanese freedom, he said, "unless uprooted and suppressed by the inroads of some conflicting ideology which might negate individual freedom, destroy individual initiative and mock individual dignity."

Defeat meant for the Japanese the collapse of their faith—"disintegration of everything they had believed in, lived by and fought for," MacArthur went on. The arrival of the American combat soldier with his "fine sense of self-respect, self-confidence and self-control" showed the Japanese the fallacy of their former beliefs.

There ensued a "revolution of spirit" unparalleled in the social history of the world. This new spirit, given encouragement and opportunity, could become "more deep-seated and lasting than the foundations upon which their false faith was built."

But, MacArthur added, "ideologies of extreme too often gain converts and support from true liberals misguided by slanted propaganda and catch phrases which hold as 'reactionary' all things which spring from the underlying concept of the past.

"Such propaganda seeks too often to exploit the knowledge common to all men that sociological and political changes from time to time are mandatory if we would keep our social system abreast of advance civilization."

MacArthur's statement, issued one year to the hour after his address at the surrender ceremony aboard the U.S.S. Missouri, said much has been accomplished in Japan and much remains to be done. The year, he said, has shown a significant gain for the "forces of democracy in furtherance of a durable peace."

Such a course, he said, will require patience, determination and "all the statesmanship of democratic peoples" to shape the lives and institutions of the Japanese people "in conformity with those social precepts and political standards best calculated to raise the well-being of the individual and foster and preserve a peaceful society."

"The goal is great," MacArthur concluded, "for the strategic position of these Japanese islands renders them either a powerful bulwark for peace or a dangerous springboard for war."

Sabath Questions Arms Advice of Congressional Tourists.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Representative Sabath (Dem.), Illinois, suggested yesterday that six House members in Tokyo who advocated new war preparedness in the Pacific had been "taken in by the military gentlemen there under General MacArthur."

"Perhaps the Russians are going too far," Sabath told a reporter. "Let's find out. Let's not take it for granted that we must have war."

Sabath, dean of the House with 20 years of service, declared the Big Three—American, British and Russian heads of state—should get together again "by all means."

"I think they should sit down, leaving the military gentlemen and the beneficiaries of war on the outside, and use their horse sense. They could reach an understanding," Sabath said.

The six Congressmen, members of the military committee touring Pacific occupation zones, said

F.D.R. Feared New War Due To Imperialism

Son Quotes Him as Saying U.N. Should End Colonial System.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (UP)

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT believed that a third world war was inevitable if the United Nations failed and if Europe continued to cling to imperialists, the late President's son, Elliott, disclosed today.

"Backward, depressed colonial areas of the world" should be given economic and social assistance and eventually be freed through an international organization led by the great powers, Roosevelt told his son.

"If this isn't done, we might as well agree that we're in for another war," he said.

The late President's views were disclosed in an article in Look magazine, taken from Elliott Roosevelt's book, "As He Saw It," to be published in October.

First Talk of U.N.

Elliott wrote that at the Casablanca conference in 1943 he heard for the first time about the United Nations.

Roosevelt told his son that France should be restored to a world power, but that she should be given only a trusteeship over her former colonies, reporting annually. The younger Roosevelt asked to whom.

"The organization of the United Nations, when it's set up," his father replied.

The book quotes him as saying: "The Big Four—ourselves, Britain, China, the Soviet Union—will be responsible for the peace of the world when we've won the war. These powers will have to assume the task of bringing education, raising the standards of living, improving the health conditions—of all the backward, depressed colonial areas of the world. And when these areas have had the chance to maturity, they must have the opportunity extended to them of independence—after the United Nations as a whole have decided that they are prepared for it."

Feared Another War.

Later in the conference after he had talked with Gen. Charles de Gaulle and the latter had demanded the return of France's colonies, Roosevelt flared up in a

List of Soviet Acts and Policies That Have Stirred U.S. Opposition

Here, in the first of two articles on Russian-American differences, Sigrid Arne, Associated Press staff writer, tells what Russia has done that has aroused the United States State Department. In the second article tomorrow she will tell some of the things the State Department is doing to meet the Russians.

By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)

HERE are some of the reasons why the United States State Department decided, some monhs ago, to buck the Russian line:

1. The Atlantic Charter, which Russia recognized, promised no land grabs, but Russia has since taken the Karelian isthmus from Finland and Bessarabia and Upper Bukovina from Romania; it has also taken eastern Poland, and Ruthenia from Czechoslovakia, even though Poland and Czechoslovakia were allies. The other partners in the Big Three—the United States and the United Kingdom—took no land.

2. The charter also said there would be no such changes unless the peoples expressed the wish for them. The peoples in the areas taken by Russia had no chance to vote.

3. Big Three agreements have repeated the right of peoples to choose their own governments and have promised free elections. Elections have been held in Finland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary, but when Hungarian elections swamped the Communists, Russia permitted occupied Hungary to slide into the worst economic chaos on the continent.

4. For a period the United States and Britain were so dissatisfied with the governments of Bulgaria and Romania that they pressured Russia into "broadening" them. The United States is still so uncertain about Romania that it has only partial United States recognition.

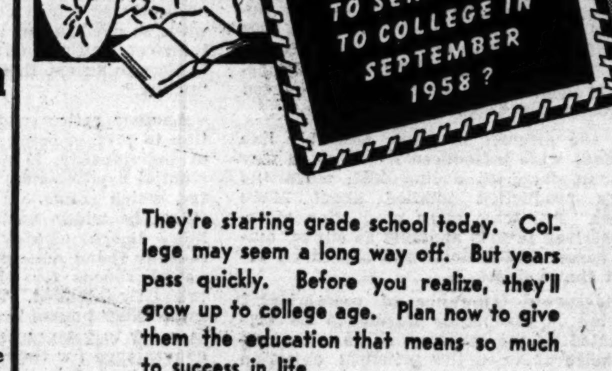

Issue of Free Trade.

5. Several Big Three agreements have talked of free trade. Here the picture is not clear, but middle Europe has such heavy bills to pay to Russia, or is committed to such trade treaties with Russia that little is left to sell to others. Most of the Russian agreements run about eight years. However, United States trade experts say they don't think Russia can make this trade block stick, that the area will have to buy in the west to progress.

6. The Big Three pledged Austrian independence, but Russia has blocked every suggestion to write an Austrian peace treaty. State Department men think Russia may be stalling for bargaining reasons.

7. At Cairo, in 1943, Korea was promised independence. Russia was absent from this conference, but Korea is now occupied, half and half, by the United States and Russia. Talks have broken down,

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

In Defense of Politicians

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

In the people's column of Aug. 18, there appeared a letter signed W. B., wherein he suggests that politicians delight in the stupidity of the voters and suggests that some kind of a discussion period be held in public schools to overcome the "stupidity" of our citizens.

If our citizens are stupid at the polls, it is not the fault of the politicians. Nearly every ward organization of the two major parties mails a letter of instruction and a sample ballot to all the registered voters in its ward, showing the voters how to vote and advising them that their ballots will not be counted if they are not legally marked.

The trouble with too many average citizens is that there has been built up in their minds a misconception about politicians—that they should not pay any attention to anything politicians say or suggest. The fact is that the average politician is just the average man and woman you meet any place. Most politicians are honest and sincerely trying to do a good job. They make every effort to get every member of their party living in their ward to help them.

Unfortunately, too many citizens pay no attention to their ward political affairs. Most of them don't even exercise the great privilege of voting, or when they do vote they frequently spoil their ballots and lose their votes entirely. In our ward on Aug. 6, less than 3600 out of a registration of more than 14,000 registered voters voted.

Every ward organization will welcome anyone to its meetings and will welcome anyone who will work in the organization. If you don't like the way the present ward organization operates, start one of your own.

My idea is that practical politics should be taught in our public schools and our colleges. The political science taught in our colleges today by instructors not familiar with practical politics will not remedy the problem.

It so happens that W. B.'s idea was the discussion topic some two months ago at one of our Young Republican organizations of the Twenty-eighth Ward. We are now in the process of framing a petition to the Board of Education requesting that such a course in voting procedure and practical politics be incorporated in the high school curriculum for 1946-47.

Most of our members are GIs and we welcome all who want to join us. We have very fine discussions on political or civic subjects and we are not dictated to by the regular ward organization. They co-operate with us in every way, and those of us who care to work with them do so.

FERD COOK,
President, Twenty-eighth Ward Young Republican Club.

Government by Order

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Federal Judge Duncan ruled against the Inland Waterway employes, holding that civil service rules for these employes is valid, based on powers derived from a presidential executive order.

This suit was based mainly on the act of Congress that created the Inland Waterways Corporation. The employes contended that the order was in conflict with this act of Congress.

If this country is to be governed on executive order, then we are getting into a bad state of affairs. Joe Stalin runs Russia in an analogous manner. If we are to be governed by executive order, then it might be well to suspend Congress, saving the people $10,000 per year per member, plus the recent raise.

The people should become conscious of the danger attached to government by executive order, for if it is not curbed, it will not be safe for the people to go to bed at night without the fear of waking up to find that an order has been issued demoralizing their whole livelihood.

ANTI-EXECUTIVE ORDER.

Unwanted Airfield

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

In your editorial, "Jammed Airfields Ahead," I note that paragraph in particular in which you criticize Alderwoman Clara Hempelmann for opposing the proposed airfield at Morganford and Weber roads. An Alderman is expected to represent the constituents of his ward, and that is exactly what Mrs. Hempelmann is doing 100 per cent when she opposes this airfield. No one down here wants it.

As to the airport's increasing property values, I fail to see anything worthwhile in the way of homes near Lambert Field. I know the residents of such better sections as Bel-Nor and Pasadena Hills out that way are not too happy by its being in their general vicinity, and they are much farther away than the folks in the Twelfth Ward are from the proposed new field. We do not want higher values for our property. We want peace and quiet, and you can't have it with an airfield in your neighborhood.

These airfields are all highly subsidized at the expense of the taxpayers, who should not be asked to support flying fields any more than they should be asked to support the railroads, which your paper constantly picks on. We read the Post-Dispatch, but in most cases it does not represent our sentiments.

We hope Mrs. Hempelmann keeps up her good work.

LE ROY F. BOHLEY.

The Symbol of Nuernberg

Forty-one weeks after aggression was brought before the conscience of the civilized world, the trials of Nazidom at its shrine city are ended. Nuernberg at last is still. Before it was a symbol of the neo-voodooism of Adolf Hitler, it was a symbol of the Hohenstaufens in the Middle Ages, but now it is a new symbol: of punishment for murder, no matter how high-placed the murderers.

Here 22 individuals came to the dock for crime, and seven organizations for criminality. Goering came here, bold, sophisticated and fluent—Goering, the dope fiend, the murderer-by-air of whole cities, of Rotterdam and Warsaw and Coventry, and of cities with rather more Spanish names. Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel slept here, uneasily, for all the arrogance of the courtroom. Robert Ley, enslaver of German labor, slept too uneasily altogether, and one morning dangled from a rope in his cell.

Nuernberg, the new symbol, has to do with the stolid Walther Funk and the diabolic Hjalmar Schacht, who made murder financially feasible; with the gray, quiet Franz von Papen and the once-popinjay Von Ribbentrop, now a feeble old man, who by diplomacy made the victims of murder more easily accessible.

There was the thin haunted Rudolf Hess, once Hitler's No. 2 Nazi, with his fake insanity and his real stomach cramps, cowardice being an ailment with oddly disparate symptoms sometimes. There were the impudent Julius Streicher, the Jew-baiter; the elegant Alfred Rosenberg, the ideological expert; the owlish Seyss-Inquart, the Austrian quisling; the bruitish Hans Frank, the butcher of Poland; the craggy, emotionless Grand Admiral, Karl Doenitz.

To them, Nuernberg became a new symbol as they looked on, listened, and spoke. It became the symbol of democratic justice. Where they would have meted out the scant sum of it that can be got on a drumhead, they received justice to the full. They were allowed to hear all the charges and all the evidence against them. They were allowed counsel, and to testify in their own behalf, and to submit the evidence they were able to gather up in their defense.

But the justice of which Nuernberg has, for all these months, been becoming a symbol, to them and to the world, was one not merely of right, but of stern right. The easy venality of the old cartelism in martial murder was thrown out the window of the lofty, spartan courtroom. Once criminal diplomats and criminal soldiers could speak behind the backs of their people, and behind the backs of the people of their conqueror nations. Once they could say, with an obscene wink: "Who knows? You may be the caught criminal next. It will be prudent to deal with us, not according to our desserts, but according to your fears."

This doctrine of the dark brotherhood of diplomat and diplomat, of soldier and soldier, above country, above right and wrong, above humanity itself, was interred at Nuernberg with the little decency it deserved. A new doctrine was enunciated, as old as justice itself; documented and elaborated by the chief United States prosecutor, Justice Robert Jackson of the Supreme Court.

Justice Jackson invoked three centuries of mankind's sense of justice to authenticate Nuernberg. He cited Lord Chief Justice Edward Coke, who told King James that Kings are "under God and the law"; and the great Dutch jurist Grotius, the father of international law, who taught that there is a legal distinction between war of defense, which is just, and war of aggression, which is unjust.

Down these three centuries to the present day the troubled mind of civilized man has continued to testify to its sense of wrong in aggression. In the 1924 protocol of Geneva, 48 nations committed themselves to the principle that "a war of aggression constitutes . . . an international crime." In the Briand-Kellogg pact of 1928, virtually all the nations of the earth renounced war as an instrument of national policy. The eighth assembly of the League of Nations in 1927, the sixth Pan-American conference in 1928, testified to the criminality of aggression.

"It is high time," said Justice Jackson, "that we act on the juridical principle that aggressive warmaking is illegal and criminal. . . . An attack on the foundations of international relations cannot be regarded as anything less than a crime against the international community, which may properly vindicate the integrity of its fundamental compacts by punishing aggressors."

Such is the symbol of Nuernberg. It is a symbol which Hitler, Himmler and Goebbels, cravens at the last, dared not live to face. It is the symbol which the crew of motley Napoleons in the dock faced to learn that murder is always a crime and is always punishable. It is the symbol which would-be Fuehrers, Duces, Kaisers, et al., of the future would better ponder soberly before deciding whether crime against humanity is worth the risk.

Nuernberg is a warning: "Let the aggressor beware!"

To the New Yorker

The New Yorker magazine, which is always a refreshing relief from publishing humdrumness, has suddenly put aside humor and wit and satire for one issue. The current New Yorker is devoted entirely to John Hersey's description of the obliteration of Hiroshima by atomic bomb. So this magazine puts before its readers the alternatives of the greatest issue man ever faced—whether, henceforth, atoms will be burst for his progress or his annihilation. Beyond showing novel reporting enterprise, the New Yorker has achieved high journalistic responsibility.

More Tightening Up Needed

Dr. Edward Y. Hartshorne, military government chief of German universities in the United States zone of occupation, has been fatally shot while driving between Nuernberg and Munich in his jeep. His widow told Army investigators that he was wounded as they passed another jeep containing two United States soldiers and two women.

This killing bears every indication of stemming out of the laxness and poor morale which has too much characterized our occupation. Stray shots on highways from jeeps containing women do not go with trained, alert, well-disciplined forces.

The death of Dr. Hartshorne is a double misfortune to the occupation. The military government loses the man—a brilliant sociologist—who worked night and day to rid representative German universities of Nazis in order that they might be opened as soon as possible. Second, the tragedy is a discouragement to other Americans who should be offering themselves to the public service in Germany at a time when able personnel is a crying need.

Whatever the investigation of the Hartshorne death shows, Gen. McNarney has a lot more tightening up to do.

Is There No Alternative?

It is weird and fantastic but tragically true that only a year after the close of a war that took some 8,000,000 lives and squandered 700 billion dollars of the world's wealth humanity seems to be headed for another war. There is the terrible suspicion that we are kept from war even now only by the fact of the common exhaustion and war-weariness of the supposed contestants.

The war chorus obtrudes from everywhere—from the corridors of the Luxembourg Palace in Paris, from border squabbles in Yugoslavia and Korea, from the formidable resentment in the Kremlin of an American note protesting the unilateral trade agreement between Russia and Sweden.

In our own country warlike reports are issued by the House Committee on Military Affairs and by the Senate War Contracts Investigating Committee. The House committee says its sense of the imminence of conflict stems directly from a conference with the American Commander-in-Chief in Asia. William Green, in a Labor day speech says, "Talk up to Russia or fight her later." One of the veterans' organizations conducts a nationwide series of programs on the note of preparedness for war.

If it is true that Russia is a nation with an overweening and insatiable sense of "destiny"—if it is true that there is not enough room in the world for the democratic and totalitarian ideologies—then there is nothing for it but war. But this premise will bear the closest examination, and it is criminal to give it anything less. In various eras of history conflicting ideologies have managed to live peacefully in the world together for long periods. May it not be so again, if everyone concerned addresses himself sensibly to the objectives of peace?

Speaking at Lincoln, Neb., Sunday, Gen. Eisenhower delivered himself of some wise counsel:

> If we are strong (he said) we can be firm without truculence, we can compose without appeasing.
> On our side we must appreciate the sentiments of those who have been victims of war, who have had their homes burned, their children and their aged brutally massacred and their country devastated. Revenge is an understandable even if a sterile emotion.
> Such victims will not brook interference with their efforts to seek out and erect every possible safeguard against a recurrence of their nation's tragedy. . . . The task then is not merely to get others to understand us—we have a reciprocal duty with respect to them.

One way of understanding is for the heads of nations to meet together for calm discussion of the sources of conflict. President Roosevelt was a past master at using this device. President Truman should try, and keep on trying, to the end that this device is used once more as the great powers stride toward the brink of war.

Funny Goings-On in the U. S. P.

Whatever is the U. S. Pharmacopoeia thinking of? It has dropped spiritus frumenti (popularly known as whisky) from its catalogue of remedies. Officially, from now on whisky may be a beverage, or a fine art, or a joy forever, but it doesn't cure anything.

Doesn't cure anything! What remedy does U. S. P. think will do any good for ailing parties? A chew of cinchona bark all around? Does it propose to treat an indisposed appetite with nothing more potable than iron, quinine and strychnine? Or heartbreak with calomel? And what specific does it provide against what has been described by that celebrated versifier, Samuel Heffenstein, as the "tedium of seeing one's friends"? Will aspirin do it?

All during prohibition whisky stayed in the Pharmacopoeia without even wobbling. There it was, right between spirits of cinnamon and nitro-glycerin. Now it's out. Maybe somebody had better take a quick look and see whether Juliet is still in Shakespeare, and the Vanderbilts are still in the Social Register.

The United States is trying to persuade Russia to come on into the world bank. Has anyone tried changing the signs at all the windows to "Paying Teller"?

Housing on the Assembly Line

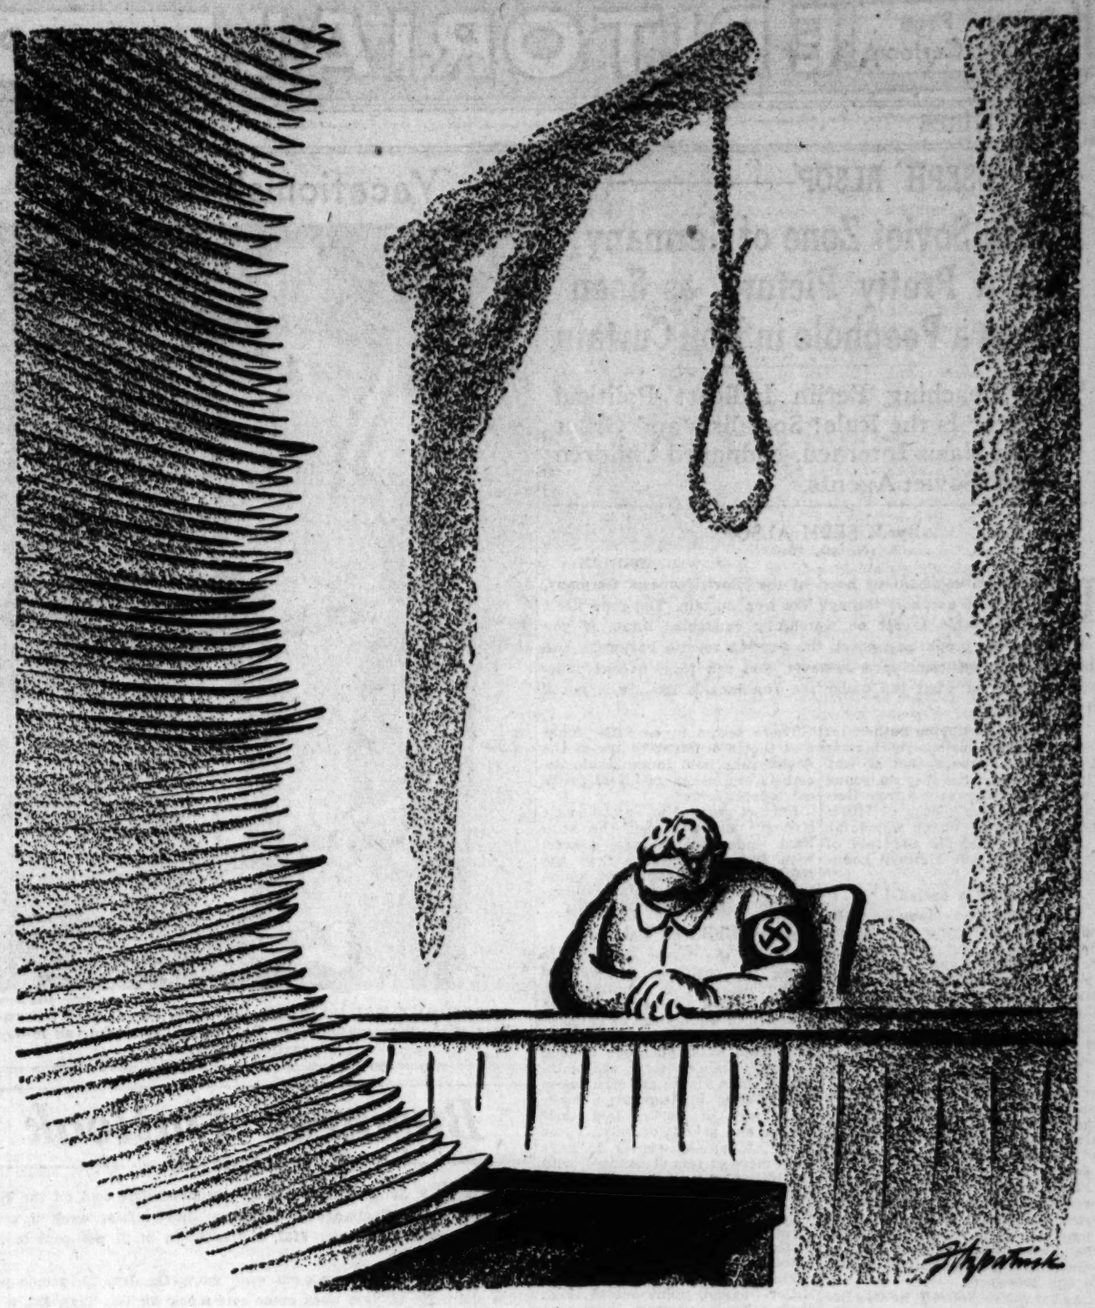

Almost unobserved, housing at last has reached the assembly line. Today's Mirror of Public Opinion shows that factory production of prefabricated homes will pass the 20,000-mark this month. Although the figure is considerably short of stupendous, it is close to the level reached by both the auto and aircraft industries when they began mass production.

From now on, the obstacle before prefabrication is likely to be public acceptance rather than production. Real estate and building interests, working for profitable obsolescence, have represented that prefabs are shoddy, or all look alike, or are expensive, until the public has often swallowed ignorance from propaganda.

The truth probably will come from the assembly line. When people can see prefabs in numbers, neither outmoded builders nor featherbedding unions will stand in the way. The independent analysis which is summarized on this page shows that the principal makes of prefabs are well built, variously designed, cheap to ship and easy to erect.

This advent of the industrial revolution in home construction will help remedy the slums and shacks which are a hangover from a less efficient era. Although tailor-made building will continue, mass construction promises relief for poorly sheltered millions. Nearly a decade ago, President Roosevelt said, "I see a third of the nation ill-housed . . ." Despite intervening prosperity, the situation is no better today. But perhaps, through the assembly line, it is beginning to improve.

Speaking of hogs, has anyone thought of a way to put a ceiling on Secretary Anderson?

THE EVIDENCE AT NUERNBERG

Mass-Produced Homes on the Way

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Assembly lines probably will turn out 30,000 prefabricated homes this year, report says; this figure was turning point for efficiency in aircraft and auto industries; says leading prefabs are well built and promising; yet public acceptance remains as major hurdle.

Report on a Study by the Family Economics Bureau of the Northwestern National Life Insurance Co., Minneapolis

Assembly-line production of American homes will pass the 20,000-mark in September, and will probably approximate a total of 30,000 for the year 1946. In both the automobile and the aircraft industries, an annual production of 20,000 to 30,000 units was the critical point at which mass production techniques began to achieve worthwhile savings for both maker and purchaser.

The anticipated production of 30,000 homes in 1946 represents only about 10 per cent of the total capacity of the prefabricated home manufacturing industry, and only 30 per cent of the National Housing Agency's already reduced 1946 goal for prefabricated homes. Output has run far short of earlier hopes, due to strikes and other delays in the flow of steel, soil pipe, glass, plywood, millwork, flooring and other items.

The industry should have little difficulty in 1947, however, in passing the second critical volume point, that of a 50,000-unit annual production, which in the automobile and aircraft industries was the point at which mass production became general and its economies became sizeable.

Growth of Assembly Lines

The first assembly-line techniques appeared in the automobile industry in 1904 when 22,130 vehicles were produced. Large-scale mass production methods really began in 1908, when the industry produced approximately 63,500 units.

In the aircraft industry, assembly line methods were introduced in a limited way in some factories during 1941, when the year's production totalled about 24,000 planes. Full-scale mass production methods arrived in 1943 and 1944 as annual output passed 50,000 units and soared on beyond that volume.

Widespread ignorance of prefabricated housing is the major hurdle to be surmounted by the industry. In various questionnaire surveys, the principal objection mentioned by the public is "flimsy construction," although 34 principal makes of prefabricated homes have official Washington approval under FHA construction standards. The public tends to confuse prefabricated homes with the temporary war housing which appeared in many sections of the country during the war years.

Building code restrictions and labor union opposition in many large cities are not serious worries of the industry at present. There is sufficient demand from suburban communities and small cities and towns to keep the industry operating at capacity for some years to come.

Economies for Consumer

Prefabricators are generally spending little time or effort trying to "buck" localized opposition but instead are concentrating on supplying localities where the factory-built home is readily accepted. Some relaxation of opposition is reported from a number of urban centers, particularly in the Middle West and in the South. Prefabrication leaders expect opposition gradually to melt away with a wider distribution of their products.

With operations at only 10 or 15 per cent of capacity, due to restricted flow of materials, assembly-line economies to the consumer are still limited. Maximum reductions in costs, comparable to economies achieved in automobile and aircraft manufacture in the 1920s and 1930s, await maximum use and general public acceptance of new home construction materials, such as metals and plastics.

The conservatism of the public offers a major problem in this respect. Radical changes in design are quickly accepted by the public in automobiles, whereas in the matter of a lifetime purchase like a home, the average American husband and wife are deeply conservative.

The enormous weight of conventional home construction materials runs up transportation costs and limits the radius of operations of the average prefabricated home manufacturer to 200 or 300 miles. The use of modern lightweight materials is the logical answer to present high transportation costs, and at the same time is the means to faster manufacturing techniques and greater economies.

Tailored or Ready-Made?

Some prefabricators are already using materials and technique discovered during the war in the production of the plywood mosquito bomber, and are fabricating outer and inner walls of plywood bonded to ribs or studs under heat and pressure. Although walls so constructed have greater strength than conventional construction, the public is slow to accept them, and requires much "selling."

Another rather widely publicized objection to prefabricated housing, that of lack of individuality, is not considered a substantial psychological hazard by the industry, which points out that there is a considerably wider variety of prefabricated home designs already available than is ordinarily found among the moderate income neighborhoods for which such homes are primarily intended. Thousands live in uniform "row" houses in certain eastern cities, in order to get greater interior luxury and convenience for their housing dollar.

Prefabricated homes will not eliminate the individual builder, any more than ready-made clothing has eliminated the tailor. Housing history will probably mark 1946-1947, however, as the period in which the assembly-line home really arrived on the American scene, by passing the critical mass production levels of 25,000 and 50,000 units per year.

NEW ADVENTURE

From the New York World-Telegram.

At the turn of the century the mail service captured the fancy of adventurous youth by offering postal jobs on the steam cars. There was zest! In rolling post offices, hooked directly behind the locomotives, a clerk could work like mad with his pouches while hurtling across the country at a mile a minute. Boys thronged to this new excitement, boys who gloried in speed.

Today the Post Office Department and Air Transport Association are planning improved postal service in 38-foot flying packets to be modeled like mail cars. Clerks soon will sort in the sky. Motors roaring toward the stratosphere, wings slicing the dawn, props churning moonbeams—the mail dangles fresh enticement for adventurous youth.

We're betting these jobs will be snapped up as soon as they're available. Boys always want to go—fast, high and far.

The Default to 'Either-Or'

DINNER AT THE WHITE HOUSE, by Louis Adamic. (Harper & Bros., New York.)

Louis Adamic has written several books about the role of America in world affairs. Among the most provocative of these, "Two Way Passage," interested President and Mrs. Roosevelt so much that the author was invited to dine at the White House and to discuss it with the Roosevelts and Winston Churchill.

This serves as the springboard for Adamic's latest book, "Dinner at the White House," a vigorous and intimate account of the bonds and conflicts of Roosevelt and Churchill and the effects of those bonds and conflicts upon economic and political co-operation among the nations.

Adamic measures the "two great architects of victory" in terms of what they did to fulfill the proposals set forth by him in "Two Way Passage."

During the war in Europe, the United States, he maintained, should develop economic and political reconstruction programs for the various countries. Teams of individuals carefully selected from many of the first and second generation Americans having backgrounds in European lands or regions were to be trained and made ready "to enter the countries the moment they were liberated, fill in the vacuum left by the defeated Axis forces, and help the peoples work themselves out of devastation."

In this way, America, being the result of immigrants who in the past 300 years made the "Passage Here," was to keep the Old World from blowing up again after World War II by facilitating "Passage Back." While administering relief and reconstruction, America was to convey the very most of its experience in democracy—"including the practice of federalism, concern for the general welfare, the spread of ethnic 'unity within diversity,' and the principle of the importance of the individual."

Churchill, according to Adamic, was the guardian of Tory England and as such was the stanch exponent of the Either/Or Era—"in the colonial world, in places like Southeastern Europe, even elsewhere in Europe, as well as in Asia, it will be either Red Communism or what you Americans consider our deplorable imperialism. . . . Where will you be without us British? With all our flaws, the Commonwealth and the Empire are the most considerable stabilizer in the world."

In maintaining that the Two Way Passage idea "opens up vistas," and "appeals to the imagination," Roosevelt, on the other hand, wanted none of "that Either/Or business." According to Adamic, Roosevelt, committed to the growth and spread of democracy, maintained that empire is irreconcilable with democracy, and America with her middle-of-the-road policy could very well solve postwar problems amicably with Russians, Britons and others.

Adamic divides the blame for failure: "For reasons based to the desires and urges governing large numbers of articulate, aggressively minded Americans as we approached the middle of the decisive twentieth century, and which tied in also with F. D. R.'s character and relations with Churchill, the Roosevelt Administration had gone too far in the other direction—too far to the right and away from the ideological middle road which we might have traveled postwar with the Russians, the British and smaller peoples."

EDGAR ANSEL MOWRER

Trieste—International Carbuncle

THIS rich city beside the blue Adriatic has become a carbuncle on the buttock of Anglo-Saxon-Russian relations. No matter how you turn, you just cannot be comfortable until this has been cured. And this cannot really be cured here because Trieste is not a disease, it is symptom of a disease.

The way to settle the problem of this highly inflamed sore spot is to restore the Anglo-Saxon-Russian relations to health. Once that is done, the carbuncle will vanish by itself. Unless this is done, no matter how you treat the carbuncle, how you lance it, or spread it with sweet ointment, the chances are it will stay or return in another form.

The basic truth, as it appears to me, after a brief but well guided investigation of this area, is as follows. The Yugoslavs are fighting in the name of the entire Soviet bloc to close this gateway to Soviet-dominated Central Europe. The Anglo-Saxons are fighting to keep it open.

Ill-Starred Compromise.

Naturally the Yugoslavs want Trieste for nationalistic reasons. The Italians want to keep it for the same reasons. But this could be compromised by broad internationalization. The scheme for internationalization is being discussed at the Paris Peace Conference. It is not sure that it will be accepted.

If it is accepted most of the wisest people in this city are sure that in its present form it will not work. For neither the Yugoslavs nor their big Russian brothers will want it to work. Therefore, they seem likely to use it as a standing pretext for raising cain.

On the other side, the Italians won't willingly renounce the city which has been Latin since its beginning and which, for the last century, has been a symbol of Italian pride. They too seem bound to go on trying to recover the city, which is still overwhelmingly Italian.

Humble Pie.

Last Wednesday I stood at the international barrier at Aisovizza, east of Gorizia, and witnessed a strange sight. After over 24 hours delay an ambulance, accompanied by the American Ambassador Patterson from Belgrade and several other persons, brought to the barrier remains of the five Americans shot down in cold blood by Yugoslav fighter planes, over near Bled in Yugoslavia. American soldiers transferred the bodies to American ambulances and sent them to Udine and the United States for burial.

While Yugoslav officers stood at salute, the commander of the Yugoslav air-squadron, Major Ilia Poic, who murdered these aviators, stood before Maj. General Moore, commanding the Eightieth United States Division, and before Ambassador Patterson and ate humble pie. He said he was sorry he had shot down the American planes and would not shoot down any more. Ambassador Patterson told the assembled news and camera men that Marshal Tito had also promised to refrain from killing any more of his American allies — which was nice of Tito.

Then we all drove back to Gorizia, convinced that the basic situation was no more settled than before.

You might think the simplest solution would be to let the people of this entire mixed Italian and Slovene region choose the regime they prefer. You might, until you come here. Then you find that the large number of Italian speakers—mostly Reds and pinks—are for Yugoslavia. This is upsetting until you find that many Istrians and Slavs from the Isonzo valley are for internationalization because they hate Tito's type of Communism.

Plebiscite Excluded.

At this point you probably suggest asking them all by a plebiscite. But the Yugoslavs will not accept a plebiscite under Anglo-American auspices and the Anglo-Americans are convinced that Tito's Slavs have so terrorized the region by threats of what they will do when the Anglo-Saxons leave that the pro-Italians and partisans of the international state would not dare to express their preferences unless sure they were going to be protected from the Yugoslavs indefinitely.

For all these reasons—short of any real Anglo-Saxon-Soviet understanding on the basic issues—the international state is probably the best solution. But what international state? Most experts here are government servants of one kind or another who cannot be quoted. They are, however, about universal in upholding that that state actually being discussed at Paris is ridiculous.

"Drawn by students around a conference table rather than by practical men on the spot," one big shot snorted.

Criticism boils down to these points chiefly: First, a new state is being carved almost exclusively from Italians rather than from both sides. Second, a new state will be too small to live. Cut from water and food sources it can easily be pressured by Yugoslavia. Third, a new state would not keep Italy and Yugoslavia apart. Fourth, a new state would not open the door to Central Europe.

A Trieste Corridor?

The best proposal seems to be to extend the free territory north to the Austrian border with its own highway and trunk railway, thus joining the port of Trieste with real customers, Austrians, Hungarians, Czechs and Poles, independently of its neighbors, Italy and Yugoslavia. Incidentally, this is probably the first time in history where two countries have bitterly contended for possession of a port which neither needs nor can properly use.

Short of a greatly extended international territory, the wisest people here insist it is better to have no international territory and simply draw a new frontier between Italy and Yugoslavia. The only question is where, on the same buttock?

MARQUIS CHILDS

CATAUMET, Mass.

IN spite of the latest crisis, blazoned in black headlines in the newspapers and proclaimed on the radio regularly on the half hour, America is relaxing in this first summer of the peace. Relaxing, you might say, with a vengeance.

There is a kind of urgency about it. If this is to be only a brief interlude of peace—and that gloomy foreboding sometimes bears down heavily—then we are determined to squeeze the last drop of goodness from it.

The winding roads, here on Cape Cod, are lined with cars. The public beaches are crowded. The "no vacancies" sign hangs out, as in every other resort area throughout the country. To care for those who were disappointed during the summer, many hotels will remain open through September and October.

But for those who seek it, there is peace and quiet. We look out through the pines to the stretch of sand and the blue water of our small arm of the bay. Our sailboat heads out toward the channel, moving stiffly in the swift breeze. This peace may be deceptive, but if it is, we cannot help for a time welcoming the deception.

"Earth could be fair." That is the phrase which recurs again and again. Sitting on the shore of this playground that projects out into the Atlantic, you think of the long sweep of the American earth; the fir-bordered lakes of Wisconsin and Minnesota, the Rockies and the great parks where thousands upon thousands of tourists get at least a glimpse of splendor; then, across the Divide to the Pacific slope and all its wonders. Here are Americans by the million, playing, relaxing.

Far From the Cauldron.

It seems so far from the cauldrons of Europe, where hate and jealousy bubble more fiercely than ever. Although we've learned painfully that it is just next door, Trieste seems a million miles from Cape Cod. What is it that has made the difference? Is it our space and our natural wealth? Is it the fact that we could make more or less a clean start, breaking with the old nationalist rivalries? Is it, as our isolationists like to tell us, merely the fact of our physical isolation?

"Earth could be fair." I think back to a few days spent last year in Yugoslavia. Again and again, people came up to me on the street and in restaurants, looking around cautiously first, then speaking in an undertone to ask if there wasn't some way they could go to America. For the old, it was a last desperate prayer. For the young, it was a distant gleam of hope; they wanted to know if they couldn't join our army and thereby qualify themselves for citizenship.

This was in the Yugoslavia of swaggering Marshal Tito. It was in the Yugoslavia where even then a pan-Slavic imperialism was being fanned by an unceasing propaganda bellows. But if you tried to write about pan-Slavism, the censor blue-penciled it. Tito was not yet ready to show his hand.

I don't think most of the unhappy people in Yugoslavia were in the least interested in pan-Slavism. They wanted peace and a little more to eat. They wanted to be free of fear for a time. But it is wonderful what the propaganda bellows can do with a people who are hungry, confused, frustrated.

Taken for Granted.

An incident out of that brief visit comes back. One of Tito's young hotheads, wife of a cabinet minister, suddenly turned to me and said: "Don't you love your country?" To an American that seemed a foolish question. Of courses, we love our country, I told her. "Why don't you talk about it, then?" she demanded.

Across the bay here, on the reefs that are out of water at low tide, people are clamming. The notices posted along the shore say that clamming is allowed on this one day only. It is signed by the Selectmen of Barnstable.

Well, perhaps we do take our country too much for granted. It has always been here, rich and proud and beautiful—if at times a little foolish and confused. Nevertheless, that seems infinitely preferable to the disease of nationalism; the terrible pathology of hate that is once again being fanned into flame.

If you look up quickly, you can see those flames — there, just across the line of the dunes. They intrude on the peaceful landscape even in this summer when America would like to look the other way.

PARK OPERA SINGER WED TO NEW YORKER

Miss Wilma Spence Bride of William D. Levin—Played Role of Sonia Here.

Miss Wilma Spence, singing star of stage and radio, and William D. Levin, New York manufacturer's agent, left today on a wedding trip to the East following their marriage yesterday at the home of Miss Caroline Strauss, 6833 Waterman avenue, University City.

The ceremony was performed by Circuit Judge William H. Killoren, and attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Roet of New York. Mrs. Roet appeared with Miss Spence in Municipal Opera this summer under her stage name, Muriel O'Malley. Miss Strauss, who also served as an attendant, is a long time friend of the bride.

Miss Spence, a soprano, made her Municipal Opera debut this year in the role of Sonia in the "Merry Widow." She appeared subsequently in three other Municipal Opera productions, "The Lost Waltz," "East Wind" and "The Great Waltz." She has sung leading roles in numerous Broadway productions and has appeared in concert in New York Town Hall and on tour in other major cities.

Miss Spence and Levin met in New York a year ago. Miss Spence said she planned to continue her theatrical career.

DRIVE FOR CHEST X-RAYS OF ALL HOSPITAL PATIENTS

A program to promote the taking of chest X-rays of all hospital personnel and of all patients entering hospitals was announced yesterday by the Tuberculosis and Health Society.

Under the national program it is hoped that nearly 20,000,000 persons a year will be examined for tuberculosis. Early discovery of the disease aids in recovery, it was pointed out. Information kits describing the need for routine chest X-rays will be distributed to hospitals, public health offices and tuberculosis associations.

Sponsors of the program are the American Hospital Association, the United States Public Health Service and the National Tuberculosis Association.

WASHINGTON U. REGISTRATION FOR UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

Registration for University College, the afternoon and evening division of Washington University, will be held from Sept. 25 to Oct. 3, with classes starting Oct. 4, Dean Willis H. Reals announced today.

More than 5000 students are expected to enroll for the 300 courses which will be offered, Reals said. New courses include glass blowing, personnel problems, advertising workshops, public relations, symphonic music, agricultural economics and Russian language.

Hours for registration will be 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. in Ridgley Library, except Saturdays, when hours will be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the old chapel in Brookings Hall.

DR. ORION W. BEDELL DIES

Funeral services for Dr. Orion W. Bedell, St. Louis dentist who died of a heart ailment Sunday at Columbus, O., will be held Thursday at 2 o'clock at Lafayette Park Baptist Church, Lafayette and Mississippi avenues, with burial in Sunset Burial Park. He was 76 years old.

Dr. Bedell had gone to Columbus with a daughter, Mrs. Ethel Sanford of San Francisco, to visit relatives. He lived at 3021 Allen avenue and had offices at 1504 South Grand boulevard. He is also survived by a son, Dr. Everett W. Bedell; a sister, Miss Bertha M. Bedell, and a grandson, Dr. Robert E. Bedell.

866,963 ATTENDED PARK OPERA THIS YEAR

Total 31,579 Higher Than Previous Record—142,960 at the 'Great Waltz.'

More persons attended the Municipal Opera this year at the Forest Park Outdoor Theater than ever before in the 28 years of opera history.

Total attendance for the season, which closed Sunday night, was 866,963. This was 31,579 more than the attendance in the previous record year, 1943. The "Great Waltz," the final show of the season, was seen by 142,960 persons, the largest number to be attracted by any of the productions this summer.

A new attendance record for a first production of the season, however, was set by the "Desert Song," which was seen by 111,839 person in its 11-night run.

Of the 88 scheduled performances, 86 took place, two having been rained out. Two performances also were canceled because of rain in 1943. The two performances rained out this year were of the "Wizard of Oz," Aug. 14 and 15.

Attendance at productions, in addition to the first and final shows, were: "Mary," 65,253; "Gypsy Love," 69,722; "Rosalie," 75,479; "Merry Widow," 75,635; "Lost Waltz," 68,237; "East Wind," 68,823; "Prince of Pilsen," 65,212; "Robin Hood," 70,708, and "Wizard of Oz," 53,095.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

THE Church of St. Michael and St. George will be candlelighted and decorated with white flowers for the wedding tonight of Miss Virginia Sims and Fred Carleton Forsman of Pasadena, Calif. After the Rev. C. George Widdifield, assistant rector, performs the ceremony at 8:30 o'clock the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey H. Sims, 7724 Shirley drive, will give a reception at Glen Echo Country Club.

The bride will be attired in ivory satin fashioned with a yoke of princess lace which previously adorned Mrs. Sims's wedding gown. The full skirt ends in a long train over which will cascade a tulle veil from a pearl-trimmed lace coronet. The bride will carry stephanotis and white orchids.

Attending the bride will be Miss Patricia Ann Weyforth, maid of honor, and Mrs. Harvey H. Sims Jr. of La Habra Heights, Calif., sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Jacqueline Sears, her cousin, bridesmaids. Their frocks will be yellow brocaded taffeta, similar to the bridal costume, with which they will wear matching mitts and carry white pompons with yellow centers. Their headpieces will be corresponding flowers on bandeaux.

Francis P. Graves of Alhambra, Calif., will be best man for the bridegroom, who was accompanied to St. Louis by his mother, Mrs. Stanton W. Forsman of Pasadena. Ushers will be William H. and Harvey Sims Jr., brothers of the bride, Robert Bardwell of Pittsfield, Mass., and Hunter Flack of Montgomery, Ala.

Before the club living-room mantel Mrs. Sims will receive in a pale blue gown with an orchid corsage and Mrs. Forsman in black lace and orchids. Out-of-town guests are Mrs. J. B. Suttles and Miss Harriet Little of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Flack and Mrs. L. H. Moore of Montgomery, Mrs. Bardwell of Pittsfield, Mrs. Harvey E. Stonehouse of La Habra Heights, Miss Corinne Baker of Davenport, Ia., Miss Ruth Barnes of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Jess Stevens of Venita, Okla.

The newly-wedded pair will live in San Francisco.

Mrs. Norbert W. Weber and Frank Eschen, special news events director of Radio Station KSD, were married this morning in the Blessed Sacrament Chapel of St. Louis Cathedral. The ceremony was performed by Msgr. Francis J. O'Connor, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, who officiated at the wedding of Mr. Eschen's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. John H. Eschen of St. Louis. Afterward the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Graham, 7026 Lindell boulevard, gave a family breakfast at Norwood Hills Country Club.

The bride, the former Miss Helen Graham, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Frederick R. Kinsley. Richard T. O'Brien was best man for Mr. Eschen. After a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Mr. Eschen and his bride will live at their new home, 2022 Urban drive, Brentwood. Mrs. Eschen is the widow of Pfc. Norbert W. Weber, an infantryman who was killed while serving in the Philippines.

MISS JANE FOSTER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Raleigh Foster of Benton, Ill., who have announced her engagement to Alexander Lewis Schmid, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Alexander Schmid, 504 Sherwood drive, Webster Groves. The wedding will take place in December.

MR. AND MRS. J. LESTER PARSONS of New York and Palm Beach, Fla., announce the engagement of Miss Harriet Boynton Wells, daughter of Mrs. Parsons and the late Lloyd Parker Wells of St. Louis, to F. Davis Gardner, son of Mrs. George Beavers of Syosset, L. I., and James E. Gardner of Holladay, Va.

After her graduation from Miss Porter's School, Farmington, Conn., Miss Wells attended the French School, New York. A granddaughter of the late Rolla Wells, she is a niece of Mrs. J. Clark Streett, Mrs. Tom K. Smith, Mrs. Elzey M. Roberts and Erastus Wells. She has one brother, Lloyd Parker Wells of Roxboro, Pa. Returning to St. Louis in June, 1941, Miss Wells was introduced to St. Louis society at a dance given at St. Louis Country Club by her mother. Their home here was at 4456 Maryland avenue.

Mr. Gardner is a graduate of St. Mark's School, Southborogh, Mass., Harvard College and Harvard Law School. During the war he served for two years in the Pacific as a transport and night-fighter pilot attached to the First Marine Aircraft Wing. He was discharged in March with the rank of captain after four and one-half years of active duty. He is a member of the Harvard and Racquet and Tennis Clubs of New York.

Cleveland Routs Ferens, Scores 4 Runs in Sixth to Beat Browns, 5-3

Errors by Stephens And Dillinger Are Costly in Opener

By Bob Broeg
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

SPORTSMAN'S Park, Sept. 3—Fireball Bob Feller, Cleveland's righthanded pitching star, came out of the bull-pen today to subdue the Browns as the Indians, bunching four of their eight hits for four runs in the sixth inning, took a 5 to 3 victory in the first game of a doubleheader.

Feller took the mound in the eighth inning, replacing Bob Lemon with two men on base and one out. The Indians' ace walked one batter, but he retired the side without scoring and then turned back the Browns again in the ninth with one run.

For five innings the game was a 1-1 duel and Stan Ferens, Brownie lefthander, had allowed only one unearned run and three hits. But in the sixth the visitors, seeking to protect sixth place used four hits, an intentional pass and the second of the Browns' four errors for four runs. Bob Muncrief relieved Ferens late in that frame and was followed by Frank Biscan.

Vern Stephens, who committed one of the Browns' four miscues, had two of the nine hits credited to Zach Taylor's club.

The attendance was estimated at 2500.

The umpires were McKinley, Boyer and Rommel.

The game:

FIRST INNING — INDIANS— Conwa, grounded out, Ferens to Dahlgren. Mackiewicz grounded out to Stephens. Ross flied to Judnich.

BROWNS—Dillinger grounded out to Conway. Zarilla singled to right-center. Berardino popped to Meyer. Meyer tossed out Heath.

SECOND — INDIANS — Fleming reached first on Dahlgren's fumble of his grounder. Seerey grounded into a double play, Dillinger to Berardino to Dahlgren. Meyer was called out on strikes.

BROWNS—Stephens singled to center. Judnich singled to right, sending Stephens to third. Dahlgren forced Judnich, Peters to Meyer, Stephens scoring. Helf grounded into a double play, Conway to Meyer to Fleming. ONE RUN.

THIRD — INDIANS — Peters flied to Zarilla. Hegan bounded out to Dillinger. Lemon walked. Conway singled over second, Lemon stopping at second. Mackiewicz beat out a hit to Dillinger, filling the bases, and when Dillinger threw past first base, Lemon scored and Conway reached third. Mackiewicz and Dahlgren collided on the play at first and the runner was shaken up momentarily. Ross flied to Heath. ONE RUN.

BROWNS—Ferens flied to Ross. Dillinger was thrown out by Meyer. Zarilla struck out.

FOURTH—INDIANS — Fleming singled off the right field screen but was out trying to stretch it, Zarilla to Stephens. Seerey reached first on Dillinger's fumble of his grounder. Meyer was called out on strikes. Peters grounded out to Berardino.

BROWNS—Berardino struck out. Heath walked. Stephens grounded to Meyer and was safe at first when Fleming missed the bag after taking the throw. Fleming knocked down Judnich's line drive and threw to Peters, forcing Stephens at second, Heath retreating to second base. Heath was then thrown out at third on a short passed ball, Hegan to Conway.

FIFTH—INDIANS—Hegan flied to Judnich. Lemon was called out on strikes. Conway flied to Heath.

BROWNS—Dahlgren grounded out to Conway. Helf beat out an infield hit to Conway and went to second when Conway threw past first. Ferens was called out on strikes. Peters threw out Dillinger.

SIXTH — INDIANS — Mackiewicz singled to left, Rose doubled down the third base line, Mackiewicz stopping at third. Fleming lined deep to Heath, Mackiewicz scoring after the catch. Seerey was intentionally passed. Meyer singled to center, scoring Ross and sending Seerey to third. Peters flied to Judnich, Seerey scoring after the catch. Hegan bounced a single over second, Meyer stopping at second. Muncrief replaced Ferens on the mound for the Browns. Stephens missed Lemon's grounder, Meyer scoring and Hegan reaching third. Conway forced Lemon, Stephens to Berardino. FOUR RUNS.

BROWNS — Zarilla grounded out to Fleming. Berardino struck out. Heath walked. Stephens lined to Seerey.

SEVENTH — INDANS—Dillinger threw out Mackiewicz. Ross lined to Stephens. Fleming lined deep to Judnich.

BROWNS — Judnich sent a short fly to Mackiewicz. Stevens batted for Dahlgren and walked. Helf bounced to Lemon who tossed him out. Lucadello batted for Muncrief and walked. Dillinger singled to center, scoring Stevens, Lucadello stopping at second. Zarilla struck out. ONE RUN.

EIGHTH — INDIANS — Stevens played first base, Biscan pitched for the Browns. Seerey fouled to Dillinger. Meyer walked. Peters flied to Judnich. Hegan lined a single to center, Meyer going to third. Lemon bounced out to Biscan.

BROWNS—Berardino singled to right. Heath's grounder touched Berardino's left foot. Umpire Rommel ruled that the base runner was out and Heath was credited with a hit. The putout was credited to second baseman Meyer. Stephens singled to center, Heath stopping at second. Lemon was replaced by Feller on the mound for the Indians. Judnich flied to Mackiewicz, Heath going to third after the catch. Stevens walked, filling the bases. Schultz batted for Helf and popped to Meyer.

NINTH — INDIANS — Schultz caught for the Browns. Conway flied to Zarilla. Mackiewicz popped to Stevens. Ross walked. Biscan threw out Fleming.

Servo, Unable to Fight Robinson, Loses Title

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission today declared Marty Servo's welterweight championship vacant because of the nose injury which the titleholder said would make it impossible for him to defend his title against Ray Robinson in Yankee Stadium Friday night.

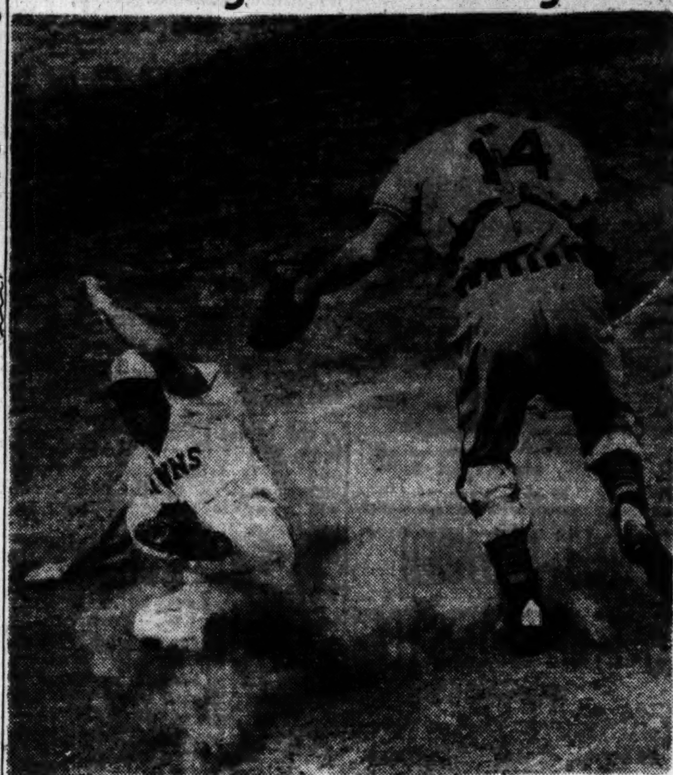

In taking away Servo's recognition as welterweight king, the commission declared it would open the title to a tournament among all the leading contenders.

Commission Chairman Eddie Eagen pointed out that the commission would not recognize Robinson as the champion but the Harlem boxer's trainer, George Gainsford, said he would bring his charge to the commission office on Friday for the weigh-in and examination for the canceled fight "just as if nothing had happened" and then "we will claim the title."

In taking its action the commission suspended Servo, Manager Al Weill and Trainer Charlie Goldman indefinitely.

AL ZARILLA, Browns' outfielder, slides safely over the plate with the first of eight runs in the eighth inning of the first game of the doubleheader with the Cleveland Indians yesterday which Zach Taylor's boys won, 9-2. CATCHER JIM HEGAN swings around too late to tag Zarilla, who dashed in from second base on Johnny Berardino's single.

Taylor-Made Stuff--Browns Too Serious to Enjoy Tribe Sideshow

By Robert Morrison

Zach Taylor, the Browns acting manager, had the Cleveland Indians at their wit's end in the Labor day doubleheader. It was an accomplishment because the Veeck road show had a lot of wits, counting all the half wits.

The shrewd coach, having replaced Luke Sewell who resigned Saturday and who perhaps from force of habit still was attending the games on Monday, checkmated the faltering Indians in a lengthy program.

The show, which entertained 11,944 cash customers on the holiday, began with the baseball acrobatics exhibition of the Indians' Jack Price, continued with the antics of Indian coaching comic Max Patkin, and concluded with darkness, mainly because the Veeck diversions failed to take Taylor's mind off his managerial business.

Yes, the Boys Were Serious.

Once the extra-curricular performers had withdrawn from the scene in each game, the Browns of Taylor battled gamely and won the opener with an eight-run eighth-inning rally, 9 to 2, and then saved a 13-inning 2-2 tie in the nightcap which was a nightcap.

The second game, knotted at one-all after nine innings, saw Taylor dashing frequently from the dugout to change pitchers after starter Sam Zoldak walked the leadoff Indian in the twelfth.

Three Brownie hurlers, Bob Muncrief, Frank Biscan and Tom Ferrick worked in that frame in which the Indians scored once, but the damage was repaired when Taylor's pinch-hitter Joe Schultz, drove in a run in the Brownie twelfth.

Old Stuff for Joe-Joe.

It was the second time during the day that Schultz was sent in to pinch hit and the second time he delivered. His two-run double in the Browns' eight-run eighth of the first game was a back-breaking blow even though somewhat unnecessary.

Denny Galehouse, credited with his seventh victory of the season, held sway over the Indians in the opener to the tune of two hits yielded in seven innings, and four in eight, but he gave way to a pinch hitter and Cliff Fannin finished the job.

Charley (Red) Embree was the frustrated Cleveland hurler in the second game as he allowed only six Brownie hits compared to the 12 made by his teammates.

But baseball was only part of the entertainment. One of the most amusing clowns appeared as the Indians' first base coach in early innings of each game—Max Patkin, who is another feature installed by showman-owner Bill Veeck.

Wasn't So Funny to Boudreau.

Patkin, funny enough to make Indian followers forget the club has lost 11 of its last 13 games, resembled in turn a penguin with a desire to fly, an ostrich stealing signals from a worm's eye view, a whammy inducer (when Pat Seerey hit his twenty-first homer off Galehouse), a pain in the neck to Manager Lou Boudreau (when Mack was picked off first base), and a triple-jointed, jerky-lerky mimic of batters and pitchers.

Ray Blades, former manager of the Cardinals, and currently pilot of St. Paul in the American Association, was a visitor at Sportsman's Park. His mother's illness called him away from the St. Paul club.

Motter Sold.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3 (AP)—Alec Motter, defenseman for the Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League, has been sold outright to the Springfield (Mass.) Indians, who are returning to the league after a war-enforced absence, Baron officials reported today.

Slaughter and Brazle Star as Redbirds Win Two Over Cincinnati

Home for two games with the Cubs, tomorrow and Thursday nights and four with the Pirates, Friday Saturday night and Sunday afernoon, before starting out on a trip to the four Eastern cities and Chicago, the Cardinals today enjoyed a two-and-a-half game lead over Brooklyn's Dodgers as they rested from their Labor day labors in Cincinnati which brought them 6-4 and 8-7 victories over the battling fifth-place Reds.

Those two gave the Cardinals their season's series from Bill McKechnie's team, 13 games to seven with two to be played here Sept. 24 and 25, but for a team which has lost to the Cardinals as often as have the Reds this year Cincinnati's club has been exceedingly tough to subdue.

It took some really great pitching by Alpha Brazle and some power hitting by Enos Slaughter and other Cards to bring the Red Birds through to their holiday triumphs which, combined with Brooklyn's even break at Philadelphia, restored the Cards' lead to two and a half games.

Alpha Two-Times Them.

Brazle relieved ably in each game after the starters, Johnny Beazley and Ken Burkhardt, had been blasted off the mound by booming Red hits, and was the winner in each.

But in the nightcap he also fell victim of the Reds savage attack and had to be rescued by Harry Brecheen with none out in the ninth and the tying run on second base.

Brecheen bailed his team out of trouble, three infield outs coming in rapid succession to end the game.

Slaughter drove in five runs in the two games with his twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth homers of the season, scored another after being given an intentional pass in the first game's first inning and also tallied another in the second game's fourth on Whitey Kurowski's single after ramming a double to right.

His three homers sailed into the right field bleachers, all lusty drives, as did Dick Sisler's slam off Harry Gumbert's pitching in the second game's eighth frame. Sisler's blow wound up as the winning run of that game.

Beazley Can't Stand Prosperity.

The Cards rushed into a three-run lead in the first inning of the first game with Erv Dusak driving in the final pair with a double then lengthened it to 5-1 on Slaughtre's homer in the third. But that lead wasn't big enough for Beazley who took the count when Ray Mueller doubled home three runs in the third to make it 5-4.

However, Clyde Kluttz doubled and Red Schoendienst singled for a quick run in the fourth to knock out Johnny Vander Meer and from then on that game was runless with Brazle and John Hetki pitching masterful two-hit ball for six innings each.

Burkhardt breezed through the first five innings of the nightcap, holding the Reds to one hit to make 28 successive rounds in four different games in which he had held Cincinnati scoreless.

But he retired none in the sixth, nor did Murry Dickson, his first reliever. A double by Bob Usher, a walk to Leslie Goldstein and singles by Claude Corbitt and Benny Zientara finished Burkhardt. Bobby Adams greeted Dickson with a double and Bert Haas followed with a triple as the Reds had tied the score at 5-5 with no one out.

Brazle then mosied out of the bull pen for the second time of the afternoon and all that the Reds got off his pitching until the ninth was a single by Ray Lamanno which scored Haas and shoved the Reds into a 6-5 lead.

In true Cardinal style Slaughter stepped up with two out in the seventh and hit a line-drive homer off Bob Malloy's pitching for two runs to put the Cards back in front for keeps and make Malloy the loser.

Howie Pollet is slated to clash with Hank Borowy on the mound tomorrow night. Who'll pitch Thursday night is something Eddie Dyer is pondering. His pitchers have taken plenty of punishment in the last few games.

Dyer brought a new pitcher home with him in the person of Al Papie, a husky righthander just in from the Lynchburg team. So if you see No. 42 ambling to the bull pen to get ready to relieve, it will be Papie.

Mrs. Smith and Carvell Win in Tri-State Finals

BURLINGTON, Ia., Sept. 3 (AP)—Allan Carvell, St. Louis, successfully defended his tri-state tournament men's singles tennis title yesterday by defeating Leonard Prosser, Kansas City, 6-1, 6-2.

Mrs. Wilma Smith, of St. Louis, defeated Mrs. Marcina Parker, St. Louis, 6-4, 6-2, to win the women's singles and Frank Sebree of Kansas City won the junior singles with a 6-3, 7-5 victory over Don Lewis, Fort Madison, Ia.

Chicago Cricket Club Beats St. Louis Again

The Illinois Cricket Club of Chicago yesterday scored its second consecutive victory over the Missouri Cricket Club, gaining a 84-to-39 triumph at Forest Park.

For Chicago, Douglas Catlin scored 21 runs before being stopped for having his leg before the wicket. For St. Louis, George Hepburn was high scorer with 15 runs.

Outstanding play was attributed to Chicago's Ibor Williams, who held St. Louis's George Wallace scoreless with his wicket keeping (catching) and who stopped Ernie Ebsworth with four runs.

Talbert Reaches Quarterfinals Of U.S. Tennis

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—Billy Talbert of Wilmington, Del., led the field into the quarter-finals of the national tennis championships today with a 6-4, 6-4, 8-6 victory over Earl Cocnell of Los Angeles in the opening match on the stadium court.

Talbert, fourth seeded player in the tournament and American Davis Cup nominee, was forced to trot out his best game to subdue the coast star, who displayed a telling service and an abundance of fight. His inability to keep Talbert away from the net on the vital points proved the decisive factor against him.

Pauline Betz, top seeded women's star, reached the quarter-final with an easy 6-1, 6-1 win over Katharine Winthrop of South Hamilton, Mass.

Mrs. Patricia Canning Todd of LaJolla, Calif., eliminated the last of the foreign women, Mrs. Kay Stammers Menzies of Britain, 6-0, 3-6, 6-4, in a long-drawn battle in the stadium that delighted a crowd of several thousand.

Mrs. Todd, sixth seeded among the American girls, raced through the first seven games of the match and appeared to have the British star outclassed, but suddenly the comely Kay hit the peak of her game and turned the thing into a dog-fight. The rest of the way almost every point was hard fought, with the result in doubt to the final winning placement by the American.

Louise Brough of Beverly Hills advanced at the expense of Nancy Morrison, a junior from Palm Beach, Fla., 6-2, 6-0. It was an easy win for the third-seeded player.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—Results of matches in the National Tennis Championships today:

MEN'S SINGLES (Fourth Round)
Bill Talbert, Wilmington, Del., defeated Earl Cochell, Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-4, 8-6.

WOMEN'S SINGLES (Third Round)

Louise Brough, Beverly Hills, Calif., defeated Nancy Morrison, Palm Beach, Fla., 6-2, 6-0.
Pat Todd, LaJolla, Calif., defeatey Kay Stammers, Menzies, England, 6-0, 3-6, 6-4.

VETERAN'S SINGLES (Second Round).
Karl Hodge, St. Louis, defeated Dickson Cunningham, Rahway, N. J., 6-4, 4-6, 6-1.
Herbert Fischer, Wayne, Pa., won from Sidney Adelstein, New York, by default.
Carl Fischer, Philadelphia, defeated John Kroel, Clinton, N. J., 6-1, 6-4.
Arthur Neilson, New York, defeated Arthur Montell, East Orange, N. J., 6-4, 6-2.

MIXED DOUBLES (First Round).
Rosemary Buck, Dallas, Tex., and Mark Brown, Miami, Fla., won from Mary Cunningham, El Paso, Tex., Richard Savitt, East Orange, N. J., by default.

Van Horn Wins Title.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 3 (AP)—Welby Van Horn of Atlanta won the Western North Carolina professional tennis tournament yesterday with a five-set victory over Frank Kovacs, 6-1, 6-2, 3-6, 1-6, 7-5. Kovacs took the court with Martin Buxby a moment later to turn back Bill Tilden and Jack Josi in the championship doubles match, 6-3, 2-6, 3-6, 7-5, 6-2.

Hogan Two Under Par on Last Three to Grab Title

Little Ben's '46 Earnings Now $35,877

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3 (AP)—Ben Hogan, with the $2500 first-place check in the Golden State Open tucked in his pocket, was en route home to Hershey, Pa., today to "rest and forget about golf for a while."

But local golf fans won't soon forget the comeback Bantam Ben made on the final round to win yesterday with a 72-hole total of 275, just one stroke ahead of Chick Harbert, Detroit.

Hogan rallied for birdies on the sixteenth and seventeenth holes, then parred the eighteenth to squeeze in ahead of Harbert, who carded a 66 earlier to assume the lead.

The "under pressure" performance was comparable to Hogan's uphill fight against Ed Oliver to win the P.G.A. championship little more than a week ago.

The victory increased Hogan's 1946 leading winnings to $35,877, and he was satisfied to pass up the special winner-take-all invitational next week end in Chicago involving United States Open Champion Lloyd Mangrum, British Open king Sam Snead and All-American winner Herman Barron. Byron Nelson will stand in for the man who supplanted him as P.G.A. titlist and top winner.

Hogan's rounds of 66-69-70-70 clipped nine strokes off par and was two blows better than the previous 72-hole California Country Club course record set by Nelson.

Second place was worth $1800 to Harbert—his biggest tournament take. Mangrum and Herman Keiser of Akron, O., deadlocked for third, two strokes behind Hogan at 277, and took $1250 apiece.

Tied for fifth at 278 and winning $950 each were Jack Gage, San Bernardino (Calif.) pro who ran second to Hogan through 54 holes, and Jimmy Demaret, Houston, Tex. Jim Ferrier, Chicago, finished with 280, good for $800. Barron, White Plains (N.Y.) veteran, was next with 281 and the $700 prize boosted him into second place in the 1946 money standings with $21,562.40, just ahead of Nelson.

Others cutting into the $15,000 melon, which was split 26 ways, included:

283—Joe Kirkwood Jr., Los Angeles, and Vic Ghezzi, Knoxville, Tenn., $550 each.

285—Barney Clark and George Fazio, Los Angeles; Jimmy Hines, Chicago; and Harry Bassler, Culver City, Calif., $375 each.

286—Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va.; Ed Oliver, Chicago; Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles; Jackson Bradley, Long Beach, Calif.; and Paul Runyan, Pasadena, $270 each.

287—Tony Penna, Cincinnati, O.; Ray Hanes, Monterey Park, Calif.; and Clayton Aleridge, Downey, Calif., $183.33.

SHORT WAVES

On the heels of the fastest American outdoor mile of year, GIL DODDS, the track-minded clergyman who forsook track athletics some months ago to participate more fully in his chosen calling, said today he would leave his college books at Wheaton (Ill.) College to compete on the indoor track circuit next winter. Dodds yesterday ran the Walter Scott Memorial mile at Brookline, Mass., in 4:12.5.

GIL DODDS

Captained by STEWART IGLEHART, the United States' only 10-goal rider, this country's polo team will line up, as follows, against Mexico in the first post-war international tournament Sunday at Westbury, N. Y.: MICHAEL PHIPPS, CECIL SMITH and PETER PERKINS, with PETE BOSTWICK and GEORGE OLIVER as alternates. . . . The Philadelphia Phillies yesterday set a new all-time Quaker City attendance record when their 34,951 crowd boosted the Philly Nationals' mark to 875,747. The previous high of 869,575 was set in 1929 by the American League Athletics.

SPENCER ABBOTT, veteran minor league manager, gained his eleventh pennant when his Charlotte (N. C.) Hornets of the Class B Tri-State League clinched their flag. Abbott now has won one more pennant than the late JOHN McGRAW achieved with the New York Giants. . . . LOUIS UNSER of Colorado Springs clipped six and one-half seconds off his own record as he won the annual automobile race up 14,110-foot Pikes Peak in 15 minutes, 28.7 seconds.

KING NAWAHI, 48-year-old blind Hawaiian, completed the choppy, 22-mile swim from Catalina island to the mainland in 22 hours and 20 minutes, about seven hours slower than GEORGE YOUNG'S 1927 record. Nawahi, who consumed only two thermos bottles of soup during the swim, overcame mild cramps about noon yesterday and finished at 9:51 last night—his direction maintained by the tinkle of a bell on his pilot boat.

A few race-track facts and figures, mostly figures: At DADE PARK in Kentucky Labor day betting of $297,544 brought the 26-day meeting total of pari-mutuel betting to $4,113,018. . . . At GARDEN STATE PARK, Camden, N. J., the one-day holiday play at the mutuel machines was a record-breaking $2,791,956. . . . And the 41,915 persons there viewed a coincidence, for Air Rate, with Harry Pratt up, nosed out Sea Snack and Tony's Find to win the Benjamin Franklin Handicap—just as the exact combinations finished a year ago in the Garden State Stakes.

TONY ZALE, weighing 163 pounds, began boxing today at Chicago in preparation for his once-postponed defense of his middleweight championship on Sept. 27 in New York. Zale will lay his title on the line against ROCKY GRAZIANO.

Softball Title Game.

Kutis and Lahm's, tied for first place in the men's division at St. Louis Softball Park, will meet tonight to decide the championship. Both teams have won 18 and lost two.

Bills Put Teeth Into Practice--Three of Them

By Bob Broeg

Three teeth were missing today on the football practice field at Walsh Stadium, but Dukes Duford was happy to pay the price of new porcelain pivots.

The reason: An aggressige scrimmage marked by hard tackling that brought from the Billikens' head coach a gleam of satisfaction and an expression of "mighty good."

About 500 visitors and a Good Humor Man yesterday watched St. Louis "A" squad scrimmage for the first time, and they saw an enthusiastic session in which Dick Milligan, a quarterback, lost two teeth and Ed Signaigo, a fullback, deposited one of his pearly best in cleat-torn turf.

The afternoon Labor day session brought forth what appeared a tentative first team of Phil O'Connor and Carl Weisner, ends; Herb Hartmann and Bob McMahon, tackles; Vern Kenny and John Kadlec, guards; Bob Sweeney, center; Don Luketich, quarterback; Bill Dolan and Eddie Donohue, halfbacks, and Ross Nagel, fullback. Weisner, Hartmann, Kenny, Luketich and Dolan are Billiken lettermen.

A feature of the rugged scrimmage was the robust play of 17-year-old Kadlec, one of the two youngest players on the squad and a guard last year for South Side Catholic. The capable twice-lettered Kenny, Kadlec's running mate at guard, grinned warmly between plays at the enthusiasm of the freshman lineman.

Parker, Kramer, Talbert, Mulloy On Cup Squad

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—The United States Davis Cup team which meets Sweden's tennis stars in the interzone finals at Forest Hills, Sept. 13-15, will be composed of Frank Parker, Jack Kramer, Billy Talbert and Gardnar Mulloy.

This lineup, announced yesterday by the selection committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, brings together the four top-seeded stars now playing in the national championships at Forest Hills.

Talbert and Mulloy won the national doubles title for the third time recently and the committee disclosed that it had withheld a final decision on its selections until after the doubles tourney was completed.

The Swedish team for the interzone matches will be Lennart Bergelin and Torsten Johansson. A third player accompanied the pair to this country but probably will be used only in case of an emergency since Bergelin and Johansson swept through the European zone eliminations without help.

The winners here will go to Australia in December to challenge for the trophy held there since the international series was last held in 1939.

Central's Crews Win Own Regatta

Tall Harold Winkelman, the tireless oarsman from Central Rowing Club, today was at his enthusiastic best, already looking forward to next Labor day and another invitational regetta sponsored by his organization.

Winkelman's eagerness resulted from a six-event rowing program witnessed by about 3000 persons yesterday at the Central Rowing Club's boathouse on the Mississippi. In addition, to Central, the St. Louis Rowing Club and Lincoln Park Chicago participated.

Host club Central gained victorious in five of the six events; John Adelsberger outstroked a field of four in the open singles to give St. Louis Rowing Club its only victory . . . and a new four-oar shell was christened in honor of Lee Henderson, a teacher of schoolboy rowing.

The results:

OPEN DOUBLES SCULLS—Won by John Winter and Charles McKenna, Central; John Adelsberger and Walter Schmidt, second. Time—6:15.
SINGLE SCHOOLBOY—Won by Bill Siemers, Beaumont; George Carlson, Lincoln Park, second; Larry Kickham, North Side Catholic, third. Time—6:22.
OPEN FOURS—Won by Central No. 1 (Earl Herbst, bow; Jim Linsham, No. 2; Bill Herrman, No. 3; Lee Klos, stroke). Central No. 2, second. Time—3:10.
SPECIAL DOUBLE—Won by Bill Siemers and Ed Rankin, Central; Harry Carlson and George Carlson, Lincoln Park, second. Time 5:46.
OPEN SINGLE—Won by John Adelsberger, St. Louis; Walter Schmidt, St. Louis, second; Charles McKenna, Central, third; Tom Dilg, St. Louis, fourth; Jim Kickham, Central, fifth. Time—6:46.

Michigan Semipros Win National Title

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 3 (AP)—The top-seeded St. Joseph (Mich.) Autos scored a second defeat over the Carmichael (Calif.) Firemen, 6-3, last night to win the 1946 National Semipro Baseball Championship.

Montgomery Rides His First Winner of Fairmount Meet

FAIRMONT RACE TRACK, Ill., Sept. 3—Bobby Montgomery, one of the most popular riders here last spring, booted his initial winner of the current season as he came home with Leapolino in the third race, sprint affair, on this afternoon's card. After Omanette had shook off Devil's Music after a half mile and assumed a two lengths lead in the stretch, Leapolino closed with a terrific rush to pass the favorite and win by three lengths.

Omanette was three parts of a length in front of Devil's Music for the place. As second choice Leapolino paid $3.20.

Last Waltz, an outsider in the wagering and well handled by the Cuban, Rafael Sanabria, led home the field in the opening race. At the finish, Last Waltz was two lengths ahead of the favorite, Dads, with the latter a like margin to the fore of Leap Year Lady. Last Waltz moved up to third place at the top of the stretch and easily held safe Dad's late bid. The winner paid $21.60.

When another outsider, Hi-Mona scampered home in the second race, the largest daily double of the meet resulted. The combination of Last Waltz and Hi-Mona returned $319.20—Hi-Mona, ridden by the promising apprentice Willie Badgett, raced in the third place behind Fuzzy Day and Merry Bid until the top of the stretch, then took command and won by two lengths. Hi-Mona paid $23.

Merry Bid took the place by a neck from Raymer C. The victory was Badgett's fourth of the young meeting.

With a total of $496,005 wagered on the first two big days of the meeting, Fairmount Park officials believe that the 27-day stand which goes into its first full week this afternoon will be one of the most successful ever held across the river.

A crowd of 19,953 fans yesterday sent $303,666 through the mutuel machines. The "handle" was the second largest in the last 15 years at the track. It was topped only by the mutuel waging last Decoration day when 21,960 fans bet $399,750. The opening day "handle" was $192,339 which was bet by 9925 fans.

Some of the briskest betting of the day came in the featured $2000 Labor day handicap, and while the public made Risky Hash the favorite, with Gourmet a second choice, they also sent plenty of money through the windows on Sashay Moon and Rodman Keenon. When it came to the actual running of the mile and a sixteenth contest, it was up to Sashay Moon and Rodman Keenon, which ran close up in Saturday's Inaugural to provide the thrills of the race as Risky Hash showed a disappointing effort to finish last.

Sashay Moon paid $12, $7 and $4.40; Rodman Keenon returned $7.40 and $4.80, while Gourmet paid $3.40.

The East St. Louis jockey, Bobby Cherry, has been set down for the rest of the meeting for an unsatisfactory ride on Broadhead last Saturday. The favorite finished third as Bin Bin triumphed. The stewards made the ruling between races yesterday.

Armed Sets New Mark in Victory

HOMEWOOD, Ill., Sept. 3 (UP)—Calumet Farm's Armed, racing's great handicap champion, won the nineteenth running of the Washington Park Handicap yesterday before the largest crowd in Illinois racing history.

The brown gelding, sired by Bull Lea out of Armful set a new track record for the mile and a quarter distance and defeated nine other top-ranking colts. He did it in 2:01, beating the old record set by Busher in the race last year of 2:01 4-5.

The race was worth $357,400 of which Warren Wright, Chicago, owner of Calumet's Farm, received $39,300.

Armed broke fourth from his No. 1 position and laid back of the pace most of the way, overtaking the front running Be Faithful at the stretch turn and winning easily by 3 and a quarter lengths. Challenge Me finished fast to take place and Take Wing was third with Be Faithful getting fourth.

The Calumet five-year-old performer, carrying 130 pounds, was the favorite and paid $3.60, $2.80 and $2.60 across the board. Challenge Me paid $3.40 and $3.40 while Take Wing returned $4.20 to show.

Guy Lombardo Hits a New Tune As Champion Speedboat Pilot

DETROIT, Sept. 3 (AP)—Band leader Guy Lombardo, coaxing sweet music out of the 12-cylinder Zumbach-Miller engine of his smooth-riding Tempo VI, stood alone at the head of the list of 1946 American speedboat drivers today after establishing a new speed record of 68.128 miles an hour in winning the first postwar renewal of the 90-mile gold cup classic on the Detroit river.

With a throng estimated at approximately 150,000 lining both shores of the three-mile egg-shaped course, Lombardo hung up a straight three-heat victory to add the prized Gold Cup, emblematic of the North American championship, to his national sweepstakes triumph of two weeks ago at Red Bank, N. J.

Lombardo thus swept the nation's two premier speedboat events of the year in his first season of major competition in Tempo VI, 24-foot Ventnor-built craft which as "My Sin" sped to the 1939 Gold Cup title under the guidance of Zalmon Simmons.

Shatters Own Record.

Tempo's average speed for the 90 miles broke its own record of 66.24 miles per hour, established by Simmons' 1939 victory and its average speed for the 30-mile final heat was 70.890, good enough to eclipse the old mark of 68.645 set in 1937 by Herb Mendelson in Notre Dame.

A broken oil line gave a dramatic though heart-breaking finishing touch to the race by forcing out Miss Golden Gate III, Oakland, Calif., entry of Dan Arena Jr., just two miles from the finish of the final heart after Arena had sent the spray-shooting West Coast speedster to a new lap record of 77.911 miles an hour midway of the last heat and was well on his way to a 30-mile Gold Cup speed mark.

Through nine laps of the last heat Arena, who finished second here in 1938 to Count Theo Rossi of Italy, had averaged 76.287 m.p.h., and would have finished close behind Lombardo for the 90 miles if he hadn't been forced out by loss of oil.

Of an original field of 17 starters from a list of 31 nominations only four boats completed the 90-mile race.

Failure of Miss Golden Gate gave second place to Gibson Bradfield's Buckeye Baby of Barnesville, O., which averaged 56.858 miles an hour and scored 694 points to Lombardo's winning 2000. Blitz II, owned and piloted by Robert A. Bogie of Brooklyn, N. Y., and the Saranac Lake Boat Club, averaged 57.822 m.p.h. but amassed only 577 points for third place and Aljo V, owned by Joe Van Blerck of Freeport, L. I., was fourth with 465 points and an average speed of 52.902 m.p.h.

The mortality rate was high, chiefly because this was the first renewal of the big race in six years and few of the speedsters had seen much action since 1940.

One Racer Turns Over.

One of the big disappointments was the failure of Ernie Wilson's Miss Canada III, 1939 President's Cup winner, which blew a supercharger in the qualifying run and failed to finish the first heat after hitting 69.30 m.p.h. on the first lap. Cam Fischer's Miss Cincinnati overturned negotiating a curve and was forced out of the trials. No one was injured.

Lou Fageol's So Long Jr., of Silver Lake, O., which finished only one three-mile lap of the big race, came back to win the 15-mile Silver Cup consolation heat with a speed of 63.399 miles an hour, beating Al Brinkman's Seabiscuit of Buffalo, N. Y., Joe Taggart's Tomyann IV of Canton, O., Jed Hanley's Malt 'n' Hops of Providence, R. I., and William G. Braden's Ariel II of Watertown, O., which finished in that order.

Dayton (O.) entries dominated two races for 135-cubic inch hydroplanes, John C. Cramer's Skid-Do averaging 52.436 m.p.h. for nine miles to pace an eight-boat field in a class for craft of better than 50 miles an hour and Merlyn Culver's Yankee Doodle II averaging 43.95 m.p.h. to win over five rivals in a class for craft of less than 50 miles an hour.

ADM. KING SAYS CANOL REPORT TWISTS FACTS

Asserts He Signed Project Papers for Leahy and Marshall.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Fleet Adm. Ernest J. King maintains there has been a "wilful distortion of facts" in criticism of him by the Senate War Investigation Committee. The former chief of naval operations was declared by the committee, headed by Senator Mead (Dem.), New York, to have backed Lt. Gen. Brehon Somervell when the latter recommended completion of the $133,000,000 Canol oil project in Canada during the war, despite the committee's objection.

"The crux of the matter is that I signed certain papers 'for the joint chiefs of staff' in the absence or non-availability of Admiral Leahy and of General Marshall," he said yesterday. "Therefore to attribute to me certain views as an individual which were in fact the views of the joint chiefs of staff as a body is misleading and incorrect."

Mead Says Adm. King Refused Canol Files to Senators.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Chairman Mead (Dem.), New York, asserted today that Adm. Ernest J. King had refused the Senate War Investigating Committee access in the files of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in connection with the controversial Canol project.

In a statement issued through committee offices here, Mead said King, wartime chief of naval operations, had refused a request by Harry S. Truman, then chairman of the committee, to open the files.

King took the position in a letter to Truman Dec. 16, 1943, Mead said, that the "national security might be endangered" by committee efforts to determine why the Joint Chiefs of Staff had ordered completion of the Canol oil project in Canada.

In order to clear the matter up, Mead said he would ask the committee "to extend an invitation to Adm. King to appear in a public hearing at the earliest possible date."

TEX JOHNSTON WINS NATIONAL AIR RACE AND SETS RECORD

Flies 373.9 M.P.H. in Regular Plane—Major First in Jet Event.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine)

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3 (AP)—The postwar renewal of the National Air Races ended here yesterday after the fastest competitive flying in aviation history.

Alvin (Tex) Johnston set a new record of 373.9 miles an hour average in the 300-mile Thompson trophy race for conventional planes and Maj. Gus Lundquist established a record of 515.8 miles an hour in the 180-mile event for jet-propelled aircraft.

Johnston, 32-year-old Niagara Falls (N.Y.) test pilot, flew a "souped-up" Bell P-39 Airacobra. Lundquist, a Chicagoan, flew a Lockheed P-80 Shooting Star. He led three similar Army jet fighters in the six-lap event. One jet was forced out and one was disqualified for cutting inside a pylon on the rectangular 30-mile course.

Prizes in the Thompson trophy event was spread among three types—the P-39, the Lockheed P-38 Lightning and the North American P-51 Mustang. The P-38 flown to second place by Tony Levier of Los Angeles, was the only two-engine plane in the race. Earl Ortman of Tulsa, Okla., was third in the P-51.

TWO POLICEMEN ARE INJURED WHEN CAB HITS SQUAD CAR

Two policemen, answering a call to investigate a burglar alarm, were injured last night when their squad car, struck by a taxicab at McPherson and Newstead avenues, hit a light standard and was thrown onto the terrace of an apartment.

Patrolman John Schnell, the driver, was knocked unconscious by the impact and suffered concussion of the brain, a sprained right elbow and rib injuries. His companion, Sgt. Edward J. Papin, suffered a sprained left shoulder and cuts of the left leg.

Wendell McHenry, driver of the taxicab operated by the Ace Cab Co., 4916 Delmar boulevard, was treated at City Hospital for abrasions of the right knee.

McHenry, who told police he lived at 2226 Olive street, was charged with failure to heed a stop sign, failure to give right of way to an emergency vehicle, destruction of city and private property, careless driving and driving while intoxicated. He was also booked for felonious wounding and felonious driving.

INDIANAPOLIS RACE WINNER KILLED IN ATLANTA CONTEST

ATLANTA, Sept. 3 (AP)—Two top-flight automobile racers were killed yesterday in a six-car pile-up as their supercharged speedsters roared into the northwest turn of the one-mile dirt track looping a pond at Atlanta's Lakewood Park.

The dead were George Robson of Glendale, Calif., winner of the 500-mile Indianapolis Memorial Day classic, and George Barringer of Indianapolis.

They died as their wives watched them race for first prize money of $3700 for the 100-mile event.

Robson had won $33,800 in cash at the Indianapolis race with a speed of 114.820 miles per hour.

BIDS ORDERED ON TRUNK SEWERS AT LAMBERT FIELD

The Board of Public Service directed today that bids be asked for construction of trunk sewers at Lambert-St. Louis Field. Cost of the project is estimated at $513,000 and bids must be turned in to the board by Oct. 1.

The sewers which will consist of 12,685 feet of pipe varying in diameter from 5½ to 13 feet will enclose two small tributaries of Coldwater Creek on the southeastern end of the field and will connect with two sewers now being built to enclose the main creek channel.

Construction plans also provide for surface drainage.

AUTOMOBILES WANTED

DON'T SELL YOUR CAR until you have seen us. Get other bids first, then let us give you an appraisal and see the difference in our price. This is no bunk. See for yourself. How do we do it? The answer is our low overhead enables us to do it. We buy all model cars from 1930s to 1942s. Chevrolets, Plymouths, Fords, Pontiacs, Buicks, Studebakers, Hudsons, Maxwells, Mitchells, even Stanley Steamers, Helicopters, or what have you? Five minutes of your time is all we need to buy your car. We need your car badly. We have many buyers waiting and must deal accordingly. Buyer always on hand, no waiting, no delay. Don't let your car sit in the garage unused. Sell it at today's high value. Prices are sure to drop soon. See us at once. We are in a position to pay more. CYRUS MOTOR CO., 3518 Lindell. NE. 9333, NE. 9334.

CALL MENDENHALL — Will pay high cash price; we will buy any make or model automobile, Fords, Chevrolets, Buicks, Pontiacs, Studebakers, Hudsons, Plymouths, Packards. 1932 to 1942; our fast turnover requires constant replacement of cars; you are passing up a good bet if you do not stop in and get our bid; we have a buyer on hand at all times; don't fail to see us. Come to one of St. Louis's oldest dealers and get a top cash price now; uncertain conditions today may mean money to you for that car you are not using. We have buyers waiting for your car and need all models badly. No waiting, no delay, bring your title and we can do business now. Call or see Bill Dugan, MENDENHALL, CE. 8200. Authorized Ford Dealer. 29th year at 2315 Locust.

CASH waiting for cars and trucks; top prices; we need 100 cars now; sell while they are scarce and high; we will buy one car or a dealer's entire stock; no car too old for us and we go anywhere; if out of town, write or phone us; cars bought in top condition, fair condition and poor condition; if your car will not run or you do not have license plates, our representative will call at your place and make our best offer; we need now, Hudsons, Terraplanes, Grahams, Nashes, Studebakers, Willys, Lincoln-Zephyrs and Packards; whatever make, year or model car you own, bring it here or call us and we will buy it without delay. Open 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. BATSON MOTOR CO., 2819 Gravois. LA. 3354.

DON'T BE FOOLISH—Get all you can for your car. We don't blame you for getting all you can, you are entitled to all you can get. SMALL LOAN COMPANIES

6% LOWEST RATE IN OUR HISTORY For over 59 years Commonwealth has specialized in loans to both single and married working men and women who wanted a loan on their auto, furniture or signature alone. Loans for any amount $10, $50, $100, $300, $500 or more.

CASH YOU GET	MONTHLY PAYMENTS 6 Mos.	12 Mos.	15 Mos.

500	84.80	43.03	39.68

Failure of the legislature to change the small loan law to fit the new constitution has left the working people of Missouri without adequate loan service until the legislature meets again in September. During this emergency Commonwealth is willing to make loans at 6% per annum, simple interest. This is the lowest rate ever offered in Missouri on loans of similar character by any financial institution, including banks, and Commonwealth is doing so at a substantial loss purely as an accommodation to the many deserving men and women of Missouri who will need money during this emergency. For quick service, phone first . . . the money will be waiting when you reach the office. 7-handy Offices-7. Downtown—605 Carleton Bldg., 308 N. 6th, GA. 3861. North Side — 2809 N. VETERANS' CENTER MOVING TOMORROW

Will Open on Thursday in Northwest Corner of Kiel Auditorium.

The Veterans' Service Center will be closed all day tomorrow, during which the offices will be moved from the Civil Courts Building to Kiel Auditorium, it was announced today by William K. Moors, director.

The center will open again Thursday in the northwest corner of the Auditorium. It will occupy Assembly Hall No. 2, an office on the first floor and converted storage space on the third floor.

Participating in the move will be 22 persons employed by the center itself and 40 representatives of agencies functioning in the center. The move was made necessary because the Civil Courts Building must be vacated to make room for the Magistrates Courts.

Moors today announced that more than 100,000 veterans have been served by the center since last Jan. 1. This includes 19,927 in August—the most for any month since the center was organized. This large volume included many veterans making application for unused furlough pay.

The center has found housing for 4121 veterans, but has received applications for housing from 12,847 veterans since Jan. 1. A total of 115 veterans came to the center in August to complain that they were being evicted from their homes.

OPA BOOSTS FACTORY PRICES OF LOW-COST WOOL FABRICS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (UP)—The OPA granted a 10 per cent increase in producers' prices of low-cost wool fabrics last night in an effort to boost supplies of moderately-priced men's, women's and children's clothing.

The OPA said that the increase is not expected to result in any "significant" increase in the average price of clothing since most items affected were not produced during the war.

"Because many of the prewar fabrics now out of production were more substantial than some now being made," OPA said, "their longer wearing qualities will provide additional savings to consumers."

OPA said the "incentive" price increase was similar to increases previously applied to shoes, certain cotton textiles and other apparel items. It emphasized that the "low-ends" increase was not required by the new OPA law.

mostly because the United States wants to hear Koreans' opinions before terms are written.

The United States, Britain and Russia had promised to get their troops out of Iran by March 1. Russia made no signs of clearing out, but after United Nations Council debates had inspired world headlines Russian troops cleared out by May.

9. At Yalta, the Big Three promised to kill off German militarism and to cut industry back to peace needs. In the past year Germany has operated as four separate zones. We and the British and French don't know what's going on in the Russian zone, despite the Big Three Potsdam promise that Germany would be run as an economic unit during occupation.

Recently Byrnes suggested both a four-power agreement to supervise Germany for 25 years and a four-power commission to investigate "demilitarization" in all four zones. Both bogged down in Russian protests.

10. At Yalta the Big Three promised to "concert their policies" in liberated areas. Since then Russia has blocked allied teamwork in middle Europe.

11. The Russians have been removing industrial equipment from Manchuria despite the fact that China was a friend.

12. The United States and Britain agreed to Russia's plea that two of the Soviet republics — the Ukraine and Byelo-Russia—be admitted to the United Nations as separate nations. That confused the principles adopted for U. N. membership. Russia now is pressing for membership for Outer Mongolia.

13. Recently Russia asked that Greece give a slice of land to Bulgaria. Greece was an ally. Bulgaria was an enemy.

14. Through all the recent international meetings Russia has fought to limit the number of nations making decisions, and then fought to impose those decisions on all the other nations. For the most part the United States has won wider deliberations.

characteristic of Soviet economic planning from the very beginning.

Freedom—"If the Soviet attitude toward the press were to be applied in the United States all private printing would be forbidden. A Government board would be set up to control all printing, publishing and literary activities. All publications would be strictly official and would be regarded as instruments of party propaganda and would be financed by the government or the Communist party. Freedom of speech and of religion, regarded as fundamental in the United States, are, as one writer states, 'purely coincidental' in the Soviet Union."

Religion—"Though the Soviet government stresses the separation of church and state, it is virtually impossible for anything to exist apart from the state under the Soviet system."

plants between June 6 and Aug. 21; also last week's strike at Nash. This is not to say that the unions are all wrong and management is all right. It is to say that mutual understanding is more important than signatures on a scrap of paper. But investors are becoming increasingly aware that such understanding is still far off.

And then there is the matter of business, itself, to worry investors. An increasing number of economists and statisticians are expressing the opinion that some time in 1947, the country will suffer an industrial setback—a la 1919 and 1920.. The general theory is that business men will get over-inventoried, that prices will get up too high, and that a stop-buying period will result. Accordingly, profits will drop. So some investors argue: "Okay, maybe second half profits for this year may break all records. But what's the percentage in buying into an expected decline in profits later on?"

Finally, there's Russia. No one expected peace to easy. Everyone expected disputes and compromises by all sides—Great Britain, Russia and the United States. But few expected that Russia's demands would push the United States and Britain into a stop-the-Soviet advance. Yet now it's hard to escape concluding that the world is dividing into two blocs, perhaps two armed camps.

The performance of the market since May of this year bears some resemblance to the nervous markets of late 1938 through the autumn of 1939. The spasmodic ups and downs then mirrored investor anxiety over the widening gulf between Hitler's demands and the patience of Daladier and Chamberlain. Yet all the while United States production was rebounding from the swift depression of 1937 just as now production is recovering from the cutback depression of mid-1945.

Thus the main ingredients of the stock market downtrend—some technicians go so far as to call it a bear market — are three: labor uncertainty; the possibility of a business setback next year; and the deterioration in Soviet-American relations. To which might be added a not-to-be-overlooked fourth, the market got ahead of itself.

Apparently, the dream of 1946 was too lofty for the reality. And the work-out of reconversion — the frustration, the delays, the wage disputes, and the threat of more wage demands—reawakened all the dormant fears of the '30s: is capitalism a moribund way of life?

Yet this reality remains: underlying conditions today are much the same as they were three months ago or even six months ago. In truth, they're better: major strikes are behind and production is rolling. What's more, unrequited demand for homes, for clothes, for machinery is great. That constitutes the nation's cushion against adversity. In the face of that, can we be in a bear market?

PETRILLO ORDERS NEW YORK MUSICIANS' STRIKE EXTENDED

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—Eight New York hotels were authorized today by the AFL American Federation of Musicians to continue furnishing music to patrons as James C. Petrillo, union president, moved to extend a strike of musicians to 50 hotels in other cities "within the next few days."

Richard McCann, president of Local 802, said the eight hotels had agreed to abide by the terms of any settlement that might be reached by the union and the main group of struck hotels here and to make the settlement retroactive to Sept. 2.

He listed the hotels as the Victoria, George Washington, Elysee, Belvedere, Henry Hudson, Madison, Montague and Dixie.

Petrillo said in a news conference last night that he had given strike orders to the Palmer House and the Stevens Hotel in Chicago, members of the Hilton chain.

Petrillo declined to name the cities and hotels he said might be affected later.

TWO ST. LOUIS GIRLS NAMED 'MOST IDENTICAL' TWINS

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 1 (AP)—Mary and Martha Coil, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Coil, 3755 Shreve avenue, St. Louis, were elected the "most identical" twins under 18 years of age Sunday at the annual convention of the International Twin's Association here. They are 16 years old.

Other St. Louisans elected were Ted and John Kaminski, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kaminski, 3643A Arkansas avenue, co-vice presidents; and Harvey and Jerry Schneider, "most unlike boys over 18 years old."

Delegates to the convention, representing all sections of the country, range in age from six weeks to 87 years.

CHALLENGE IGNORED, RUSSIAN IS KILLED BY U.S. SENTRY

BERLIN, Sept. 3 (AP)—A Russian sergeant was shot to death yesterday by an American sentry when the automobile in which he was riding failed to heed repeated challenges to halt at the entrance to a United States army ammunition depot, the American Provost Marshal's office said today.

The sentry who fired the shot was Pvt. William Hicks of Delmar, Ala., the announcement said.

Investigators said the sergeant, accompanied by a Red army captain, was riding in a German taxicab driven by a German civilian. The sentry reported he challenged the party at the main gate of the depot. When this challenge was disregarded and the car drove through the gate, he said, he called again repeatedl. When the automobile was 50 yards inside he fired.

bedside chat with his son, who later wrote:

"'I'm talking about another war, Elliott!' His voice was suddenly sharp. 'I'm talking about what will happen to our world, if after this war we allow millions of people to slide back into semislavery. Don't think for a minute that Americans would be dying in the Pacific tonight if it hadn't been for the shortsighted greed of the French and the British and the Dutch!'"

Opinion of De Gaulle, Giraud.

Roosevelt distrusted De Gaulle, his son revealed, and felt that he was out to "achieve a one-man government" in France. Nevertheless Roosevelt virtually forced Churchill to bring De Gaulle to Casablanca from London—and arranged the meeting between De Gaulle and his rival, Gen. Henri Giraud. The President had little liking for Giraud, either.

"I'm afraid we're leaning on a very slender reed," Roosevelt said. "He's a dud as an administrator; he'll be a dud as a leader."

At one time in the conference the President said at a luncheon table that he intended "going up front." Gen. Eisenhower explained that a fighter escort around a C-54 would draw German attack planes "like flies to honey," and the President showed disappointment, but did not press the matter.

At another luncheon the term "unconditional surrender" was born, Elliott said, adding that his father suggested it. Only the President, Churchill, Harry Hopkins and the younger Roosevelt were at the luncheon.

Just before he left Casablanca, the President told Elliott that he had made clear to Churchill that the United States was not in the war "just to help them hang on to the archaic, medieval empire ideas."

"I hope they realize, after we've won," Roosevelt said, "that we're not going to sit by and watch their system stultify the growth of every country in Asia and half of Europe."

Russian Deplores Anti-Soviet Statements by Congressmen.

TOKYO, Sept. 3 (UP)—Soviet spokesman Konstantin Popov today attacked statements made by visiting United States congressmen that Russia was campaigning for Communism in the Far East and was "menacing" the position of the United States and Great Britain.

Such statements, Popov said, "are to be deplored. I am not aware of the facts upon which the congressmen based their convictions, but I can say on behalf of the Soviet Union that such declarations do not contribute to the cause of smooth collaboration among the allied powers."

HOUSEHOLD'S present rate is ½% per month on unpaid balances. No other costs. The new Missouri constitution, according to a recent court decision, places in doubt the legality of instalment loans made since July 1, 1946, by loan companies, loan and investment companies, credit unions, pawn brokers and banks if more than 8% per annum true interest is charged.

Unprofitable rate

A small loan service cannot be rendered the public profitably at this rate. Illegal lenders have already started to charge small borrowers exceedingly high rates. To protect these borrowers, Household will make temporary loans of $20 to $1000 on salary, car or furniture, at the low rate of ½% per month on unpaid balances, even though every loan made at this rate is at a substantial loss.

Believing that the legislature, when it meets, will enact a workable loan law, we are willing to give a loan service during the emergency.

At our ½% per month rate, for example, a $100 loan repaid in six monthly instalments as shown, a total of $101.76, costs only $1.76 . . . if repaid in one month the full cost is only 50c. For quick information, phone or visit the office nearest you.

Touring Western Canada

'Fill 'er Up With Imperial Gallons'

By Richard G. Baumhoff

Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

FIELD, British Columbia, Sept. 3.

COUNTLESS Americans have been driving to this breath-takingly beautiful section of Canada in this first postwar vacation season, but few have come by the route we have followed.

The rest have missed a pleasant, interesting variation of transcontinental travel, which should and will become better known.

For 1700 miles or more we journeyed across five provinces, from the green hills and blue waters of the Lake of the Woods region, through the vast silvery-gold fields of the wheat harvest, and into the ice-capped mountains of the Continental Divide. In this stretch, between Kenora, Ont. and Jasper Park, we saw scarcely two dozen cars from the States.

FROM ALL SORTS of sources, including motor agencies, we heard about the "terrible," war-neglected highways of Canada, with the suggestion in varying degree of urgency that we avoid them. Well, we have been covering 40 to 45 miles, on the average, for every hour of travel, with easy driving at top speed of 60 per. Nothing on the car has been broken and the only flat tire was suffered on the paved streets of a large city.

But more thrilling was the "discovery" of the Jasper-Banff Highway, along the ridge of North America, past the Columbia Icefields, whose slowly melting glaciers flow to the Arctic, the Pacific and Hudson's Bay. This fine road has been open to travel only since 1940, and consequently few wandering motorists from St. Louis have seen it.

FOR ALMOST 200 MILES this route runs through an unending panorama of majestic mountains and rushing, icy waters of the Athabaska, Saskatchewan and Bow rivers. From the western side of the divide the streams tumble into the Columbia river. Here, near Field, where a glacial landslide temporarily blocked the Trans-Canada Highway and three levels of the Canadian Pacific Railroad only this month, a fine branch road leads to the foot of the 1200-foot Takakkaw Falls in Yoho Valley. This sheer, roaring drop down a rocky cliff is entitled to claim its place among the notable sights of the world.

WHILE THERE ARE some fine, long stretches of blacktop paving on the Canadian roads, the greater part of what we have encountered is gravel, comparing favorably with the graveled state highways of the Missouri Ozarks. Possibly these Canadian roads were neglected during the war, but considerable improvement is going on now, and there is steady and intelligent maintenance with modern machinery.

Incidentally, the Canadians say that September and even early October offer some of the most delightful time for travel here, although many of the better known resorts close by mid-September. Hotels are good, meals are fine, prices reasonable, and the people unfailingly pleasant and accommodating to Yankees.

ST. LOUIS GARDENERS would go wild with envy over the flowers, not only in the mountains, but also in the great prairie cities of Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Edmonton, and the little towns. The soil is a rich, black, sandy loam, requiring no fertilizer to yield a great variety and profusion of blooms all summer, to say nothing of the untold millions of bushels of fine wheat now finding its way to the thousands of elevators that line the route.

And the cities have something of a metropolitan air about them. Take Edmonton, as far north as Labrador. It has a big modern airport, destined to be a crossroads of the world in the new aerial conception of geography.

It also is the outlet to the Alaska Highway. All sorts of information has been printed about this thoroughfare, which is still under military control, and most of the dope has been that it is far from ready for travel. We ran across two Alaskans in Jasper Park, who had just driven down in their own car, on the way to Missouri for their first visit in 29 years—a somewhat elderly cousin of former Gov. Elliott Major of Missouri, and his wife. They declared that they found good hotel, eating and motor accommodations all the way, and that the 1500-mile Alaska Highway was better than the 240 miles of the Edmonton-Jasper road, which we had just traversed in five easy hours.

THE PRAIRIE SECTION across Canada was in some respects more interesting and certainly far more fertile than the American states of the Great Plains. And it affords a glimpse at places which used to be only oddities of the map, such as the French villages of Manitoba; Qu'Appelle, Moose Jaw and Swift Current, Sask., and Medicine Hat, Alta. Medicine Hat has municipal natural gas wells beneath its site and a city hydro-electric plant on Oldman—unfortunately not Old Man—river, which supply the residents and factories at rates comparing quite favorably with those of St. Louis.

In Saskatchewan and Alberta there is talk, and some action, concerning dams and other engineering works to control the big streams in the next basin north of our own Missouri valley, which seem to echo "MVA" and "Pick-Sloan."

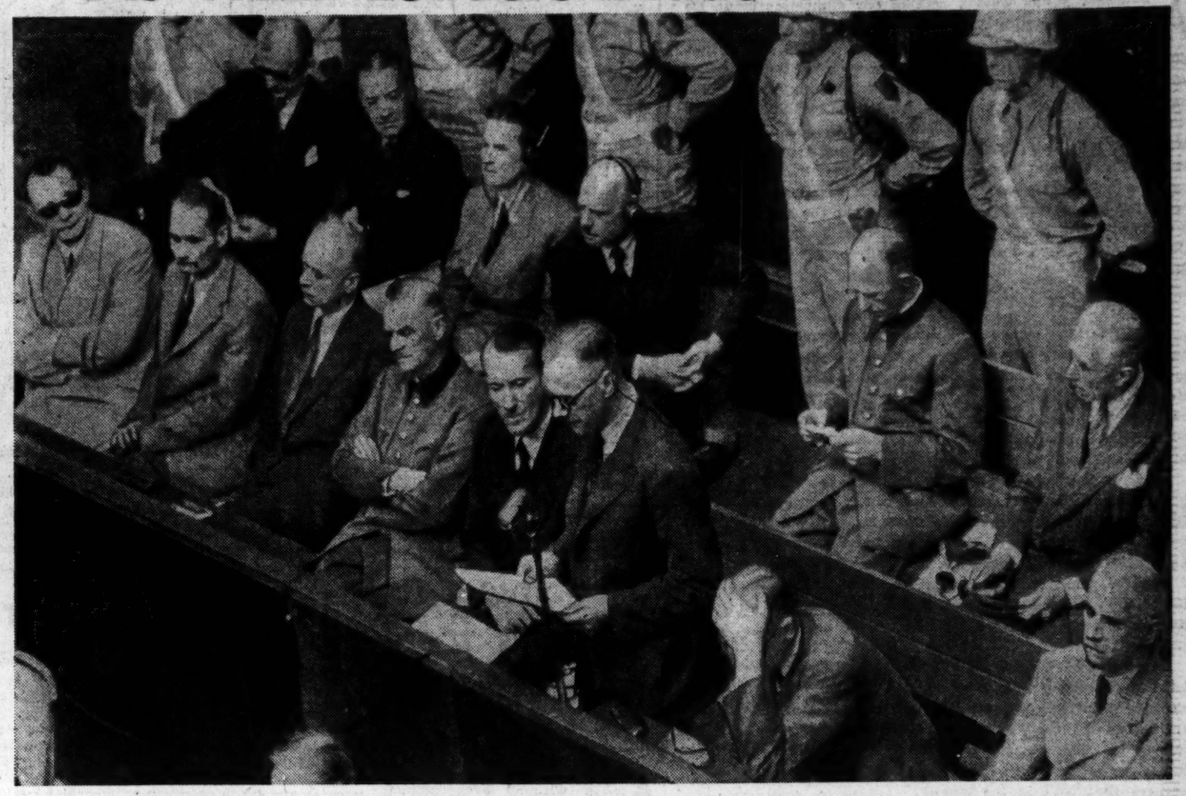

Ahead of us in British Columbia lies the new Big Bend highway along the Columbia river, opened to through travel since the start of World War II as the final link of the Trans-Canada Highway. The boulevard drivers say it, too, is "terrible" but the Canadians tell us it's a boulevard compared with what we have already been over. Fill 'er up with imperial gallons!

TWO RACING DRIVERS KILLED The cars in which George Robson and George Barringer, veteran racing drivers, were killed, lie on the track at Lakewood Park, Atlanta, a few minutes after a multiple pile-up witnessed by nearly 30,000 persons yesterday. Robson, who was driving car at left, was the winner of the 1946 Indianapolis Memorial day classic. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

AUTO UPSET IN CRASH; DRIVER ONLY BRUISED Mrs. Theresa Reinner of Collinsville, Ill., escaped with minor bruises today when this automobile she was driving collided with another at North Pointe boulevard and Mimika avenue and overturned. She was treated and released at City Hospital. Her machine was in collision with one driven by John M. Meyer, 8734 Oriole avenue. —By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

BROADWAY

By JACK LAIT

(Substituting for Walter Winchell)

Tale of Two Cities—Plus Hollywood

A BRIGHT young woman sent in her name—Marianne De Graff, representing the Brooklyn Eagle. She wanted to "interview" me. I took her to lunch at the Palm, that picturesque hangout for our craft, around the corner. The youngster wanted to know about the forthcoming book—which hasn't been announced, but of which her editor had heard.

It's "New York—Confidential," a collaboration with Lee Mortimer, now being printed for Readers Press, and due, I think, in a fortnight or so. She wanted especially to ask about our treatment of Brooklyn. Well, I had to admit we rather neglected the big borough over the river, as the subject-matter is concentrated largely on Manhattan — Greenwich Village, Chinatown, Harlem, Park Avenue, and, especially Broadway. She asked:

"But—you're a Chicagoan, aren't you?"

I SUPPOSE, judging from my recent paragraphs, I am Chicago-minded. But I was a New Yorker in the first instance, moved to Chicago when I was 12, spent 18 happy years there, started my professional career there, loved that city as only an impressionable boy, growing to manhood in a community which treated him generously, where he was married and where his children were born, could love a place.

I have been a New Yorker again for more years than I had spent in Chicago. I returned here a virtual stranger. The Big Burg fascinated me. I had more Broadway contacts than most New Yorkers, for all the big shots had to come to Chicago, and there they were lonesome, and they were glad to mingle. I was for years on Variety—not fulltime—and I talked their lingo. But, beyond theatrical personalities, it was all pretty new to me.

IN "NEW YORK—CONFIDENTIAL," Mortimer (who was born in Chicago) and I have tried to set down what isn't in the guide-books. There's practically nothing about Grant's Tomb, the Statue of Liberty or the Empire State Building. But there's lots of lowdown on where the tourists can't crash, with case histories that aren't in the Sunday supplements and backstage scenery that isn't in the movies.

We will follow this up with "Hollywood—Confidential." I'm going there again this week, on my sixty-seventh visit. I have a home there. Mortimer, the Mirror movie reviewer and reporter, as well as the nightlife columnist, has been there many times, too. Then we will go all out—for the third of the series will be "Chicago—Confidential." That's one into which we'll really throw our hearts.

CHICAGO HAS CHANGED MUCH. The war affected its social life more than it did most big cities. And it has been undergoing metamorphoses for years. I have been there scores of times in a score of years. I noticed the changes a lot more than the natives there could. These we will study first-hand. Then, with the old Chicago that we knew as atmosphere for contrast, parallel and relief, we should knock off a revealing book.

There I lived through the gestation and birth of gangsterism as we now know it; there, also, I met the finest, squarest, liveliest and most colorful Americans of my life. That's one huge metropolis where one knows his neighbors; where everything is on a colossal scale, but nothing as much so as friendships; where we played harder, drank harder, worked harder, moved faster and lived more intensely than New York ever did or could.

Yes, I guess Marianne De Graff was right. I'm still a Chicagoan—Confidential!

A CRISIS IS IMMINENT in the domestic affairs of the John Jacob Astors . . . Virgo, the model, calling it all a mistake after one week of marriage. . . . Midtown hotels are still clearing out permanent guests! Some refuse to rent rooms that can accommodate two as singles—at less than the double rate. . . . Platinum, up from $60 to $90 an ounce, will go to $120, jewelers anticipate. . . . Swedish filmagnate Gustav Walley is here to line up acting talent. . . . Faith Dorn, Howard Hughes's movie protege, whose name he spent a fortune to ballyhoo, will be billed in Preston Sturges's "Vendetta" as Faith Domergue. . . . Col. Charles Lindbergh is occupied with a new scientific experiment, nothing to do with aviation.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

IN my column a short while ago a reader described the families of a newlywed couple who questioned them about what they paid for each of their possessions. Today, another reader, referring to this, asks: "Will you settle a discussion about the words 'curiosity' and 'interest'? If there is any difference, what is it?"

The difference is vast. "Interest" is a warm-hearted, unselfish response to whatever concerns a friend. "Curiosity," on the other hand, is a cold-hearted prying into the concerns of those for whom you care nothing.

DEAR MRS. POST: I would like to be married at home because our house is large and would lend itself very well to a wedding. One of my best friends, whom I just invited to be a bridesmaid, writes me that a "house wedding lacks beauty and dignity and that organ music is essential." What shall I do?

Answer: A house wedding can be dignified as well as beautiful. Moreover, there are excellent phonograph records, purposely transcribed for weddings, so that the most beautiful organ music imaginable is available to all who have (or can borrow) a good phonograph.

DEAR MRS. POST: Will you tell us which should be served first in a sea-food dinner: Steamed clams or chowder? Yes, believe it or not, both are served at the same meal in New England! The debate is whether the steamed clams are considered the same as a sea-food cocktail or as an entree?

Answer: The chowder usually is served first. In other words, consider the steamed clams as an entree and chowder as soup.

DEAR MRS. POST: Would it be possible to send out wedding announcements before the wedding? We're being married quietly before sailing for Germany and since we cannot invite many people, we, at least, would like them to know beforehand. Is there some wording you could suggest for us?

Answer: You can send an announcement of something only after it has happened. You can write or tell people you are going to be married quietly on such and such a day, but not that you are going to have a wedding.

Economical Menus for Tomorrow

By Meta Given

AN extra delicious soup can be made without even coming near heat. Just take luscious red tomatoes that have ripened on the vines in the sun, wash, chop and make a puree. Then instead of making up a white sauce with regular milk, use sour cream instead. The lively luscious tasting puree combines with the cream to produce a soup or cocktail of wonderful appearance and flavor. And not any fancy seasoning is required to induce the family to approve it. It will be welcome on any sultry day as an invigorating meal starter. It will take only a jiffy to make the soup if you have a food mill to make the puree. It will take somewhat longer if you have to push tomatoes through a sieve with a wooden spoon. A food mill is a real investment for the woman who does all around cooking; it can be used to make many a task lighter and less messy.

Cream of Tomato Soup

One quart fresh tomato puree, chilled, ½ pint sour cream, chilled, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper to taste, celery salt to taste.

Combine all ingredients in chilled bowl, beat thoroughly with beater and serve in soup dishes or juice glasses. Four servings.

Menus for Tuesday.

Breakfast—Honey dew melon with lime wedges, pan-fried ham slice, fried eggs, buttered rye toast.

Luncheon—Cream of fresh tomato soup, olive and nut sandwiches, fresh pears.

Blueberry Upside-Down Cake.

Sift all-purpose flour, measure one and one-half cups and resift with one-half teaspoon salt, three tablespoons cream of tartar, one-half teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon baking powder. Cream one-half cup shortening with one cup sugar and one-half teaspoon cinnamon until fluffy. Add two beaten eggs. Add one-half cup milk alternately with the dry ingredients, beating well after each addition. Gently fold in two cups blueberries. Pour into a buttered nine-inch square cake pan. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 45 minutes. Serve warm or cold with lemon sauce. Eight servings.

Lemon Sauce.

Combine one tablespoon cornstarch, three-fourths cup sugar and a dash of salt. Add three-fourths cup water. Bring to a boil over direct heat, stirring constantly until mixture boils and thickens. Stir into one beaten egg yolk. Return to pan and cook two minutes longer, add one tablespoon butter and stir well. Beat egg white until stiff, fold into the hot mixture. Add two tablespoons lemon juice. Stir until blended. Serve hot or cold.

Try and Stop Me

NO joke collection is complete without at least one Abraham Lincoln joke. Here it is. Young Abe took a sack of grain to a mill whose proprietor was known as the laziest soul in Illinois.

After watching the miller at work for a while, Abe commented dryly, "I can eat that grain as fast as you're grinding it."

"Indeed," grunted the miller. "And how long do you think you could keep that up?"

"Until I starved to death," said Lincoln.

"So you like my pooch," beamed the sportily-attired gent. "I'm glad. It cost $1000. Very rare breed. Part schnauzer. Part bull."

"Amazing," clucked the lady he had just met. "Which part is bull?"

The gent broke down. "The part about the $1000," he confided.

My son, Ch[illegible], pulled his first joke on his fourth birthday. "What comes after 75?" he demanded. "Seventy-six," I said indulgently. "That's the spirit," cried Chris, and rolled on the floor with laughter. He takes after his mother.

'This Is My Father's World'

By Elsie Robinson

THERE'S a character on the West Coast who has been getting in the hair of every broadcasting station. He wants to preach atheism over the air.

His little heart is simply set upon it and he is raising particular cain because the broadcasting boys won't let him.

He has even gone to the extent of trying to force some sort of bill through the legislature which will permit him to indulge in his peculiar indoor sport. They turned him down on a technicality but not because he wished to spout atheism. Evidently they thought that was included in the Bill of Rights.

I DO NOT KNOW whether this man will or will not eventually hit the wave lengths but I shall certainly do my feeble best to laugh him off the beam at every opportunity. Atheism has long been a favorite topic for every crackpot and smartypants who wanted to attract an audience. But there's just about as much sense to it as there is to the antics of "human flies" or dance marathons.

No God?

Why, God is demonstrated on every leaf and pebble—from the smallest grain of sand to the untrodden vastness of the Arctic wastes.

You cannot touch a thing on this earth, particularly a human thing, without touching God. Upon every surface, however humble, lies the copyright of His majestic plan. The simplest weed is beyond the comprehension of the greatest scientific brain. We moderns who consider ourselves so smart are only children fumbling at the fringes of His far flung wisdom and beauty.

NOTHING in this world or in the universes around us could by any possibility have "just happened." Everywhere there is mathematical order and system.

Deny God?

You might as well go out and spit at Mars. If you must make a clown of yourself, learn some other parlor trick but don't shove your chest out at the Source of Life.

Even the ancient Romans who were, on the whole, a pretty stupid bunch of bloody barbarians, knew better than that. Amongst all their strip tease altars to their burlesque gods they placed one simple shrine dedicated to "The Unknown God."

Atheism?

Phooey!

MY DAY

By Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Monday.

THERE are two professions which evidently no longer appeal to either men or women, and yet in the past they were the two which drew the most intelligent people—people who wanted not only to make money but to be of real service in the world. One is the teaching profession and the other is the nursing profession.

In the teaching profession, it is especially difficult to get men, who feel that they must earn an adequate living for themselves and their families. Even women, however, are not going into this profession the way they once did. The World Conference of Teachers held recently at Endicott, N.Y., showed that this was a major difficulty in all English-speaking countries. Great Britain, Canada and the United States have the biggest shortages, but the shortage in the profession exists all over the world.

IT IS a major catastrophe for the future. One of our metropolitan newspapers says that the first thing to do is to give teachers adequate pay. This unfortunately cannot be done unless throughout our communities we change the status of the teacher. In the past, even in the early days of this country, the traveling teacher — who had only a few books and only taught here and there for a few weeks at a time—was given a standing and was looked upon with such deep respect that his position was envied by all. With the growth of our material and industrial civilization, this respect for learning has changed. Teaching must bring returns more nearly comparable with those in business for teaching to be a respected profession and attract able young people.

In addition, the teaching profession will have to be granted freedom of thought and action. School boards cannot control the minds of their teachers. No one with self-respect will be a teacher under such circumstances.

THE NURSING PROFESSION affects women far more than men, since comparatively few men take up this profession. But today nurses are needed in public health, in industry and in state and federal institutions, and they require far better training than in the past. It is not just home nursing that is suffering, or even private patients in hospitals. It is the whole community.

Here again, better pay would seem to be a factor, though in some cases nurses now have adequate working conditions and adequate pay. It is opportunities for advancement and for standing in the community, however, that will probably attract the young people to this profession.

Field crickets normally live outdoors and feed on vegetation.

Today's Pattern

SIZES
14-20
32-42

For your busy life . . . a button-front dress with a rely-on-me look and a feminine air. Pattern 4502 is a classic shirtwaist brilliantly designed for a slim and lovely you.

This pattern, easy to use, simple to sew, is tested for fit. Includes complete illustrated instructions.

Send 25 cents in coins for this pattern to The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Pattern Dept., P. O. Box 121, Station 0, New York 11, N. Y. Print NAME, ADDRESS, ZONE, SIZE, STYLE NUMBER.

Just out . . . the new Anne Adams fall and winter 1946-47 Pattern Book! Send 15 cents more for your copy now! It will bring you fashions for the whole family . . . plus a free pattern for girl's hat and bag set printed right in book.

Be tray conscious. A big sturdy tray makes it possible to clear the dinner table and bring everything out to the kitchen in just one trip. Once you've tried a "tote" tray to carry all small cleaning equipment through the house in the morning, you'll probably decide you cannot get along without one.

Build cupboards or sliding racks into the wasted space under stairs. This would be a convenient place to keep bridge tables, folding chairs, and games.

JAP FAMILY TRUSTS LINKED WITH TRAFFIC IN NARCOTICS

TOKYO, Sept. 3 (AP)—Japan's great family trusts were linked directly with the nation's war plans today when the international military tribunal was told that in 1939 Mitsubishi and Mitsui agreed to share narcotics traffic in the Far East.

Deputy Prosecutor Arthur A. Sandusky, of Sheridan, Wyo., charged that Mitsubishi elected to control the narcotics traffic in Japan and Manchuria and Mitsui took central and south China.

He asserted the two Zaibatsu (family monopolies) collaborated with the Kwantung army to use narcotics as a weapon of aggression—making it easily accessible to the Chinese so they would not resist Japan's armies.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

MY grandparents live with us, and my grandmother is always telling my parents what she thinks I should or should not do. They are lenient and fair about the rules set down for me, but grandmother thinks them far too lenient and is always going gay nineties on me, not seeming to realize how times have changed. She feels I should come home before midnight because she had to when she was 16. She thinks I should be home sleeping instead of out with the crowd on week-end nights. I sing in the choir and two nights of the week I am employed. Grandmother thinks there are far too many activities and we are always having heated discussions at our house. Don't you think she is old fashioned? Do you think she has any right to act offended because my parents don't always take her suggestions regarding my activities? SALLIE.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

While it does seem to me grandma has some very sound ideas, I agree that she should not attempt to also rule your life, but should leave that to your parents. Your evening program sounds like a very full one indeed for one your age. Don't you think you could compromise and make it a little less strenuous? Your parents, of course, are the ones to lay down certain rules for you regarding numbers of nights out, time to be in, etc., and it is up to you to abide by them. As to grandma acting offended, maybe she feels offended, but she should try to remember that she reared her own family as best she knew how, and must step aside and allow her children to rule theirs without interference.

Dear Martha Carr:

I WAS BRIDESMAID for a friend in May. One of the fellows in the wedding party was a boy who lives in my neighborhood and whom I had known only casually until that time. We had lots of fun together at the wedding and I find I have fallen in love with him. He has never asked me for a date, and I think it is because he's shy. Some of our friends have suggested I ask him since he seems so backward, but I don't think I should. Do you? I see him every day but he just speaks and that is all. We are both grown, not just kids. How can I get him to ask me for a date? WAITING.

The general atmosphere of a wedding makes for friendliness and a good time for all, but because you and the boy had fun on that occasion doesn't necessarily mean that more dates are going to follow. In fact, since several months have passed, and though you see and speak to this young man every day, no date has been suggested, I think you might as well forget the idea. I doubt that shyness has much to do with it in this case. You are right about not asking him for a date, that would probably have the result of making him walk a mile out of his way, more or less, each day to avoid you. Put him out of your mind. It is infatuation, a strong attraction, but not the love of a lifetime which strikes one with such speed and suddeness. Go out with the men you know, meet others. There is no point to wasting time on one who doesn't seem to be appreciative.

IN ANSWER TO "Worried Mind": Your husband will have to make whatever provision the court ordered at the time of the divorce for his former wife and their child. If he thinks this unreasonable or he is unable to carry it out, he can always go into court and plead to have a change made.

IN ANSWER TO "C.J.": Usually such a marriage is most unsuitable. In this state it is illegal. Better think hard and long before entering into it.

CASE RECORDS

By Dr. George W. Crane

CASE K-259: Sam A., aged 31, is a business man with a wife and 4-year-old daughter. "I've been married for six years," he stated, "and am devoted to my wife and little girl. For the first year after our wedding, we were ideally happy but then my wife began meeting an old beau of hers for luncheon downtown. She says she doesn't love this fellow, but insists that she be permitted to go out when and where she wishes. She says she doesn't love me any more, but is willing to remain as we are on the baby's account. I've told her to go ahead; to have as many dates as she wishes, and when she is tired of running around, the baby and I will take her back.

"At the start, I began to drink when I learned of her dates with this other fellow, but I have stopped that. Despite all my pleas and my offer of freedom for her, however, things are still at a standstill. Dr. Crane, what is the trouble?"

SAM IS TOO GALLANT and gentlemanly to inspire respect and love on the part of his wife. In this civilized age, many men get the erroneous idea that women admire husbands who show magnanimity and generosity toward the previous suitors of their wives. So these husbands try to be good sports and grant unusual liberties to their mates. But this supposedly modern gallantry is simply an indication of a jellyfish personality on the part of these husbands. They'd get along much better by socking a few people on the jaw and thus emphasizing the "No trespassing" sign figuratively hung on their wives.

All throughout childhood, girls have looked upon men and boys as superior beings, physically at least. So when girls reach womanhood, they still expect to be dominated by males. They thus retain their "little girl" attitude, and in a crisis, as when overcome by fear or grief, grown women like to run to men for protection.

IN BRIEF, women associate bravery, strength and dominance with masculinity. When they meet a man who will let them walk all over him; who will permit his wife to have affairs with other men; who will even go further, telling her she may do so, yet he will always be waiting for her to come back when she tires of her other suitors, she subconsciously feels that her husband isn't a man.

Women can love in two ways, either as mothers or as sweethearts. As mothers they can love males, females or neuter personalities. But as sweethearts they usually love only males.

And the more masculine or virile the specimen, the more romantic they can become regarding him. Conversely, the more sissy and effeminate, the more spineless and passive the man is, the more women are driven away from him. Meekness can be overdone. Even Moses grew irate and broke the Tables of Stone.

Treatment Of Influenza Is Described

By Herman N. Bundesen, M. D.

FORTUNATELY, we have learned much about influenza since the severe epidemic in 1918, which spread throughout the world and killed thousands upon thousands of people. Then, we knew almost nothing about what caused influenza. Now, we have a great deal of evidence to show that the disease is caused by a virus, the smallest of all disease-producing organisms.

We know that there are two strains of this virus, influenza A and influenza B, and that either or both may produce the disease. We have even developed a vaccine against it, which seems to give certain people protection for several months at least.

However, many people will still contract influenza even after receiving the vaccine, so that we also know we cannot rely on it 100 per cent.

IN THE YEARS since the last epidemic we have gained new knowledge about treatment, too, and have better weapons to combat its worst effect than we ever had in the past.

Influenza causes pain and aching in the muscles, sometimes cough and sore throat, headache and loss of appetite, and usually fever. When an attack occurs, it is advisable that the patient go to bed at once. According to Dr. William Gunn of London, going to bed early when an attack occurs is not only in the interest of the patient, but also helps to protect others who might catch the disease from him.

Often, the early symptoms may be so mild that the patient tries to remain up and about. This may cause the disease to become more severe and lead to a prolonged illness.

OTHER MEASURES should include the correction of constipation, drugs prescribed by the physician to relieve headache, irritability and sleeplessness, and nose drops if there is a great deal of nasal congestion. Sometimes, a cough medicine may also be required since the cough is usually dry and extremely irritating. Some patients find a hot drink helpful in overcoming sleeplessness and the feeling of tiredness which accompanies influential infections.

For sore throat, Dr. Gunn suggests the breathing in of a mixture of equal parts of powdered aspirin and sulfathiazole. Lozenges containing one of the sulfonamide drugs or penicillin have also been found helpful.

One of the chief dangers of influenza is that a secondary infection with streptococci or pneumococci or other germs may occur. For this reason, penicillin and sulfonamide drugs are often administered during an influenza attack to help ward off complications. All of these, of course, are taken only under a physician's order.

WHAT TO EXPECT TOMORROW

Sun in Virgo.

General Tendencies — Practical ideas fill the day's time, maybe more social in the evening hours. A good many false reports, gossipy stories and rumors are in the air just now, but the part of commonsense is to discount them. Do not make hasty changes just because someone says so-and-so. People born near the middle of this month will be peculiarly sensitive to such tales, so be on your guard. In other respects the day seems fairly good—travel should be interesting and quite profitable, too.

If Tomorrow Is Your Birthday.

Many opportunities are due to come your way. Whether or not you develop these chances is your lookout, but most of the offers or indications of progress would be truly worthwhile. Finances look better, but this is a subject which will take a little time to work out. There are no soft snaps shown for the coming few months. If your plans just now include matrimony, be sure that you do not expect too much in the line of cash; you can do better for yourself all through 1946-47 in this respect.

Corn selected for saving should be tender and freshly gathered. Once picked, it should be prepared quickly before the sugar has a chance to turn to starch.

Giving Boys Fair Chance in Life

Socially Unadjusted Youths Helped by Non-Sectarian Institution Headed by Catholic Priest—Year-Round Camp on Illinois River—How Group Operates

By F. A. Behymer

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

MICHAEL, Ill., Sept. 3.

IT being Sunday, the Trail Rangers of America had gone to church, the Catholic boys to mass at Michael and the Protestant boys by station wagon to the Lutheran church at Kampsville. It being Sunday, they were told that they mustn't yell on the way. A boy named Joe let out a yell and there was a fight.

It came out later when the boys returned, Director A. R. O'Brien was telling about the boys, especially about one of them, named Eugene. "I would like to have you meet Eugene," he said. Eugene was called in. He had been crying and his right optic was slightly discolored. It was something that called for an explanation. Eugene wasn't one to be easy on himself. "We were told not to yell going to church," he said. "Joe yelled and I hit him and he hit me back harder."

Joe was called in. "Eugene hit me," he said, "and I hit him back and we said we'd settle it when we got back."

"Did you settle it when you got back"

"Yeh."

"Who got the worst of it?"

Eugene, either to escape further punishment or to give credit where credit was due, cut in. "I did," he said and rubbed his eye to prove it.

"All right, boys," said O'Brien, "shake hands." They shook.

That is the way fights are settled at the Trail Rangers' camp, which is the home set up here by the Rev. George M. Link, priest and naturalist, to give neglected and wayward boys a chance in life.

It was to give such boys a break that Father Link founded the Trail Rangers of America and made a home for them here on the bank of the Illinois river in Calhoun County. He had long felt the need of something of the sort and had done something about it in a tentative way when he was Illinois State Naturalist at Pere Marquette Park. It was in the hope of doing more about it that he sought appointment to the small St. Michael parish. Here was a wilderness in which boys from the towns and cities, removed from conditions and influences that were dragging them down, might be made over and started on the right way.

The Trail Rangers of America he called an organization for the rescue of forgotten children and the prevention of delinquency. He brought to it the benefits of many years' research and practice in the field of socially unadjusted youth. The year-round camp that he planned and which was brought into being was described as a non-sectarian colony for boys, with "Freedom in a Prepared Environment" as its motto. Irving L. Sorger of St. Louis helped found the movement and became chairman of the board that was set up.

A home for neglected boys was needed because there was no place in Illinois for them and in Missouri the reform school was the only place to which they could be sent. Father Link would consider his remaining life well spent in giving them such a home.

Over in Sycamore Holler was an old farmhouse that could be made over into such a home. It was purchased, along with 270 acres of fields and woodland, and made over into an 11-room home with 700 acres of unspoiled nature, a government reserve across the highway, as a playground.

Before the home was finished there were boys knocking at the door. They were sent by county judges, juvenile officers and welfare agencies concerned about keeping youngsters out of institutions of incarceration and correction, gladly responding to Father Link's announcement that he was ready to receive such boys. Not all who were sent could be accepted, for there had to be rules. Each boy who came had to be passed by a special findings committee headed by Dr. Groves Smith, a psychiatrist of Godfrey, Ill. Dr. Groves considered family history, school rating, health and other details.

FATHER GEORGE M. LINK

To the door of the Trail Rangers' Home about 90 boys have come since it was opened in April, 1945. All but the 16 who are now there have been put through a period of training and adjustment and have been placed where there is the least likelihood of a relapse into the old pattern of behavior. They are not kept longer than is necessary because there is a waiting list of more than 100 and until cottages have been built for the housing of a greater number rotation is the rule.

Minor infractions are dealt with by the Boys' Council, under the supervision of the adults. The boys elect their own officers. The president is a bright boy with an I.Q. of 120 and is being sent to a private high school in St. Louis, returning to the camp for week-ends. Most of the boys are from Missouri and Illinois but there is one from Iowa and one from Pennsylvania. There are orphans and half-orphans and some who have been taken, for their good, from the custody of their parents.

The head officers of the council plan with the adults the daily schedules and report matters that need attention, for they are trusted with responsibility. When there is an infringement of the rules the accused is tried before the council and if found guilty the punishment is decided on, subject to review.

The recreation includes baseball, hikes and swims and skating in season, occasional movies in town and educational trips to places of historic interest. Boy Scouts and Cubs have their activities.

Interest in nature and wild life is encouraged, with Father Link as the mentor, for that is his field. Care of domestic fowls and stock is one of the responsibilities of the boys, with different ones designated to look after the chickens and turkeys and the few pigs and goats. Later, when funds are available, there will be a cow or two.

FATHER LINK, WHO ESTABLISHED THE COLONY FOR THE BOYS AT MICHAEL, ILL., IN HIS HIKING CLOTHES.

For the present the staff is composed of the Rev. George M. Link, administrative director; Augustine R. O'Brien, executive director; F. J. Kealey, house father and assistant director; John J. O'Neill, school teacher and psychologist, and Mrs. Sadie Utterback, housekeeper.

Director O'Brien, who has been here three months, is a graduate of Harvard and for 18 years has been engaged in social work in New York, Boston and Illinois, specializing in pre-delinquents. He believes that what a "bad" boy needs is a friend, a good meal and a haircut.

On the Sunday when this writer came to visit the camp of the Trail Rangers, after the little affair between Eugene and Joe had been disposed of, there was a dinner with two kinds of cake, for this was Father Link's fiftieth birthday. The boys sat at their table with clasped hands while grace was said, and at the end of the meal they stood and sang "Happy Birthday." The priest stood in acknowledgement of their good wishes and the boys fell upon their chore of washing the dishes, singing as they worked.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

NORTH-SOUTH missed a lay-down game in today's deal because South, in the one bid he was able to make, gave a very bad description of his holding.

East, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 diam.	3 clubs	Pass	Pass
Pass

South made an overtrick at his club contract, but even the 100 honors did not offer much compensation for the easy game that had been missed at spades.

It is true that South's jump from one diamond to three clubs was a strong bid, especially vulnerable but it did not convey the right sort of message to North. A bid of this sort carries a well defined request that partner do one of four things; (1) Bid three no trump if he can stop the suit bid by the enemy and has a couple of other scattered honors. Obviously North could not stop the diamonds, hence this bid was out. (2) Raise the overcall. For this, a fit and a few potential tricks are required, especially when the suit is a minor and five-odd are needed for game. North had a satisfactory fit for clubs, with queen-small, but the outside tricks were lacking. (3) Bid a good major suit—one that can stand largely on its own feet. North had no such suit. (4) Lacking the ability to do any of the first three, pass! Don't stretch in order to name a suit that needs extraordinary support. If for example, North responded with three spades, South would be justified in raising to four spades with king-small, expecting North to have a far more solid spade suit.

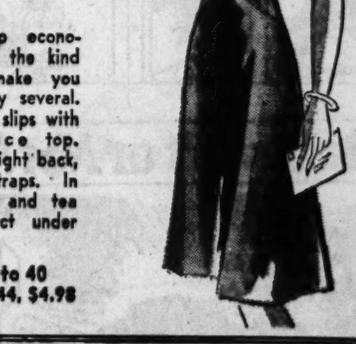

Thus, South's choice of bids was more of a warning against spades and hearts than an invitation, and North was correct in passing. The fault lay in the fact that South neglected to double one diamond, in the very hope that North could respond in spades.
